DEPENDS ON PEOPLE

TO PREPARE REPORT AT ONCE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.

After spending a day here inspecting the work now in progress on the Washington filtration plant and consulting with the government engineers who are in charge of the work, Director of Public Works Bigelow left for Pittsburgh this evening, convinced that the pure water needs of Washington and Pittsburgh and the conditions for providing for these needs are very similar.

As the Washington plant is to cost about $3,500,000, the inference may be drawn from the conclusion reached by Director Bigelow that the cost of the Pittsburgh plan should be about the same, providing they have the same capacity of 75,000,000 gallons daily, and making due allowance for certain features that must be provided for in Pittsburgh that are not necessary here.

Director Bigelow positively refused this afternoon to give any estimate of the cost of the Pittsburgh plant. That will be included in his report to councils which will be made just as soon as he can put in proper form the information that he has gathered and make the necessary computations. As soon as his report is ready he will call a meeting of the special committee of councils to receive this report and he says that he believes that the estimates and all necessary information will be ready for the action of councils at the first fall meeting, early in September.

Inspecting the Work and Plans.

Director Bigelow, Supt. Sheppard of the bureau of water supply and distribution and Consulting Engineer Knowles arrived in the city after midnight and registered at the New Willard. They had spent Monday inspecting the filtration plants at Torresdale and Bala, near Philadelphia. At 11 o'clock this morning by appointment they went to the office of Col. Miller, who has charge of the water supply of the District of Columbia, and under whose direction the filtration plant is being built. Col. Miller went over the plans in detail with his visitors, explaining every feature and answering all questions. Then they took a carriage and drove to the site of the filter beds to see the work in progress. To the layman this is a rather uninteresting feature, for all that is to be seen is a broad stretch of land embracing about 30 acres, with steam shovels at work here and there scooping up great shovels full of earth and loading it into cars and wagons to be hauled to some other part of the site that needs filling. The excavation is one of the most expensive parts of the filtration project here, for it involves the removal of 800,000 cubic yards of earth. This is about 300,000 yards more than will have to be excavated at Pittsburgh.

Conditions Somewhat Similar.

A terrific heat poured down upon the city today and the temperature rose to 102 in the shade, but this did not deter the Pittsburgh visitors from making a thorough inspection of the work that is being done. Director Bigelow and his party returned to the hotel about 4 o'clock, exhausted by the heat, but enthusiastic over the success of his visit. They left on the 7:45 Pennsylvania train for Pittsburgh.

"The conditions here and in Pittsburgh seem to be very much alike," said the director after he had completed his inspection. "On some points they differ, as, for instance, here a good part of their water supply will be distributed by gravity, and thus they will be able to use the reservoirs for settling basins, while in Pittsburgh we will have to build settling basins. Also in Pittsburgh we will have to pipe the filtered water under the Allegheny river, a rather expensive work that they will not have to contend with here. There are some other points of difference, but in the main the conditions are the same."

"Can you give any estimate of the cost of a plant large enough to supply Pittsburgh with filtered water?" was asked.

"No, that would not be proper," he replied. "And then I must have time to get the information that I have gathered in proper shape and make the estimate from that." The estimate of cost and the capacity that will be needed will all be included in my report to councils.

Question of a Bond Issue.

"I can not tell how soon this will be ready, but I will have it in shape as soon as possible. Then when councils meet early in September the matter will be ready for their consideration, and if they want to go ahead with the project, as I suppose they will, the question of a bond issue can be submitted to the people at the fall or spring election and the filtration project can be pushed forward to completion."

"It would be safe to say that the Pittsburgh plant will cost at least as much as the Washington plant, which is $3,500,000, would it not?" he was asked.

"It wouldn't be safe to make any estimate at all at present," said the director. "We now have $2,500,000 at our disposal. We have 28 acres of land bought at Aspinwall for filter beds. In making an estimate to include filtered water for the South Side we will have to buy at least 18 acres additional. We figure on a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons per acre, just as they do here, and 28 acres would give a daily capacity of 75,000,000 gallons, which would be enough to supply the whole of the city, including the South Side, at the present. But we are obliged to look ahead. Probably within two years Allegheny, McKeesport, Braddock, Wilkinsburg and many other surrounding bor-

LEADERS OPPOSE AN EXTRA SESSION

They Especially Advise Against Urging Financial Legislation on Congress.

ADVICE TO THE PRESIDENT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.

Having apparently succeeded in warding off an extra session of congress as early as October, Republican leaders are endeavoring to prevail on the president not to call any extra session at all.

In addition to this and in view of the hopelessness of prompt financial legislation members of the cabinet and important senators have advised the president not to make prominent in his forthcoming message any recommendation for financial legislation.

Senator Quay, Senator Platt of New York, and possibly Senator Hanna, are opposed to any extra session, and if the president should seek their advice he will be urged not to call it. Senator Quay, who was in town today on his way to Florida, sounded the keynote of the opposition when he said that it was the "worst kind of politics."

Among those opposed to any financial recommendations in the coming message, in view of the present situation, is Secretary Shaw himself, who does not think it wise to call prominently to public attention that there is necessity in the business situation for any emergency legislation.

It is thought improbable that the party leaders will be able to induce the president to refrain from his November session program. He is so thoroughly committed to Cuban reciprocity and so anxious that congress shall do its part in keeping the nation's pledge that he wishes a final decision on this question at the earliest possible moment.

FARMER BLAMES AUTO.

Story of Alleged Assault on Mrs. Hoffstot of Pittsburgh Comes Out in Court.

GREAT NECK, L. I., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The case of Mrs. F. N. Hoffstot, wife of the Pittsburgh steel car manufacturer, against Walter Barnes, a farmer, on a charge of assault, came up before Judge Dodge today. The judge postponed the hearing until September 11.

In her affidavit Mrs. Hoffstot says that while she and her son were taking an automobile ride in this vicinity last Saturday, Barnes, who was driving a team of horses, forced them to stop. Mrs. Hoffstot then alleges that the farmer struck her on the head with a pail, causing a painful bruise, and threatened to smash the automobile with an ax. Barnes denies Mrs. Hoffstot's charges. He says his horses were frightened by the auto and the pail flew from his hand, striking Mrs. Hoffstot on the head.

BEAT WIFE BECAUSE SHE WOULDN'T WASH HIS FEET

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—"He whipped me because I would not wash his feet," is one of the allegations made by Mrs. Agnes Caln in her answer to the divorce suit of Michael J. Caln. Caln, who is a driver for the Southern Express Company, last week filed an action against his wife. Today she retaliated by charging him with extreme cruelty. She asks for divorce and alimony and an injunction to prevent him from drawing money from the express company until the case is determined. Judge Hollister granted a temporary restraining order.

DROWNED GIRL BECAUSE SHE WAS HALF-WITTED

BRAINERD, MINN., Aug. 25.—The police have arrested Mrs. Albert Williams, John Burrig and George Dill, on the charge of murdering Mrs. Williams' 3-year-old daughter. Mrs. Williams admitted to the chief of police that Burrig had advised her to drown the child, as it was half-witted and worthless. The river was dragged and the body of the child was found.

DEATH STOPPED TALK IN CABIN

Flagman Was Conversing With Friend When Freight Trains Collided.

HE FAILED TO GIVE SIGNAL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEECHBURG, PA., Aug. 25.—In a disastrous freight wreck between the West Penn tunnel and Salina station, on the West Penn railroad, at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon, two men were killed and an engine cabin and two cars demolished.

The dead are:

WILLIAM FELSING, 27 years old, flagman, skull crushed and body beadly mangled.

ALBERT SERENS, 21 years old, of Salina, caught under cabin and crushed.

The trains were mixed freights and were the third and fourth sections of No. 441. Each train was made up of 30 cars. The trains were running 10 minutes apart on the same track, and Flagman Felsing is blamed for the collision. At least Engineer W. Warnock of the rear train says he was proceeding at a good rate of speed and had no warning, when, shortly after emerging from the tunnel, he turned a bend in the road and saw the third section not 20 yards ahead of him and slowing down.

Warnock reversed his engine and jumped and cried to his crew to do the same. All escaped without a scratch. Flagman Felsing was in the cabin of the first train talking to Serens, who was riding with him. They were instantly killed. The engine of the rear train and two cars of the foremost train were derailed and demolished. Traffic was delayed two hours.

YELLOW CUR RESCUES A DROWNING INFANT

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—"Sport" is only a yellow cur, but he cannot be called "coumon," for today he proved himself a hero. He jumped into the waters of Gravesend bay, at Bath Beach, this morning and saved the life of 8-year-old Jennie Butler. The child wandered down to the end of Shields pier at the foot of Thirteenth avenue and fell off the pier. The dog dived overboard and catching the little one by her dress, held her head up until a boat rescued her.

COL. BROWNING WILL OPPOSE MR. ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The Washington Star publishes this dispatch from Norfolk, W. Va.: "Col. W. P. Browning of Pocahontas, Va., one of the wealthiest coal operators in this state and an anti-organization Republican, says that Roosevelt will not be the Republican nominee for the presidency. If he should be, Col. Browning says, he will vote and throw all his influence toward the Democratic nominee should the latter be Gorman."

WRECKED HIS AUTOMOBILE TO AVOID A RUNAWAY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Rather than take any chances of causing a runaway, Marcus Steiner, ran his automobile into a curb this morning, and as a result he is at the Germantown hospital in a serious condition. He was running down a rather steep incline when a carriage approached. The horse became frightened, and Mr. Steiner turned the machine toward the side of the road. It was overturned and the occupants were pinioned beneath it.

AUTOMOBILE CLIMBS MOUNT WASHINGTON

SUMMIT HOUSE, MOUNT WASHINGTON, N. H., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Irving J. Phelps of Stoneham, accompanied by his chauffeur, James Baker, today ascended Mount Washington in an automobile, from the Glen house to the Summit house, eight miles, in a 35-horse power gasoline car, in one hour and 40 minutes.

Senator Hanna Indisposed.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna is indisposed and today was forced to leave his office and go home. He is not seriously ill. This forenoon his doctor was called. After an examination the doctor ordered the senator to go home and rest. "There is nothing serious the matter with him," said the physician. "He is simply indisposed and needs rest."

ADMIRAL SCHLEY PREVENTS PANIC

Naval Hero Reassures Passengers on Board a Yacht During a Collision.

HIT BY J. P. MORGAN'S BOAT

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Only the coolness and presence of mind of Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley and Capt. Martin prevented a panic on the New York Yacht club steamer Monmouth, when she was in collision with the steam yacht Corsair, owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, during the swift run home from the Shamrock-Reliance race today. On board the Monmouth were nearly 900 members and guests of the New York Yacht club, while Mr. Morgan had more than a score of guests with him on the Corsair.

According to Capt. Martin of the Monmouth, it was leading the Corsair by about 50 yards when a small yacht crossed her bow. This made it necessary for him to deflect his course slightly eastward to avoid running down and sinking the schooner.

Accordingly, the steamer veered shavely from her course, while the Corsair steamed straight ahead under full steam. The Corsair crashed into the forward section of the Monmouth with tremendous force. Ripping and grinding through the deck rails and slighter structure of the steamer, the Corsair raked the latter from stem to stern. Her own bowsprit was snapped off at the first impact. Then the 3,000-pound anchor of the Corsair came in contact with the steamer.

Swiss Consul John Perschmann and several of his guests, including Rear Admiral Schley, were dining in one of the second deck staterooms when the vessels struck. Without warning and before any of them could escape from the stateroom, the broken bowsprit of the Corsair crashed through the window. At the same time a big iron davit was hurled into the cabin, missing Mesdames Curtin and Musser by only a few inches, crashed through the stateroom floor and created consternation on the deck below.

Both women fainted and were carried into the companionway, where restoratives were applied. Realizing the peril in case a general panic ensued, Admiral Schley mounted the companionway ladder and shouted to the fear-stricken passengers that there was no immediate danger. Several passengers recognized him and began cheering. Meanwhile Capt. Martin had made an examination and found that the Monmouth had not been struck below the water line and was in no danger of sinking. Joining Admiral Gibbey, he informed the passengers of this fact and other cool heads assisted in restoring order.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDED.

Passenger and Freight Come Together Near New Philadelphia—Three Hurt.

CANAL DOVER, O., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—About 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the north bound passenger train on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad struck a freight train just south of New Philadelphia. The injured are: Passenger Engineer Theodore Burgess of Lorain, ankle dislocated and badly bruised; Fireman George Gutt of Lorain, shoulder broken and internally injured; Mail Clerk J. Alden of Bridgeport, internally injured and may die.

The accident happened on a 60-foot embankment and it was only by a miracle that the train did not go over. Numerous passengers received minor injuries, such as bruises and cuts.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY SHOOTS BABY BROTHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Fred Kruse is the most precocious disciple of the strenuous life in New York. Though only 4 years old the first rich is likely to be cut in his pistol handle before morning. His victim is his brother Peter, aged 18 months. Fred was playing with a revolver and just for practice fired five shots at the baby. One lodged in Peter's little body and his death is expected at any moment.

LIPTON'S SHAMROCK AGAIN OUTSAILED; CAPTAIN WRINGE AGAIN OUTGENERALED

WRIGHT WILL SUCCEED TAFT

The President Announces Important Changes in High Offices.

ROOT IS EULOGIZED

Retiring Secretary of War Receives Splendid Tribute to His Ability and Patriotism.

HE MADE HEAVY SACRIFICES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oyster Bay, L. I., Aug. 25.—Following the announcement in The Gazette this morning that Gov. William H. Taft had accepted the post of secretary of war, to succeed Mr. Root when Mr. Root retires some time in January, came the statement from President Roosevelt today that he had decided to appoint Gen. Luke E. Wright of Tennessee to the position of civil governor of the Philippines. This disposes of the story that President Roosevelt was maneuvering appointments so as to make Gen. Wood the supreme power in the islands.

The president, in making the formal announcement of the fact that Mr. Root would retire, gave out for publication the correspondence between himself and Secretary Root. The president, in accepting Secretary Root's resignation, wrote a letter which for high praise has no equal in presidential correspondence. The letter is about all Secretary Root has to show for four years of very hard work in the war department, and the encomiums he has made are only imperfectly known.

Secretary Root, when he became the successor of Gen. Alger, had a law practice in New York which was probably worth more than $100,000 a year to him. This he had to give up. His living expenses in Washington, where he had to be a lavish entertainer, were probably increased more than $25,000 a year. His salary as secretary of war was $8,000 a year. Thus the government paid Mr. Root to four years' time $32,000, while he was losing more than $100,000. The correspondence between the president and Mr. Root follows:

Letter of Resignation.

Dear Mr. President: You have been good to assent to the sufficiency of the reasons for which I have wished to retire on or before the as soon as practicable after the establishment of the general staff of the army and the completion of my full four years of service as secretary of war. While it is understood that you will probably not arrange to fill the office so as to take effect before the end of the year and that I am to remain in office in the meantime, it is probable that you will be ready to send a name to the senate in November or December, and before you do so my resignation should be in your hands.

I find myself on the eve of sailing for England to attend the sessions of the Alaska boundary tribunal, quite unable to judge how many months I shall be kept away from this country, and I therefore feel under no reluctance, in the matter of the vacancy in the office of secretary of war, to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of my successor. I shall carry with me unabated loyalty to your administration, confidence in the sound conservatism and patriotic considerateness of your policy, and enduring gratitude for the kindness and consideration with which your friendship has blessed me. I shall not cease to appreciate the second personality and loyalty to President McKinley sympathy and loyalty to President McKinley with which you have entered on his work, and I shall always be happy to have been a part of the administration directed by your sincere and rugged adherence to right and devotion to the true interests of our country.

I am with great respect and esteem, always, faithfully yours,

ELIHU ROOT.

The President's Acceptance.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 25.

My Dear Mr. Root: It is hard indeed for me to accept your resignation; and I do so, not only with keen personal regret, but with a lively understanding of the gap your withdrawal will create in public life. My sense of personal loss is very great; and yet my sense of the loss to the nation as a whole is even greater.

You have been over four years secretary of

UNDER WHIP OF JOHNSON

Cleveland Mayor in Absolute Control of Ohio Convention.

GAINS EVERY POINT

Will Nominate Himself for Governor, Dictate Platform and Indorsement.

CONSERVATIVES ARE ROUTED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, Aug. 25.—Tom L. Johnson is absolute boss of the state convention and the Ohio Democracy. The claims of the friends of John L. Zimmerman and conservatism have vanished into thin air, and Johnson, without an apparent effort, will nominate himself for the governorship, secure the indorsement of a candidate for the United State senate and dictate the unqualified reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform.

The rout of the conservatives is complete. Johnson pictures, Johnson transparencies and Johnson posters are everywhere. Johnson music are playing in the streets and Johnson men are cheering. The Democratic party of Ohio has joined the great minority which stands for Bryan and Populism.

The one important feature of tomorrow's convention, which is still in some doubt is the question of who will receive the indorsement for the senate. Johnson stands unfalteringly by John H. Clarke of Cleveland, the gold Democrat. The silver members are bitterly opposed to Clarke. G. M. Schaefer of Van Wert, who will serve as permanent chairman tomorrow, is making an open fight for the honor, against Johnson's wishes, and he received the indorsement of his district meeting today. He is a free silver man and one of Johnson's closest personal friends. H. H. Ingalls of Cincinnati and John J. Lentz of Columbus are also mentioned in this connection, and it is possible that Johnson may find it impossible to force the conservative Clarke upon the radical convention.

Johnson made a clean sweep of the committees. He controls the new state central committee by 17 to 4. He also has the credentials and resolutions committee by 16 to 5. The committee on rules and order of business is practically solid for Johnson.

One feature of the meeting of the old

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

New York, Aug. 25.—In a glorious whole-sail breeze, over a triangular course, 10 miles to a leg, the Reliance again today showed her heels to Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, taking the second race of the cup series of 1903 by the narrow margin of 1 minute and 19 seconds. It was as pretty and as hard a fought contest as has ever been sailed off Sandy Hook, and had the wind not fallen during the last 10 minutes, the record for the course, 3 hours, 32 minutes and 34 seconds, made by Columbia two years ago in her memorable race against Shamrock II., would have been beaten. As it was, Reliance sailed the 30 miles within 2 minutes and 30 seconds of the record, which speaks wonders for her speed in the wind that was blowing.

Reliance's victory, serious as it was, would have been even sweeter had not Capt. Wringe, the skipper of the Shamrock, dodged the shift, sending the yacht over the line 19 seconds after the last gun and handicapping her to that extent. At every point of sailing the Defender's superiority was demonstrated. She sailed 1 minute and 31 seconds to windward work, 60 seconds on the run to the second mark and 49 seconds to the home reach for home.

Cup Is Saved Again.

Based upon the magnificent showing she has made in the two races already sailed, it is the belief of many experts that the cup is safe and that it will take something better than Fife's latest design to win Sodge it.

An assemblage of excursion vessels almost as large as that of last Saturday turned down through the Narrows and out into the broad Atlantic today, to witness the yachting story of the challenger. The early morning had held out but little hope of a race. A smoky haze hung over the sea and the wind was very light from the south. But as the day wore on the cumulus cloud shifted, the wind blew strong and clear out of the south and the dancing craft sparkled under the rays of an August sun. Off in the distance of an August sun. Off in the distance and north the low lowlands of the Jersey and Long Island shore could just be discerned through the thinning vapors.

The committee fleet, like a floating city built upon the floor of the ocean, lined up full in full in a great semi-circle, to witness the start. The course, a long due south run the wind for 10 miles, then a broad reach or run, as the case might be, off toward the Lightship Lions, and three miles away to the old Gedney lightship, last year set.

Barr Again Got Gunwale Wringe.

The spectators watched the jockeying for the start with eager interest. To the unitiated, it was half-ridiculous to see what close manoeuvring the gaps of the skippers kept. It seemed unwarrantable, as if their spars and hulls would clash, but they wheeled and circled like gulls, darting, gybing and pulling about with wonderful ease and grace. At last when they bounded across the line, close packed, for the thrash to windward, it was seen that the American skipper, by his extremely clever work, had again outgeneraled Wringe and secured the weather gauge. Not only was the challenger's captain denied, in his effort to secure the windward berth, but he actually failed to cross in time to have a handicap, an almost impossible win in a cup contest. Barr never relinquished his advantage after the start, holding the challenger under the lee all the way to the first mark.

As the racers got farther out the weight of the wind steadily increased, and the water began to split from their keen cleaving stems. Both boats, with every stitch of canvas set, pushed into the seas, heeling down to the gulls under the press of thousands of yards of light canvas, until their sea rails were awash as the foaming water, fairly creamed up to windward, were repeatedly dashed with the showers of spray and shot high on their starboard bows.

Reliance Coins Surely.

Slowly but surely the thousands aboard the observation boat saw that the distance was gaining, owing a wide and widening stretch of water between her and the challenger. The operations then did not go to this point, in effectence to the regular semi-mid-down to ground to turning-mark. As soon as the Reliance rounded, the pilot boat—the Mica, their whistles and clanging bells to the engine room—and the whole fleet set sail and turned to forward of the boat to the course. There the vast procession of small craft fell into line, following in the wake of the two great yachts, keeping abreast of a terrific pace toward the second mark. Reliance

REBELS CAPTURED FORT WHEN FLEET WITHDREW

Departure of Russian Squadron Was Signal for Opening of Hostilities—Turks Are Turned Back from Bulgarian Frontier.

(Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.)

SOFIA, Aug. 25.—Following the departure of the Russian squadron from Inada, the insurgents attacked and captured a fort there. The bands are especially active around Lowergrad, where a number of villages have been burned. Eighteen revolutionists at Melka attacked 250 Bashi-Bazouks who entrenched themselves in a stone tower.

The revolutionists blew up the tower with dynamite at night and killed all the Bashi-Bazouks. The Turkish population along the Bulgarian frontier is greatly alarmed. The people have left their houses and retired into the interior. The insurgents attacked a Turkish frontier post at Kebisbar and killed 26 soldiers.

Many Turks are attempting to cross the frontier but the Bulgarian guards have ordered them back. The insurrectionary movement is reported to have gained strength, particularly in the northern districts of Kukuseh, Gevgelie, Kodjia, Vardar, Vodena, and the environs of Salonica. Bands are reported to have been formally organized in Serres, but their strength is expected to be increased at any moment.

At Sohia, near Uskub, the Turks attacked the insurgents, but were obliged to retire in the face of bombs, which were thrown among them.

The Sofia Post, the revolutionary organ, states that 12 Servian officers have crossed the frontier to help the insurgents.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Aug. 25.—The Turkish consul, accompanied by a suspected person arrived here this evening from Constantinople. They were stopped by a police officer who demanded their passports. An altercation ensued and the consul took his companion to the consulate. The police has dismissed the policeman, but the consul is not satisfied and has requested a strong protest, demanding severe punishment for the transgressor of what he calls a serious assault upon himself and his friend.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 25.—Hassan Rushdi Pasha, the commander of the Turkish troops in Macedonia, has been recalled and arrived here this evening. Marshal Ibrahim Pasha, commander of the 3d corps of Serres, has been appointed to succeed him.

VIOLENT STORMS FOLLOW THE HEAT

Thunder and Lightning End the Hottest Day of the Present Year in This Vicinity.

RAINFALL WAS .59 OF AN INCH

Thermometer Rose to 94 at 2:15 P. M., Only to Be Followed by Great Winds and Rain With Brilliant Electrical Display—The Damage Done.

Two violent electrical rainstorms visited Pittsburgh yesterday, being noisy and alarming climaxes to the hottest day the present summer has seen in Pittsburgh. One death was reported from the effects of the present spell of heat.

From the storm considerable damage was recorded, and in McKeesport especially, the effects of the electric discharges were felt. The loud claps of thunder and the blackness of the sky promised an even worse storm than the two which actually came. Both rains were heavy and much wind accompanied them, but they were of short duration.

The victim of the heat was an unknown laborer. He was overcome in the works of the Pressed Steel Car Company in Lower Allegheny on Monday. His death occurred yesterday at St. John's hospital.

The highest temperature of the summer was recorded only a short time before the first of the storms broke. At 2:15 the thermometer of the branch United States weather bureau here registered 94 degrees. The highest mark before was that of the day before, when the mercury climbed to 93. With the coming of the storm the mercury fell, and at 6 p. m. the minimum temperature of the day, 74 degrees, was recorded.

The residents of this section sweltered all the forenoon and half of the afternoon before the relief came. Following the heat of the day before, it was doubly full of torture. The gathering of the clouds foretold the coming of the storm, which burst at 3 o'clock.

The first storm lasted about half an hour. The sky then cleared off and all was serene until about 6 o'clock when again there was an outburst. The electrical display was particularly dazzling during the second storm. The loudness of the peals and the brilliancy of the discharges indicated that the danger points were in the immediate vicinity of downtown Pittsburgh. The rain fell with great force.

The official record shows that the day was one of excess in both temperature and precipitation of rain. The excess temperature was 12 degrees, while the .59 inches of rainfall made the excess precipitation .49.

During the wind storm an electric light wire was broken at the corner of Frankstown avenue and the Beechwood boulevard. Inspector William Boyle and two policemen stood guard over the live wire until it was repaired.

A workman, said to be John Denniston of Cairo, Ill., who was engaged in putting up a tent at the Grand carnival grounds, was knocked down by the falling of the tent under the rushing wind and suffered serious hurts. Both legs were broken and it is believed he was hurt internally and seriously.

The telephone and telegraph wires were greatly affected and the telephone service last night was very bad, indeed. The tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company's lines through Wilkinsburg and east of that borough were in many places covered with debris.

In McKeesport the electric light service was practically suspended. The select council of McKeesport had to meet by candle light to annul the franchise of the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railway Company. The company was granted the use of Walnut street.

A peculiar incident of the storm was that, about 6:30 in the evening, a large flock of sparrows, numbering about 1,000, were swept to the ground as they tried to reach the Diamond in McKeesport to gain shelter. The sparrows lay on the ground unable to fly and the firemen, whose quarters were nearby, taking dinner pails and buckets, went out and gathered up about 200 sparrows. They then cooked them and every visitor to the hose house was invited to partake of sparrow soup. The foreigners also took advantage of the happening and gathered up the sparrows for use as food.

During the evening storm in Allegheny a large flagstone on the pavement in front of the store of Renshaw, Carson & Co., in Federal street, broke and fell through into the basement beneath the street. No crack had been observed in the stone. Its thickness was fully eight inches and only the effects of the lightning can be given for explanation of the breaking.

Lightning struck several places on the North Side. A large tree at the entrance to Riverview park was shattered. Electric light connections in nearly all the houses in that vicinity were burned out by the flash.

The trolley wire of the East street line of cars was struck by lightning and the fuses of a number of cars were melted. Traffic was tied up for nearly an hour.

The storm in Wilkinsburg did considerable damage. The Crab Holow run, which is usually a very small stream, was turned into a river. The sewer at Ross avenue became stopped up and but for the prompt action of Street Commissioner T. G. Ewing a flood would have resulted. Tons of earth were washed down Walnut street on to the tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Swissvale avenue, where the water in several places rose to a depth that completely covered the sidewalks.

BIG DERRICK CARRIES WORKMEN TO DEATH

One Man Clings to Top 180 Feet Above Water and Escapes Death.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—During the storm today a huge derrick on the Central Railroad of New Jersey bridge across Newark bay from Bayonne to Elizabeth, was swept into the water, carrying with it a number of workmen. Four were drowned and several badly injured.

At least 60 men were at work on the bridge. The top of the derrick was 180 feet from the water and nine men were working at the various points up the huge structure. Chester Fisher of Bayonne being on the very top. He was about the only one to escape injury.

Eight men were on the ladder attempting to descend when the storm broke. Fisher at the very top of the great pole realized that it was impossible for him to reach the bridge, so he clung to the rigging when the wind swept it into the water. John J. Conlin and Charles Tingley of Jersey City, John McFaun of Bayonne and Otto Ellinson of New York were under the timbers and were either crushed to death or drowned. Daniel Murphy of Olean, N. Y., although taken out alive, has little chance of living. Thomas O'Brien of Bayonne and two others fell 95 feet, but were able to swim ashore. Chester Fisher, still clinging to the rigging at the topmost part of the pole, described a great circle and fell plumb into the center of the channel and swam ashore.

Mrs. John Holm and her sister, Miss Regina Rasmussen, of Brooklyn, went sailing in Arlington bay with Mr. Holm and the boat was upset. All three found it impossible to reach the boat and finally Holm started to swim ashore. He was picked up by a sailboat. The two women were taken from the water by a party in a steam launch, but they died without regaining consciousness.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—A thunderbolt struck two men who had sought refuge under trees in the center of the city tonight, instantly killing one and literally tearing the clothes from the body of the other. The latter was removed to the Polyclinic hospital and the doctors say he will recover.

UNDER THE WHIP OF TOM JOHNSON

state central committee was the summary rejection of the contesting delegation from Cuyahoga county. Stephen D. O'Neil, the chairman of the anti-Johnson delegation, was persuaded by Salen to make affidavit that the movement against Johnson was only a joke, and the contestants were laughed out of court. All of the contests, including that from Hamilton, were referred to the credentials committee.

The members of the new state central committee chosen this afternoon are: L. G. Bernard and Henry Keller, Hamilton; Theodore H. Leinesch, Montgomery; Val Lee, Shelby; A. P. Sandles, Putnam; H. A. Rice, Clermont; W. S. Thomas, Clarke; W. L. Finley, Harding; Will Gordon, Ottawa; J. K. McLung, Jackson; James A. Devine, Ross; C. C. Philbrick, Franklin; U. K. Guthrey, Marion; W. G. Beebe, Morrow; Charles Richardson, Washington; H. A. Bell, Jefferson; J. B. Callahen, Coshocton; S. L. Clark, Mahoning; Samuel G. Rodgers, Summit; C. P. Salen, Cuyahoga; J. F. Madigan, Cuyahoga.

Feeling Very Bitter.

The anti-Johnson delegation from Cuyahoga county, 75 strong, arrived on a special train. Streamers bearing the words "Cuyahoga Democrats are against socialism, single tax and boss rule," and "Cuyahoga delegation is for John L. Zimmerman for governor" adorned the sides of the coaches. Fifteen minutes later the Johnson delegates and boomers, more than 200 strong and accompanied by a brass band, steamed into the Union station. Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and their son.

Henry W. Wilson, a prominent conservative delegate from Cleveland, in an interview today arraigns Johnson as "a boss, a dictator, a selfish schemer and a traitor to his party," and declared that his nomination for the governorship will mean the utter annihilation of the Ohio Democracy.

"Honest Abe" Patrick of Tuscarawas, upon his arrival, put a quietus upon his boom for lieutenant governor by declaring job would not have the nomination. He said so four years ago at Zanesville and then made the race with John R. McLean. State Senator O. E. Hurst of Tuscarawas is willing to accept this place, but he cannot have it unless Zimmerman wins. W. L. Finley of Kenton, a radical, has been tendered the honor by the Johnson forces and may accept.

Since Judge J. E. Dempreys' refusal to consider the nomination for the supreme bench, Otto Renner of Cincinnati is thought to have the inside track. F. S. Monnett of Franklin declares that he will not accept the nomination for attorney general, but probably will change his mind if he has the chance.

Other men mentioned for the various nominations are: State auditor, Charles Kloeb of Mercer; treasurer, Page Aleshire of Galia, and Val Dohl of Fayette; school commissioner, J. H. Secrest of Ottawa; board of public works, J. H. Balcker of Ross and J. F. Brown of Muskingum. Not one of all the men mentioned will announce his candidacy. The places are literally going begging.

Johnson suffered a minor defeat at the meeting of the constitutional amendment committee this afternoon. The committee decided to recommend but one amendment to the convention, that which provides for the reclassification of subjects for taxation. Johnson favored also those giving the governor the veto power and giving each county at least one member of the house of representatives.

Making Republican Votes.

At the meeting of his credentials committee tonight, the regular Hamilton county delegation was unceremoniously unseated and the bolters, headed by the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, were declared entitled to seats in the convention. The Bigelow delegation had absolutely no foundation for its claims and conservative Democrats shake their heads over the probable effect. Lewis G. Bernard told the committee which rejected his claims that Hamilton would give a Democratic majority of 40,000 in November, and there are many astute politicians who agree with him.

The same action was taken in the case of the Seneca county contest. Dr. J. W. Warfield, the orator who threatened to make trouble for Johnson on the convention floor, and his regularly chosen delegation was literally thrown out and the delegation led by State Senator J. C. Royer, a Johnson man, was seated. Similar methods were employed in all contests.

The committee on rules, by a vote of 14 to 8, declared in favor of the endorsement of a candidate for the senate in accordance with Johnson's will. The nomination of governor was placed first on tomorrow's program; that of senator second.

The new central committee was organized by the Johnson partisans by the election of W. L. Finiet of Kenton.

I. M. Salzgaber, temporary chairman of the convention, in the hope that his candidacy for the senatorial endorsement will amount to something, refused to have his name presented, and Goeke of Auglaise county will preside.

C. C. Philbrick of Columbus, deputized by Johnson, called on Zimmerman tonight and offered him the endorsement for United States senator, on condition that he withdraw and make Johnson's nomination unanimous. Zimmerman declined to consider the proposition.

PATRIOTIC SONS HOLD STATE CONVENTION

Eight Hundred Delegates Present—Officers Elected, Followed by Oratorical Contest.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LANCASTER, PA., Aug. 25.—The opening session of the thirty-eighth annual state convention of the Patriotic Order Sons of America was held this morning, with 800 delegates present. There are 654 lodges in the state, with a total membership of nearly 75,000. The afternoon session was devoted to the election of officers and presentation of annual reports.

The following officers were elected: Charles H. Stees, Philadelphia, president; William I. Swoope, Clearfield, vice president; J. W. Reese, St. Clair, master of forms; Irwin S. Smith, Reading, treasurer; William Wessel, Philadelphia, secretary; John S. Rehman, Lancaster, conductor; George T. Moorhead, Berwick, inspector; George Esch, Leighton, guard; J. H. Hughes, Philadelphia, J. E. Shuster, Shamokin, and C. J. Belder, Philadelphia, and Frank Wiesing, Philadelphia, camp building trustees.

An oratorical contest on patriotic subjects was held tonight. Among the contestants was the Rev. B. E. Shaner of Tarentum.

DEATH FROM HEAT.

One Fatality in Philadelphia and a Large Number of Persons Prostrated.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—With the exception of July 9 this city today experienced the hottest weather of the year, the temperature reaching a maximum of 94 degrees and the humidity 84 per cent. One death was reported by the police and a number of persons were prostrated. Late tonight a thunder storm cooled the atmosphere. During the storm and unknown man who was standing under a tree in Washington square, was killed by lightning.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Today was the hottest here since July 1, 1901, the thermometers at 4 o'clock registering 103 degrees. Ten prostrations were reported. None of them is likely to prove fatal.

OLDEST MOONSHINER IN STATE IS CAPTURED

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Henry Heyser, a young man, was lodged in jail here today by Deputy Marshal Dan Cunningham on whose he was arrested yesterday at Point, W. Va., on the charge of robbing the postoffice at that place. Marshal Cunningham also brought Wiley Hall with him. Hall is charged with the illicit distilling of whisky. Hall is 88 years old and is said to be the oldest moonshiner in West Virginia.

SHAMROCK OUTSAILED; WRINGE OUTGENERALED

sailed this leg of 10 miles in 59 minutes, 20 seconds.

Then the fleet started for the finish line, steaming a course parallel with that of the flying yachts. This last leg was also covered at roaring speed, Reliance still increasing her lead, her wake streaming a-lee, a path of dancing white on the deep blue bosom of the sparkling sea. The guide boat, sent ahead to show the course, was too slow, although everything aboard of her was open, and Reliance passed her before this line was reached.

All the ocean going tugs and many of the steam yachts were left astern in the mad race. Just before the finish the wind died down, but the Reliance went across it ample time to win, having covered the ten miles in 57 minutes and 40 seconds.

There followed the usual riot of whistles, mingled with the wail of sirens, the clangor of bells, the exultant shouts of patriots and the booming of cannon. The Shamrock was about a mile astern, and crossed 4 minutes and 4" second later, to a repetition of the riot which had welcomed the Reliance's victory.

Then the great observation fleet headed back to New York at top speed, not waiting to follow the racers in. And it was well that it was so. Before half the fleet had reached the upper buoy a green gray squall out of the northwest, raising a curtain of spray as it came, struck the fleet, bringing grief to many excursionists and carrying away yacht and steamer awnings and tophamper generally. Had the squall found the racers and the attendant fleet out on the ocean race course today might have been chronicled a great marine disaster.

Wireless Telegraph a Failure.

It was a hard day for the overworked newspaper reporters. There are three recognized methods for reporting a yacht race—the wireless telegraph system, the fleet of small boats carrying the news from the course to the shore, and a line of shore observers along the Jersey and Long Island coast. This was a day on which all three systems proved a failure. The experience of two years ago demonstrated the comparative uncertainty of all wireless telegraphy, but no one was prepared for the utter collapse of the system which occurred today. There were four competing systems, three of which were most active until the atmosphere above the triangular course was beaten into a hopeless confusion, so that the Marconi system, with all its careful preparation, was available but for a single message throughout the entire day. It would not have been so exasperating if the other companies had been honestly striving to send their own bulletins, but much of the interference was obviously malicious.

Before the yachts had reached the first turn a thick haze overspread the course and shut them entirely from the view of the shore observers.

Then some one indulged in a guessing match, and one of Marconi's opponent companies professed to have received a message giving the hour, minute and second at which each boat turned the first mark.

Fake Messages Exposed.

This was well enough until the official time was obtained from the committee boat, then it was disclosed—as had been suspected from the beginning—that the so-called wireless company was publishing bulletins from shore observations and wild guesses that had not been transmitted by wireless telegraphy at all.

When the yachts reached the starting line shortly after 10 a. m., the wind was south southeast, and blowing about four knots—enough to send them over the course within the time limit, but there were indications that there would be enough of it later.

The preparatory signal was fired at 10:45, the warning gun at 10:55 and the starting gun at 11 o'clock. Navigator Barr calculated that the race would be over a triangular course, 10 miles to a leg, the first leg south, the second northeast by east half east, the third northwest by west half west. The wind was that time was due south and had begun to freshen.

In the preliminary jockeying Capt. Barr of the Reliance got the windward position, blanketing the Shamrock III., and clung to it through various maneuvers until the warning gun had been fired, when Capt. Wringe had got clear of the Reliance.

Reliance's Good Start.

At the sound of the gun Shamrock III. bore off to leeward and away from Reliance, white Capt. Barr tacked under the stern of the Navigator as the starting gun was fired, and crossed the line only 30 seconds behind the gun. The Shamrock III. kept away from the line almost until the handicap gun. Then tacked and crossed it, handicapped by 10 seconds, for which no allowance was made to her. The 10 seconds was dead loss. The official starting time was:

Reliance	11:00:48
Shamrock III.	11:01:06

The actual starting time of Shamrock was 11:02:19. Both went across the line on the starboard tack, but held that tack for not more than a minute, and then headed for the Jersey coast. Once fairly away, Capt. Wringe of Shamrock III. resumed his tactics of the previous races, gave his boat a good rap full and sailed through the Reliance's lee and got under her lee bow, while Capt. Barr pinched Reliance close into the wind and began to shorten the distance to the windward mark. Capt. Wringe's maneuver forced him a wind clear of interference and when once satisfied that Reliance could not blanket his boat, he flattened in his sheets and began to point closer to the wind than Barr, however, was footing Reliance up to windward in masterly fashion.

Shamrock Far Astern.

Half an hour after the start the gap between the two boats had widened materially, Reliance pointing higher and the Shamrock footing faster. They were half a mile apart when they tacked off Highland beach at 11:30. The Reliance was the first to go about. When both yachts were filled away it was clear that the Reliance was gaining. Shamrock III. was far astern and very little to windward of Reliance's course, meantime the wind had been increasing and was now blowing at the rate of seven knots. Carrying a hard full, Shamrock III. was heeling prettily, moving through the water at a fair clip, and making considerably more fuss under her bows than the American boat. Capt. Barr was pinching the Reliance into the wind until her little baby jib topsail fluttered. The race was being fought out on the same lines as the previous ones. The Reliance sought to make her gain by outpointing the British boat, while the latter endeavored to make up for what she lost in pointing by footing faster with a rap full.

At noon the wind had increased to 10 knots and hauled about a point to the westward, so that both yachts could lay a straight course to the turning mark not more than two miles distant. They were heeling hard and dragging their lee rails through a lather of froth and sending it spurting from under their bows in a fashion that indicated that they were making at least 12 knots and that there was little danger that the race would not be finished within the time limit. Without making another tack both boats made the turn of the first mark as follows:

Reliance	1:01:36
Shamrock	1:01:45

Though the Reliance had a lead of three minutes and fifteen seconds she still lacked six seconds of making up the time allowance and the difference of one minute and 24 seconds at the start. Officially the Shamrock was still six seconds ahead of the slippery Yankee, but it was evident that the latter had won the race barring accidents. In a breeze varying from 4 to 10 knots an hour she had made good the time allowance in a 10-mile thrash to windward and there was every reason to believe that in reaching and running—which are her two strongest points of sailing—she would quickly overcome that official six seconds.

Both captains broke out balloon jib topsails when they squared for the second turn. The wind was so far aft that they quickly discovered that instead of being a broad reach, as intended, the course to the turn was a run. Spinnakers soon were guyed out and the first sail added to the tall reaches of canvas. Staysails were taken in and with spinnaker booms guyed well forward, the yachts run away for the turn.

Fighting Every Inch.

Both were heading off their course a bit in order to make their spinnakers draw well, and they ran that way for half an hour when the Reliance smoothed her spinnaker and began to set her staysail. During that time she did not appear to have gained an inch, but immediately upon laying her true course she began to draw away. Ten minutes after Reliance the Shamrock also took in her balloon jib topsail and staysail and headed for the mark. With the wind over their quarters both yachts made fast time of it, but it was apparent that Reliance was gaining. They made the second turn as follows:

Reliance	1:17:50
Shamrock	1:21:45

The Reliance was leading by three minutes 55 seconds, having gained 40 seconds in the run across from the first to the second mark. She had overcome the time allowance, made good the difference at the start, and established a margin to her credit of 34 seconds. With a close reach still to be made there was faint hope for the challenger.

The Reliance whirled about the mark, gibbed over, trimmed in her sheets and romped away on a close reach towards Sandy Hook lightship and the finish line. She was three-quarters of a mile away before the Shamrock rounded the mark. Both yachts were nearing before a thickening wind from south by west, and were sailing at least one mile an hour faster than the wind was blowing.

Long Overhang Helps Reliance.

Their sheets were eased just enough to put them on almost their best points of sailing and one upon which the favorite was often distinguished what she is faster than any racing craft ever built. She was headed just enough to bring her long overhang to bear, and gave her the benefit of her great sailing length. The gaudy vessel Constitution was scurrying almost ahead of her at full speed, but the distance was overhanging her inch by inch, and when the Hastings nose fair to sight about two miles away, was not more than a quarter of a mile astern of the guide vessel. A mile further on the Constitution sheered off and gave Reliance a clear course to the finish.

As the wind softened the Reliance first set a baby jib topsail, which the Shamrock had been carrying since turning the second mark, and then scrambled up to a big reaching jib topsail to which the Shamrock promptly followed suit. The two yachts held their relative positions for about a mile. When the Reliance was a quarter of a mile from the finish line the Shamrock came bounding along, carrying a splendid breeze and fast overhauling the leader. It looked as though the British boat was going to get within her time allowance, but the finish line was reached when the Reliance slipped across it with one minute and 15 seconds to spare. The Shamrock finished in a softening wind and both boats were taken in tow for Sandy Hook. The official time:

	Start.	Finish.	Elapsed.	Cor.
Reliance	11:00:48	2:58:15	3:57:27	3:57:27
Shamrock	11:02:19	2:58:15	3:55:56	3:56:15

The next race will be sailed on Thursday.

YACHTS ARE ENTANGLED BY STORM AFTER RACE

Northwest Gale Off Sandy Hook Caused Great Confusion Among the Boats.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—A terrible northwest wind and electric storm struck Sandy Hook this evening and Shamrock III. and L. Reliance and a fleet of half a dozen fine yachts, including the Iris, C. Oliver Iselin's Sunbeam and the Herreshoff Nearmar, were in danger for a time. The yacht Kanawha, owned by Lloyd Phoenix, who was chartered as the committee boat for the cup races, was blown violently against a coal scow and carried the scow before it. It seemed for a time that the two boats would crash into Shamrock III., which lay in the path of the gale, not far away.

The Nearmar, which was dangerously near the Shamrocks, began to drag her anchor and despite efforts to hold her drifted down rapidly. Suddenly she swung against the Sunbeam and managed to get away from the starboard side. The Sunbeam, too, as the blow increased later, again began to drag and in a moment went with a loud crash against the scow, which also commenced to drift, and for a moment it looked as if Shamrock III. would be overwhelmed.

TAKES DEFEAT COOLLY.

Sir Thomas Lipton Admits That the Best Boat Won the Second Race.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—After the race Sir Thomas Lipton said: "You have all seen the results and the only thing I can say is that we did better today than in the last race, which is hoped. I favor our defeat at a little over nine minutes. If I make a challenge for the next race as I did in the two over the last I will be a good bit ahead to the finish of the third race.

"I was more than pleased with the way the Shamrock behaved today. It is hard to admit it, but the best boat won. Perhaps with more wind at the finish the result might have been different. But I don't want to throw any cold water on the victor. It is hard to lose every race by such a series and I hope our turn will come next."

Lord Shaftesbury said: "We are licked. The Reliance is jolly well the best boat."

PROMPT WORK BY LIPTON AVERTS A CATASTROPHE

Goes to Rescue of Yacht Allita During Squall in Horseshoe Bay and Carries Several Women to Safety.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., Aug. 25.—A squall that broke over Horseshoe bay soon after Reliance and Shamrock had been moored and the Fletcher had disappeared with the guests of the Erin, caused a half hour of the most intense excitement during which John H. Flagler's yacht Allita dragged her anchor, bore down upon the steam yacht Giralda from Philadelphia and carried the latter a quarter of a mile.

Complete destruction of both yachts was imminent and only the prompt action of Sir Thomas Lipton, who with a dozen sailors from the Erin took possession of the Allita, saved further damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Flagler were absent from the Allita, but Sir Thomas brought from the yacht to the Erin Mrs. Mandeville, the mother of Mrs. Flagler, and Miss McClenahan, her guest, and two maids. As it was, the bowsprit of Giralda was snapped short off and her sides were badly scraped, while the bowsprit tore away a great piece of the starboard bulkhead of the Allita, carried off her companionway on that side and carried away a lifeboat. The squall drove the Reliance under Sunbeam from her anchorage and smashed her against the big barge Commander, which holds the spare sails and spars of Shamrock. Twice the boats came together and each time a big hole was knocked in the starboard quarter of the Sunbeam above the guards.

The storm lasted about fifteen minutes for more than an hour. Black clouds had been gathering and the incoming yachts from the race hastened to find safe anchorages within the bay. The Erin came first, as usual, and dispatched her guests to New York on the new Hudson. Then came the other pleasure yachts and last of all, Shamrock III. and Reliance, which were safely tucked away for the night. The bay had been filled with small boats crowded with cheering enthusiasts from the highlands, but most of these started early for a safe retreat from the approaching storm. A few remained, however, until the clouds reached a point directly over the bay and with a downfall that looked like water into foaming white caps and strained every boat in its anchorage chains. The air was black as though night had suddenly settled upon the boats.

PROMPT WORK BY LIPTON AVERTS A CATASTROPHE

Goes to Rescue of Yacht Allita During Squall in Horseshoe Bay and Carries Several Women to Safety.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., Aug. 25.—A squall that broke over Horseshoe bay soon after Reliance and Shamrock had been moored and the Fletcher had disappeared with the guests of the Erin, caused a half hour of the most intense excitement during which John H. Flagler's yacht Allita dragged her anchor, bore down upon the steam yacht Giralda from Philadelphia and carried the latter a quarter of a mile.

Complete destruction of both yachts was imminent and only the prompt action of Sir Thomas Lipton, who with a dozen sailors from the Erin took possession of the Allita, saved further damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Flagler were absent from the Allita, but Sir Thomas brought from the yacht to the Erin Mrs. Mandeville, the mother of Mrs. Flagler, and Miss McClenahan, her guest, and two maids. As it was, the bowsprit of Giralda was snapped short off and her sides were badly scraped, while the bowsprit tore away a great piece of the starboard bulkhead of the Allita, carried off her companionway on that side and carried away a lifeboat. The squall drove the Reliance under Sunbeam from her anchorage and smashed her against the big barge Commander, which holds the spare sails and spars of Shamrock. Twice the boats came together and each time a big hole was knocked in the starboard quarter of the Sunbeam above the guards.

The storm lasted about fifteen minutes for more than an hour. Black clouds had been gathering and the incoming yachts from the race hastened to find safe anchorages within the bay. The Erin came first, as usual, and dispatched her guests to New York on the new Hudson. Then came the other pleasure yachts and last of all, Shamrock III. and Reliance, which were safely tucked away for the night. The bay had been filled with small boats crowded with cheering enthusiasts from the highlands, but most of these started early for a safe retreat from the approaching storm. A few remained, however, until the clouds reached a point directly over the bay and with a downfall that looked like water into foaming white caps and strained every boat in its anchorage chains. The air was black as though night had suddenly settled upon the boats.

THREE WAR VESSELS SUNK FROM FORTS

Army Theoretically Destroys a Part of the North Atlantic Squadron.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ME., Aug. 25.—Active hostilities in the war game began at 11:15 tonight. The army searchlights from the shore were trained on a warship approaching the harbor entrance and the batteries at Fort Williams began a heavy cannonade.

Two battleships were destroyed by shots from 6 and 13-inch guns at Fort Williams. Other warships can be seen outside the harbor.

The other vessels fired upon were probably gunboats or torpedo boat destroyers. Three small vessels were brought into view by the searchlights and one round of shots was fired from the 6 and 13-inch guns at Fort Williams, which, according to the rules sank one vessel. Fort McKinley and Fort Levett each fired one round, each of which sank a vessel, so in all probability three vessels were theoretically destroyed.

FRATERNAL CONGRESS HONORS J. A. LANGFITT

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—"Fraternalism As a Recreation," is the characterization that has been placed on fraternal society work by J. A. Langfitt of Pittsburgh, president of the National Fraternal Congress. Mr. Langfitt is prominent in his native city, but despite his career of activity in the fraternities has run the entire gamut of fraternal work and now says that at the end of this week he will retire from it altogether. Today he called to order the 15th session of the National Fraternal congress and was made an honorary president for life.

HONORS TO DEAD SON OF ITALIAN PATRIOT

ROME, Aug. 25.—The funeral of Menotti Garibaldi, the eldest son of the patriot, who died last Saturday, was held today, and evoked a great popular demonstration of sympathy. All the civil and military authorities of Rome, including the members of the senate, the chamber and municipal council, attended the funeral, the king being represented by Vice Admiral Morin, the foreign minister. It is estimated that 50,000 persons witnessed the funeral procession.

FATALLY SHOT FRIEND AND THEN HIMSELF

NEWARK, O., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Warren Nichols, aged 24, met his former friend, Edward Silno, aged 19, in the public square this afternoon. The rain drove them into a near stairway where Nichols pulled a revolver and shot Silno three times, fatally. He then shot himself, but not seriously. He was arrested. No motive is given.

war. I wonder if you yourself realize how much you have accomplished during that period. If you will turn to your first reports and will read therein the recommendations you made in order that the army might be put on an effective basis, you cannot but be pleased at the way in which these recommendations have been investigated by congress, as well as by the administration, and have become enacted into law or crystallized into custom. We have never had a public servant of the government who has worked harder than you have worked during these four years and a half, and this not merely in point of time, but above all in point of intensity, and your success has been equal to your labor. The only reward you have had or can have is the knowledge of successful achievement of the performance in fullest fashion of a great public duty, the doing of which was of vital importance to the nation's welfare.

Your duties have included more than merely the administration of the department and the reorganization of the army on an effective basis. You have also been the head of the department which dealt with the vast and delicate problems involved in our possession of the Philippine islands, and your success in dealing with this part of your work has been as signal as your success in dealing with the purely military problems. To very few statesmen indeed in any country is it given at the one and the same time to achieve signal and striking success in the administration and reform of the military branch of the government and in the administration of what was in effect a department of insular dependencies, where the problems were of a totally different and were in themselves of great difficulty.

Moreover, aside from your work in these two divisions of the government service, I appreciate most keenly the invaluable advice and assistance you have rendered me in all numerable matters of weight not coming directly in your departmental province, but in which I sought your aid with the certainty of not being disappointed. Your position on the Alaskan boundary commission at the present moment is an illustration of those services.

May a good fortune attend you wherever you are! The American people wish you well and appreciate to the full the debt they owe you for all that you have done on their behalf.

Faithfully yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY COMPLETES BIG CONTRACT

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—A year's work in erecting a great power plant at the Pennsylvania American plate glass works at Alexandria, Ind., is ended and within a month the equipment will be turned over by the Westinghouse Company. The plant cost $250,000, of which $90,000 is for buildings and $160,000 for machinery. The generators will furnish 5,000 horse power and are driven by three gas engines. Twenty-one grinders will be driven by the new power, the motors at each grinder furnishing power direct.

SEISMOGRAPH ON VESUVIUS GIVES WARNING OF DANGER

NAPLES, Aug. 25.—(Special Cable.)—The prefecture of Naples has communicated to villages in the vicinity of Vesuvius a telegram received from the Vesuvius observatory, which states that owing to the great agitation of the seismographic apparatus, a severe eruption is imminent.

BIGELOW PROMISES FILTERED WATER

oughs will be brought into the city, making a total population of about 800,000, and they will also have to have filtered water. Therefore, in making our plans now we are obliged to look further ahead than the mere natural growth of the city."

Labor High-Priced in Pittsburgh.

"Do you see any foundation for the argument that Pittsburgh could build a filtration plant of the same capacity as Washington's cheaper than it could be built here, for the reason that much of the material is manufactured in Pittsburgh?" the director was asked.

"There is no basis for such a statement," said he. "Every one who knows anything about building knows that Pittsburgh is the most expensive city in the country in which to build. Workmen of all classes get higher pay there than they do anywhere else and material is no cheaper. We can not expect to get any advantage in that respect."

"The contract for the Washington filtration plant calls for the completion of the work in 20 months after the award of the contract. Why could not Pittsburgh have her plant finished in that time?"

"It could be done," said Mr. Bigelow. "If councils adopt the report that I will submit my men can go ahead with the plans and have them all ready by the time the question is submitted to a vote of the people. Then if, say, next spring the people vote the necessary money for the plant, everything will be in readiness for letting the contract, and within 20 months after that is done the people of Pittsburgh will have filtered water delivered to them through the city mains. This would fix the time of completion at about January 1, 1905."

Knowles' Job Permanent.

"Is Mr. Knowles to be the permanent consulting engineer?" the director was asked.

"Yes, I think so," he replied. "You see, he was first employed by me under authority of a city ordinance, and this ordinance has never been repealed. He was later dismissed by resolution of councils, but as the original ordinance was not repealed, it left me free to reinstate him. The controllers office has found that I was acting legally in the matter."

Col. Miller, the government engineer, is a firm adherent of mechanical filtration, and he recommended to congress that such a plant be installed here. But the medical fraternity of the district interposed a strong objection and insisted that sand filtration was the best and the kind that was wanted here, and as a result congress overruled the colonel and the sand filter was adopted.

Col. Miller's preference for the mechanical filter is no doubt based upon the fact that such a filter is in operation at Fort Myer, just across the Potomac from Washington, and that it works very satisfactorily. It is a comparatively small one, however, with a capacity of 420,000 gallons daily. Director Bigelow was asked before he returned home if he had been converted to a supporter of the mechanical filter by Col. Miller. The director replied that he had not; that he was still a believer in the superiority of the sand filtration system. He said that his forthcoming report to councils would be devoted exclusively to sand filtration.

TWO MEN INJURED IN FREIGHT WRECK

Freight Train Parts in Middle on Junction Railroad and Bad Smashup Follows.

By the parting of a freight train hoisted with iron ore and coke 15 cars were reduced to splinters and two men were seriously injured on the Pittsburgh Junction railroad near Finley street, late last night. One of the men injured was pinned in among the wreckage and for fully a half hour was pinned under broken cars.

The injured:

JOSEPH KERLIGAN, cut and bruised about the head and body; taken to Mercy Hospital.

WILLIAM GRIBERT, a brakeman, right leg crushed and injured internally; taken to Mercy Hospital.

The train was running west when it parted. The rear section collided with the front part, telescoping six cars. The crash threw the heavily loaded cars over the three tracks on the main line and blocked the road completely.

BIGELOW NAMES HIS TICKET; STEVENSON SOUNDS WARNING

Fusion Candidates for County Officers Are Cast Adrift Without Platform to Stand On.

BROWN FOR THE SHRIEVALTY

He Is Supposed to Be Able to Drag the Independents Into Line—Bigelow Will Not Reconvene the Democratic Convention.

Thomas S. Bigelow has completed his fusion ticket. It was cast adrift yesterday by a few men who met in secret conference. The candidates stand pledged to nothing, save allegiance to the boss who picked them. These are the nominees:

District attorney—H. L. Goehring, Allegheny.

Sheriff—Thomas M. Brown, Pittsburgh.

Prothonotary—J. A. Bielchner, Pittsburgh.

Jury commissioner—Cornelius Casey, Sharpsburg.

Director of the poor—William M. Turner, Jr., Wilkinsburg.

No platform was builded for them to stand upon. The people had no voice in their selection. The only thing they have to offer the voters of the county is the mass of broken pledges of the Citizens party. Of all the reforms promised by this political organization not one has been carried out. Yet Thomas S. Bigelow announces that "just as certain as the sun is to rise tomorrow, this ticket will be elected."

Bigelow has sent the pitcher to the well successfully on three occasions and claims to believe that conditions are the same now as then. He thinks that it will again be possible to make the people believe they are to get reform.

Why He Named Brown.

Councilman Thomas M. Brown of the Twentieth ward, son of former Recorder A. M. Brown, was selected by Bigelow for sheriff for several reasons. Brown had been trailing after W. H. Stevenson in common council and to some extent had fought the plans of the bosses of the machine. It was thought good politics to put him on the ticket, believing that many of the independents in the Citizens party would be willing to support it in order to elect Brown. In this the machine is likely to be fooled, as the independents criticise Brown for lending himself to the scheme.

The East End wards are in bad shape so far as the Citizens are concerned, and it will be Brown's duty to pull them into line. He is also expected to defend the machine for its refusal to keep pledges made to the people of Pittsburgh. As one of the Citizens leaders put it, "Brown is counted upon to pull the church people out to our support" in the spring campaign this game Brown was criticised severely for his remarks along religious lines while defending Hays on the stump. Another reason for the slating of Brown in that it is expected he will be able to get the support of a newspaper that has denounced the Bigelow machine for its failure to keep its pledges.

Named Behind Closed Doors.

The joint fusion conference was held at Citizens headquarters yesterday afternoon. The meeting place was on the second floor and a guard was placed at the foot of the stairs to prevent any but conferees from entering Bigelow's throne room. During the morning Bigelow, Hays and Verner were closeted with Brown and the nomination was really made then.

The two committees were in session but a short time. Brown was named for sheriff and the Democrats had the selection of Turner of Wilkinsburg approved for director of the poor. Turner is a young man who has been prominent in local Democratic politics for several years. He was suggested by Mr. Thompson of Wilkinsburg, one of the Democratic conferees. The nomination of these two men completed the ticket.

The plan of reconvening the Democratic county convention for the purpose of ratifying the slate has been abandoned. Bigelow says that he has had the matter carefully examined and finds that there is no necessity for the convention to say whether it approves of his selections. James J. Coyle is of the same opinion. They know that if the convention is reconvened the ticket may be upset. The Citizens county committee, controlled absolutely by Bigelow, will meet this afternoon and ratify the ticket.

THE BROWN INQUEST TO BE TAKEN UP AGAIN

J. R. P. Brown Denies That He Is Ready to Cease Making Inquiry Into Brother's Death.

James R. P. Brown denied yesterday the report that he had decided to discontinue the inquiry into the cause of the death of his brother, the late City Recorder Joseph O. Brown. The continuation of the inquest his been set for Saturday. There was also a report that the inquest would be adjourned indefinitely, but Mr. Brown said it might possibly be postponed on Saturday if Col. T. C. Campbell, the Cincinnati attorney, should be detained by his duties in connection with the trial of Caleb Powers for the murder of Goebel in Kentucky.

Mr. Brown said he did not know how the report that the inquest would be called off had originated. As for the claim of those opposed to the continuation of the inquest on the ground that when Coroner McGeary told the physicians how to make out the certificate of J. O. Brown's death, he had thereby "viewed" the body and could not hold an inquest later, Deputy Coroner Louis Hirchel said it frequently happens that the coroner holds an inquest if facts afterwards developed show that an inquest should have been held.

Attorney John Marron has been subpoenaed to attend the inquest on Saturday as a witness. Mr. Marron is quite indignant and his friends say that he is unable to understand why he is brought into the case.

CARRIE NATION WAS FINED.

Kansas Saloon Smasher Yields Up $10—Delivered Two Lectures in Saloons.

Carrie Nation was fined at central station yesterday morning. Locked up the night before for disorderly conduct in Union station, the saloon-smasher from Topeka, Kan., faced Magistrate Vitchestain. He fined her $10 and costs or 30 days to the workhouse. Mrs. Nation paid her fine.

Carrie had a wordy tilt with Vitchestain and then went over to the South Side, entering two saloons and delivering lectures. She was promptly hustled out of each. Word was sent to police station No. 7 of the woman's presence on that side of the river, and orders were issued to arrest the woman should she become obstreperous.

RECORDS WERE MUTILATED.

Interesting Discovery Made by Police Investigating Committee.

The committee which was to investigate the affairs of the Homestead police force met Monday evening at the office of the borough clerk and discovered that 28 pages of the records containing the names of those arrested from March 1 to July 28 were torn from the book.

The committee could not ascertain whether the forfeits taken from the prisoners were returned to the givers or turned over to the borough. The committee was in Pittsburgh yesterday examining the system used here.

Bloomfield Man Has Brother Arrested.

Charles Seymour of Ella street, this city, was arrested yesterday in Cleveland, at the instance of the Pittsburgh police. The man is accused by his brother, Albert Seymour, also of Ella street, of having embezzled about $800 from him on July 4. Requisition papers are being prepared, and Detective Alexander Wallace will go to Toledo to bring Seymour here within the next two days.

Fourteenth Ward Reformer Makes Caustic Remark About Party Without a Platform.

HE PREDICTS CERTAIN DEFEAT

Says Citizens Can Not Hope to Secure Independents Unless Pledges Are Redeemed—Has Plan to Tax Street Railway Companies.

"They call me a 'political orphan,' or a man without a party. To my mind a man without a party is better than a party without a platform. The Citizens have not kept a single pledge they made to the people of Pittsburgh. Unless these promises are redeemed the great army of independent voters will not go to the polls this fall and the new ring will be defeated."

The above statement was made by Councilman W. H. Stevenson yesterday afternoon when told that Thomas S. Bigelow had named Councilman Thomas M. Brown of the Twentieth ward for sheriff. The Bigelow machine seriously contemplated offering Stevenson the shrievalty nomination, but the bosses realized that he could not be caught with such a bait and the offer was never made.

There has been much speculation as to where Stevenson would land. His statement shows his position. He is, however, willing to give the Citizens another chance. If he will enact certain municipal legislation prior to the November election he believes that the independent voters will go to the support of the fusion ticket. If the reforms are not carried out he predicts defeat for Bigelow's candidate.

Party Without a Platform.

"The fusion ticket is without a platform," said Councilman Stevenson. "The effort to make the removal of the hump an issue is simply a scheme to throw sand in the eyes of the people. Neither is filtration an issue in this fight. The Citizens have made many pledges and none of them have been kept, except in so far as it has been within the power of Controller John K. Larkin. The independent voters of Pittsburgh will control this election. There are hundreds of men who follow no bosses. They have had a taste of independence and do not propose to have their liberties taken away from them. As matters now stand these voters will not go to the polls in November. Their refusal to vote will defeat the fusion ticket. They will not accept promises, but must be shown by actual works that the party is honest in its utterances on reform.

"The ordinances taxing corporations holding public franchises have never been acted upon. The people were promised that legislation along this line would be enacted. At the first meeting of councils I intend to give the party one more chance to fulfill its pledges. I will put in a new tax ordinance. I think that it will be constitutional, but if there is a doubt about it, the honest thing to do will be to pass it and allow the courts to decide on its constitutionality."

Taxing Street Railways.

If Councilman Stevenson succeeds in making the Citizens put through their promised reforms, street railway companies will have to pay an annual rental of $1 a linear foot for the streets used in the city. The new tax scheme will be included in his proposed general ordinance governing switch privileges.

"Not long ago," said the councilman, "two corporations wanted the right to run railroad switches into their works. An investigation was made and it was found that in addition to the switches proper, several hundred feet of city property were being used for sidings. The value of this ground was figured out and it was found that by charging an annual rental of 50 cents a lineal foot in addition to $75 for the switch, the city would be compensated. Both corporations agreed to this. I now propose to ask councils to bring all private switches and sidings under this ordinance. Many streets are being used as railroad sidings and the city should be getting a revenue. Quite a large sum of money would be realized annually.

"I see by Controller Larkin's recent statement on the revenues of the city, that ordinary vehicles pay $62,000 a year, while the street cars escape with a tax of $20,700.

Big Revenue Raiser.

"It is unfair to make the vehicle, with the limited rights, pay three times as much tax as the street cars. Roughly figuring, there are 50 miles of street railways in Pittsburgh. The companies operating them should be made to pay a fair compensation for the use of the streets. My plan is to fix an annual tax of $1 a linear foot. This would produce a revenue of about $265,000 a year and is a fair business proposition. The street cars occupy the best streets in the city and should be made to pay accordingly.

"The railways companies have at least 10,000 poles along the 50 miles of tracks. They should be made to pay for this privilege. I intend to fix the annual rental for each pole at $10. This would produce $100,000 a year. The excuse for the failure to pass an ordinance fixing a tax of 5 per cent on the gross receipts of corporations enjoying public franchises, is that it would not be legal. If this is true, then let them take up my ordinance. I believe that it is perfectly legal. Its passage would be an evidence that the Citizens intend to be honest. I will certainly give them an opportunity to go on record. It is by such legislation that city revenues can be increased and taxation reduced.

"There is sufficient time to enact this legislation before the November election. Promises to put it through councils after the election will not be acceptable. The goods must be delivered in advance."

Booming Allegheny College.

Professors and undergraduates of Allegheny college, Meadville, will conduct "Epworth League College Evening services in Pittsburgh and vicinity Sunday. Prof. Albert C. Kudson Vice President, J. H. Montgomery, Prof. E. A. Smith and Prof. Albert C. Lockwood will speak in local Methodist Episcopal churches. About 150 Epworth leagues have been visited during the summer by representatives of the college. The purpose of the meetings is to arouse interest in Allegheny college and draw students there. Great results are expected from the tour of the state.

New Play House for McKeesport.

Stock is being subscribed for the erection of what will be the largest building in McKeesport. It is to be 16 stories high and cost $600,000. Over $200,000 of the stock has been subscribed. The promoters are Charles Devenny and W. L. Sheets. The site is the old Wampler building, in Fifth avenue, in the center of the business district. The intention is to incorporate a playhouse in the building and an application for the lease has been received from E. D. Smith of Pittsburgh. The remainder of the structure will be devoted to offices and storerooms.

WISH TO START THE FIRE LATE

Window Glass Manufacturers and Workers Hold Meeting Here Today.

WOULD UNITE THE UNIONS

Condition of Market Such That Action Is Demanded That Will Make Prices and Conditions More Stable Than at Present.

An important joint meeting of the wage committee of the three large window glass companies and the representatives of the two organizations of window glass workers will be held here today. A preliminary meeting was held yesterday in preparation for the sessions today.

It is the purpose of the three window glass companies to obtain agreements with the two unions to a late start of the coming fire. The window glass market is in bad shape, the surplus product having but little demand. To work this off without adding to it by the product of the coming fire is the desire of the manufacturers.

There is also some talk of the two organizations of workers being amalgamated. The Denny and Burns factions are both to be represented and it is agreed that the situation would be made far more simple if they can be brought together again.

At the conference yesterday in the Hotel Henry there were present President J. R. Johnston, Secretary Leopold Mambourg and Treasurer W. L. Munro of the Federation Window Glass Company; L. S. Cunningham, a member of the executive board, and President C. P. Cole of the Independent Window Glass Company, and John L. Denny, former president of the Window Glass Workers of America, now manager for the C. P. Cole factory at Lancaster, O.; President Simon Burns of the Window Glass Workers' association, Local Assembly, No. 300 K. of L., and John L. Philips, Jr., president of the Independent Organization of Glass Workers.

Mr. Cole stated yesterday that the glass market is in a terrible condition. The consumption this season is much less than usual, and the market is overstocked. The numerous strikes among the building trades are the prime causes of the present conditions.

Another fact embarrassing to the glass industry is that there are virtually four different manufacturing companies. In addition to the three combines the independent concerns are turning out a great amount of glass. Then the workers have two organizations, each with a different wage scale.

Until the new organization's scale contains a clause which provides that a reduction can be made at any time if it is shown that the window glass blowing machine produces glass cheaper than by hand. The scale of the old organization stipulates that a change can be made if prices of glass are reduced.

MOVE TO CHAMBERSBURG.

Westinghouse Foundry Machinery in South Side Is Purchased.

Work will be commenced shortly on the removal of the foundry building and cranes of the Westinghouse Machine Company, Carson street, to Chambersburg, Pa., they having been purchased by the Chambersburg Engineering Company. The building is of iron, and the cranes are large and heavy, the removal by rail being estimated to require not less than 100 cars. This was the old Robison-Rea plant, and virtually winds up that corporation, which has been kept in existence until its property was disposed of.

The ground was sold to the Wabash railroad some time ago for $500,000 and will be part of its yard system, the property having a frontage of 250 feet in the north side of Carson street, and extending back 600 feet to the Monongahela river. The Westinghouse Machine Company will start this week the removal of its plant to the new location in Trafford City, where a large foundry has been erected.

Today's Special Sale of Furs.

While we expect this sale to continue for several days, the first day of any sale that comes under the head of special is always the best. Hence we would like to show you the new styles today if it is at all convenient for you to be present.

As we said in the first news of this out-of-time sale it is an experiment. Frankly we desire to see whether women will embrace an opportunity to save many dollars on Fur Coats and Small Furs which, beyond a reasonable doubt, they are sure to want when the Winter season begins.

The entire collection represents all the new ideas that have been brought out in Fur Coats and Fur Neckpieces for the Winter of 1903-4, all the favorite furs have been employed, and the prices at which you buy them today, and throughout the continuation of this special sale

ARE VERY MUCH BELOW WHAT SAME GRADES OF FURS WILL SELL FOR IN SIX WEEKS FROM NOW.

We submit this general proposition: Most women will want a new fur coat or neckpiece for the Winter season. If that coat or neckpiece can be bought now for a considerable reduction is it not the part of wisdom to buy now? Some of the prices operative during this sale.

Electric and Near-Seal Coats We offer nothing but qualities that we can safely guarantee. We say "Alaska" when we mean "Alaska" and under no conditions do we attempt to sell Lobos Island seals at any price.

Several finest coats in 24-inch lengths of best XXX grade Alaska skin, sizes from 32 to 42 inch bust, for $250.00 and $295.00. We will guarantee that on and after October 1st, of this year, the price on these coats will not be less than $325.00 and $375.00.

Seal Coats and Persian Lamb Coats, trimmed with sable, mink, chinchilla, etc., in handsome styles at significant reductions in keeping with the other furs offered during this sale.

Electric and Near-Seal Coats.

Made on the same patterns and by the same class of workmen who make our Alaska seal coats—linings all of guaranteed satin—advance styles—short sheared skins, lustrous, dense and as heavily furred as skill and labor can produce—lengths are 22 and 24 inches—

Prices for the X grade, 28.00 each.
Prices for the XX grade, $38.00 each.
Prices for the XXX grade, $38.00 each.

A XXX grade, with sable squirrel collar and revers, a very striking coat, is priced at $60.00.

Small Furs.

These small furs will especially appeal to women who have been thinking over the matter of a new fur neckpiece for the coming winter and wondering what sort of prices they would have to pay. Without intending to get up any special excitement, let us fairly warn you that these same furs will bring much more when the regular season sets in.

Single skin Isabella Fox Scarfs, two brush tails and four paws, $9.00, with two brush tails and four small tails, $10.00; better grades at $12.75 and $15.00 and $20.00.

Small Furs.

Two skin Isabella Fox Long Scarfs, with natural brush tails, $13.50, $16.00, $20.00.

Isabella Fox Scarfs, two natural brush tails, $20.00.

Two skin Flat Stoles, satin lined, six tails and silk girdle, $21.00.

Choice large single skin Isabella American Fox Scarfs, two natural brush tails and four small tails, $17.00.

Choice large two skin Isabella Silky American Fox Scarfs, natural brushes, four small tails and silk girdle, $30.00.

In introducing the foregoing fox scarfs, care was taken to procure only fine winter catch lustrous skins, heavily furred, and excellent color.

Squirrel Scarfs, ball trimmed, $7.00 and $10.00 each.

Blue Wolf Shawl Collars, $14.50 each.
Genuine Baum Marten Victorines, $35.00 each.
Extra fine two-stripe Mink Stoles, $58.00 each.
Extra fine Chinchilla Storm Collars, $55.00 each.

Small Furs.

Extra Baum Marten Storm Collars, $74.00 each.
American Fox Shawl Collars, $22.00 each.
Fine blue Fox Boas, $25.00 each.

Four skin Sable Boas, $55.00 each.
Four skin Russian Sable Scarfs, $68.00 each.
Natural Mink Victorines, $30.00 each.
Four skin Hudson Sable Scarfs, $65.00 each.
Chinchilla Stoles, $38.00 each.
Chinchilla Flat Pelerines, $25.00 each.
Marten, Mink, Squirrel, Wolf, Sable Baum, Raccoon, Persian and Ermine Scarfs, Victorines, Pelerines, Boas, etc., will be on sale in all the newest models at remarkably low prices—$15.00, $18.00, $20.00, $25.00, $30.00 and up to $1,500.00—only worth—and will be offered later—at fully 40 per cent more.

A Great Rug Offer.

Following are two rug propositions that should interest women who have been thinking of buying a fine rug. Fall housecleaning is usually succeeded by something new, and nothing would be more appropriate than a handsome rug for the floor. These are carpet soft rugs, and we doubt if a similar value will again be offered at any time during this season, either by this store or any other store.

$22 each for $27 grades of beautiful Velvet Rugs—12x9 feet in size. Persian design of a striking color, and the style of the rug exceptional. It would be well to read this again and to remember that we are offering for $22 a handsome Velvet Rug.

$50 each for $58 grades of those elaborate French Wilton Rugs. These French Rugs are made of finest worsted, and are fac similies of the choicest Royal Tabreez and Royal Kirmanshah Rugs. The size is 12x9 feet. They are exceptionally suitable for parlor and library.

Hot Weather Garments for Infants.

Everywhere you go you hear the remark, "fraid September's going to be warm." Well, Nature is a little peculiar, and we shouldn't wonder but what she would give us a right good spell of warm weather throughout the next month. Therefore look to it that the infants are dressed very cool. It won't cost much. Some hints:

50c each for Short Dresses made of nainsook, square yoke of tucks and insertion, narrow hemstitched ruffle on neck and sleeves. Sizes for 6 months, 1 and 2 years.

$1 for Long Waisted White Dresses of lawn; waist prettily trimmed with lace; skirt hemstitched. Sizes for 2 and 3 years.

25c each for Infants' Vests, long or short sleeves.

25c each for Infants' Mull Caps with clusters of tucks, face ruche edged with narrow Val. lace. These caps were all made by hand.

25c a pair for Infants' Booties.
25c each for Infants' Bands.
Infants' Bibs, 10c, 15c, 20c and 25c.

Reliance Wins Again.

Our Yacht Handkerchiefs and Stockings.

Reliance Handkerchiefs, for men and women—women's, 10c each; men's, 2 for 25c.

Shamrock III. Handkerchiefs for men and women—women's, 10c each; men's, 2 for 25c.

Reliance Stocks for women, $1.50 a pair.

The handkerchiefs are neat affairs, having printed in one corner either a picture of Shamrock III. or Reliance.

The Stockings for women are of fine open-work lisle in navy and black, the word, Reliance, the year, and an anchor embroidered in white and navy.

Red Men's Thunder Stolen By the Pale Faces.

Indian bead-work has become a pale face craze—indeed it is taking the place of fancy needlework to a great extent. The bead-work made by the Apache Indians is the best and is now being extensively used for belts, fobs, necklaces, wampun bags, memory chains, etc.

These articles are easily made, especially if you have one of our Indian bead-work looms. We have all the necessary findings, as follows:

At the Art Needlework Counter—

Indian Seed Beads, all colors, 10c a small bunch; 30c for extra large bunches.
Pattern and Instruction Books, 27 patterns, 10c a book.
Indian Looms, 50c each.
No. 30 cotton Thread, 5c a spool.
Assorted sizes of Needles, 5c a paper.

At the Jewelry Counter—

For those who do not care to spend the time in making up the articles, we show such fine Indian bead-work as:

Indian Bead Belts, $1.50 and $2 each.
Indian Bead Chains, 50c each to $1.50.
Large variety of patterns in both lines.

The Lightning Ice Cream Freezer.

No better made, and nine out of ten written up as something extra, won't freeze cream in half the time.

Great thing for the home, such weather as this.

In the Basement House Furnishing Store we make a specialty of the Lightning Ice Cream Freezer. It does the work in from 6 to 10 minutes, easy to handle, and does not get out of order.

The sizes are from one pint to 10 quarts. Prices $1.25 to $4.50.

This is a good place to speak of the Satin Ice Pad used in refrigerator or ice box. Will reduce ice bills 25 per cent. A small booklet giving all information will be mailed upon application.

Omo Dress Shields.

Made without rubber, consequently no odor. They will not show through the finest material. Nainsook and Japanese silk Covering. Full dress and low neck in addition to a full line of regular shapes.

Special display, main aisle.

Reiger's Transparent Glycerine Soap.

Round balls, 15c; bars, 15c; 3-ounce cakes, 30c, or 75c a box.

This Glycerine Soap, manufactured by William Reiger, of Frankfort, is known the world over as the purest of soaps. In addition to the regular size cake, we have a special shape made to our order for bath-tub use. Special sale today at the foregoing prices.

The Tea Kettle Water Still

A rapid producer of distilled water—something intensely interesting just now to every person who has to use hydrant water. A rather simple contrivance—being nothing more nor less than a tea kettle, which is attached to a still, or condenser, which, in turn changes steam into water.

This tea kettle is the fastest producer of distilled water known—a gallon can be run off in about 30 minutes—a household pure water distillery.

This unique scheme for having pure water in the house is on view, and for sale, in our House Furnishing Department of the Basement. A first glance will convince you of its thorough utility. It is not expensive.

Special Reading for Women—Comfort for Hot Weather.

About low-priced long and short Kimonos, Dressing Sacques and Petticoats.

At 50c each—Kimonos of fancy colored Lawn, a neat and inexpensive house garment.

At 75c each, worth from $1.25 to $2.00—Short Kimonos and Dressing Sacques of fine lawn, solid white and dainty figures, trimmed with lace, hemstitching and combination hem of solid or Persian effects, some all white.

At $1.25 —worth from $1.75 to $2.75—Long Kimonos of white lawn with pink borders; of solid pink and blue; of fancy figures; of dainty stripes and figures with solid borders.

At $1.75 —worth $2.50—splendid long Kimonos of a fine quality of white lawn, finished with fancy stitching.

At 75c each—worth $1.25—Petticoats of mercerized sheeting in gray, checked stripes and black and red with white dot. This is an unusual offer.

At 75c each—worth $1.50—another lot of those fine Linen Skirts, natural color—neatly trimmed—umbrella flounces and ruffles.

Director Bigelow's action in engaging Morris Knowles to prepare the plans and estimates required by the recent resolution is very satisfactory, as it indicates that expert skill is to control the work. Mr. Knowles is a professional engineer and his business reputation is at stake, and the engagement of a man of his standing takes the work out of politics, as it ought to be. It is an economical arrangement for the city, as his salary of $4,000 a year is a moderate price to pay for preparing the estimates in such a way that bidding upon them shall be fairly conducted. Neglect or incompetency in this respect would cost the city large sums. The course which Director Bigelow is pursuing gives assurance that the work will be done in a business way and be kept free from jobbery.

While Director Edward M. Bigelow declines to make any estimates in advance of his report to the committee of councils on filtration, his observations at Washington indicate the probability that more money will be needed than the $2,500,000 now on hand. The cost for Pittsburgh, however, should not exceed that at Washington. There is less excavation needed for the Pittsburgh plant, and should about balance the cost of laying mains under the river. But suppose the Pittsburgh plant does cost as much as the Washington plant, $3,500,000? The expense of preventable typhoid fever amounts to interest on much more than that sum. When the service is metered there will be marked economy in the operation of the bureau of water supply. The improvement will be worth more than it will cost, and no time should be lost in providing ways and means to begin the work and to push it to completion.

The second race between Reliance and Shamrock was more of a contest than the first, and the performance of Shamrock was such that every point of excellence in Reliance had to be fully developed. The cup defender, however, possesses as able seamanship as it does sailing qualities, and it again showed that under any weather conditions which may present themselves she is the speedier craft. The Shamrock, too, was admirably handled and the race was a close one from start to finish, Reliance winning by little more than a minute over a 30-mile triangular course. In view of the superiority of Reliance in sail spread, the result might well suggest to Sir Thomas Lipton that in Shamrock III. he has a boat whose possibilities of improvement lie rather in her rigging than in her hull. It is a question whether if she had the sail spread of the Reliance the gain would not have covered both the time allowance and the margin by which the victory of Reliance was achieved. Rig, hull design and seamanship all enter into the problem and now as ever American skill has worked out the best solution.

When a 9-year-old boy is under arrest charged with illicit distillation of whisky, as is now the case at Frankfort, Kentucky, it is pretty good evidence of the ease and simplicity of the process. The government tax is so very much more than the cost of the product that it gives an immense stimulus to illicit production. While it is heard of more in remote country districts, it may be questioned whether it does not go on to a large extent in great cities. The statement has been made on expert authority that more illicit distillation goes on in New York city than in extensive "moonshine" districts of the south, where the internal revenue officers are kept busy hunting illicit stills. It certainly is the fact that less revenue is collected under a high tax than under a lower tax, and if revenue considerations alone actuated congress the present tax would be reduced. Its maintenance prevents American manufacturers from competing with foreign manufacturers in numerous industries into which alcohol enters as a raw material. Many of those industries contain no alcohol in the finished product, but its use in the process of manufacture is indispensable.

So cool a summer as we have been having has made the heated term we have experienced this week seem very severe. The indications are that the hot wave has passed by and the prostrating temperature is hardly likely to occur again this year. Pittsburgh is a much more comfortable city than thermometrical records indicate, for although it is often the case that the thermometer makes a high record during the day, we have cooler nights than most interior cities. There are many places in the country where so high a record may not be made, where conditions are really far more prostrating from the way the heat hangs on during the night, interfering with sleep and rest. This is generally the case throughout the south, where it is not the extent of the heat, but its persistence that makes the summers so trying. Southern papers frequently contrast summer temperatures of northern cities with those of southern cities to the advantage of the latter, but the comparison is unsound. Even on the seacoast where people flock to escape the heat the sun may blaze during the day, making a high heat record, but the night brings coolness and refreshment. If the forks of the Ohio were not the site of a great manufacturing city it is quite likely that they would be famed as a picturesque mountain resort, and the cool nights here be celebrated.

Authentic news of events in Macedonia is difficult to obtain and the vague reports that are being received are not entitled to confidence. There are indications that the Turkish troops have been too much for the revolutionists in the Monastir district and that the bands are seeking other districts in which to stir up disorder. Monastir is rather far from the Bulgarian frontier, to which the revolutionary bands would naturally retreat if hard pressed. In confirmation of these suppositions reports are beginning to arrive of outbreaks in Adrianople, a district south of the Bulgarian frontier. One report says that the inhabitants of three Bulgarian villages have been attacked and massacred by Circassians. Circassia is a long way off from that region and is now a Russian province, but there was an extensive exodus of the Circassian tribes and a number of Circassian settlements both in European and Asiatic Turkey, so that the race conflict reported is not improbable. Meanwhile it is quite probable that strong measures for the pacification of the country, through forces under European control, will soon be instituted. Russia evidently has no desire to encourage the spread of the insurrection, as she promptly ordered away her fleet lest its presence might encourage the revolutionists. It stayed no longer than was necessary to obtain the complete submission of the Turkish government to the demands made by Russia.

A Weak Ticket.

With the selection of Thomas M. Brown for sheriff the Bigelow-Democratic fusion ticket is before the public. The candidates for jury commissioner and poor director do not count because their election is assured under the minority representation law. This being the case, the ticket is essentially Goehring, Brown and Bleichner. Brown's name adds no strength to the combination named at the first fusion meeting. The purpose in nominating him is clearly to get a special support that at best can only be given with a bad grace, owing to circumstances developed in the past.

The ticket is not merely weak in itself. It is condemned in the manner of its making. Every citizen is familiar with the method. Each candidate has been named for a special purpose which has nothing to do with the public welfare. There has been no element of popular choice or popular support. In the very nature of things, if these men should be elected, they will serve the power to which they owe their nomination. The quality of gratitude would dictate that if there were no other reasons.

As for the nominating power, it is the same that is in control of the city administration. That control was obtained by profuse promises to the people that certain things would be done and that certain other things would not be done. Not a single pledge has been redeemed. Every reform has been opposed, dallied with or ignored. There is no reason to expect any improvement with an access of more power. The administration is inefficient. Untrained men have been placed in responsible positions to reward political services. They do not know what to do or how to do it, even if they had the desire, and for the most part the desire is lacking. It is inconceivable that the people should want to extend that lack of system to other branches of the public business.

South Africa Labor Question.

There is an acute labor question in South Africa. There is so much difficulty in securing sufficient supplies of labor to work the mines that there is a strong movement among the mining companies to obtain permission to import coolies. Lord Milner, the governor general, has been converted to these views sufficiently to recommend the employment of 10,000 coolies from British India in the construction of new railroads. The proposal is to import the laborers under indenture and send them back to their own country on the expiration of the contract. Lord Milner holds that this will relieve the situation by lessening the demand for native labor, giving mining and agricultural interests better opportunity to get the labor supplies they need.

The home government, while not absolutely rejecting the proposal, will not entertain it unless the consent of the Indian government is first obtained. Underlying the pending question is the much broader one whether South African development shall be based upon white labor or colored labor. Labor interests in England and South Africa are agitating in favor of making South Africa a white man's country, and are opposed to any schemes for the introduction of coolie labor. To the declarations of the mining companies that the ores cannot be worked profitably except by cheap labor, the example of the United States is cited as proof of the fact that low grade ores can be profitably worked by white labor and it is also contended that in view of the inferior intelligence of coolies and the number of men required to supervise their work it is really dearer in the end.

The experience of this country shows that if the labor market becomes the possession of a colored race it tends to shut out white immigration. The south has never been able to induce immigrants to settle in that section and compete with negro labor. The labor leagues which are fighting against the introduction of coolie labor in South Africa are displaying sound judgment.

Ohio Democrats.

Tom L. Johnson has used the advantage gained by control of the Ohio Democracy last year and will probably win in today's convention by reason of it. The state committee by a vote of 14 to 7 decided a number of Johnson contesting delegates entitled to seats, and at the same time set aside the Zimmerman delegates from Cincinnati. This should give the Johnson men a majority in the temporary organization and the power to control the committee on contested seats. It is not a popular way to gain a nomination, but it was apparently the only way in which Johnson could get the prize.

Incidentally the fight has developed great bitterness. A delegation of 75 from Cleveland, including Virgil P. Kline, arrived in Columbus to fight against Johnson, carrying a banner inscribed: "No single tax; no boss." Of course, Johnson had a larger delegation of shouters from his home town and between the two they stirred up animosities right and left. These will go into the convention and they will continue into the campaign. The Ohio Democracy was among the original free silver cohorts before Bryan had been heard of. There were royal battles over the subject every year, the silver wing gradually gaining complete possession. The anti-silver faction has been growing rapidly of late years and the canvass of John L. Zimmerman shows it could not be beaten by fair means this summer. So the party will go into the campaign nearly evenly divided, and with the defeated faction sore enough to insure Col. Myron T. Herrick a majority of 10,000 or 15,000 more than he might expect under other circumstances.

The campaign for nomination, of course, has not been one of pure principle. Each candidate tapped a capacious barrel, but as their respective efforts along this line appear to have been nearly equal, it is probable the results are almost what they would have been had the contest divided on principles alone. It is likely the barrel will be less freely used in the general campaign, which is hopeless from the start, and if so, there will be some defection from the element that in Ohio is always moved by extraneous influences. In short, the Ohio Democracy is as badly demoralized as the Democratic party in the nation, and there is no hope for it while it remains so divided. It cannot even be effective as an opposition party.

A Nut to Crack.

It is not impossible, judging from a recent publication in the New York World concerning the alleged cost of the review of the naval fleet off Oyster Bay, that Mr. Pulitzer's school of journalism was born of an appreciation of the needs of the profession as made manifest in the columns of the journal of which the founder of the school is the owner. The World estimates the cost of the review at almost a quarter of a million dollars, and reaches its estimate by means of a statement of various items of expense, as follows: Cost of repairs to the battleship Massachusetts, $150,000; repairs to Barry, Decatur and other craft, $20,000; sending torpedo-boat flotilla to Norfolk for repairs, $5,700; cost of firing salutes, $1,040; cost of painting fleet for review, $4,000; wear and tear of ships for one week, $66,880. This is no doubt entirely satisfactory to the journalists who are hired by Mr. Pulitzer to get out his paper, but we do not think the itemized statement would be convincing to the trustees or professors of the school to which Mr. Pulitzer donates $2,000,000, that the proper conclusion had been reached. If a young man in the Pulitzer school should prepare such an article as the young man prepared for and the editor permitted to appear in the Pulitzer paper, he would be sent back to his seat with the admonition: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

It ought to be apparent to even a Pulitzer journalist that the statement of the cost of the Oyster Bay review is millions of dollars too low, or almost the entire quarter of a million dollars too high. Taking the latter view it should be said that the repairs to the Massachusetts and the other craft and the torpedo boats were made necessary by accidents incidental to the preceding naval maneuvers, which had nothing to do with the Oyster Bay review, and painting of war vessels goes on, review or no review, as does wear and tear. Therefore, if we eliminate these items, the cost of the review is reduced to the beggarly sum of $1,040 for the powder that was burned. This makes the Pulitzer paper man's fund of information resemble something less than 30 cents. But if we spit him on the other horn of his dilemma he makes even a worse appearance. Taking the view that he figured the cost millions too low, he ought to have added to the items he sets forth the entire cost of building and equipping the score or more of vessels which participated in the review, and also the entire cost of their maintenance up to and including the great occasion on which they did their parade stunt in the offing or whatever it is of the president's summer home. A Pulitzer journalist who doesn't care for expense when it appears only in the preparation of an article for publication ought to have been able to perceive that it was to the one great end of appearing in this review that this great fleet of vessels was brought into being and maintained at the public cost. If he didn't perceive this and put it all in he was either false to his great trust or gave way to surprising moderation of statement. For if the repair items and the wear and tear items are properly placed in the bill of expense charged up against the review, the cost of building, equipping and maintaining have just as good reason for appearing under the same heading.

As we are not bigoted about this thing we will not assert either that the $1,040 estimate is the true one or that the estimate that would sum up millions upon millions is the proper estimate, but simply assert that it is one or the other, and not the conclusion reached by the Pulitzer young man that is the right conclusion. But as a matter of courtesy, suppose it be left open until after the organization of the school of journalism and then ask the faculty to rule.

Now that Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria has been given a choice between abdicating and leading his people to war against Turkey the temperature of his feet ought soon to become apparent.

In speaking well of the man with a hobby the Brooklyn Eagle says: "This getting away from self is equivalent to rising above the clouds." Prof. Langley ought to paste this in his hat.

The willingness of St. Louis to try to entertain both national conventions in 1904 shows that the Mound City feels equal to chewing whatever it can bite off.

As our old friend, H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago declares that there isn't any office in the president's gift that he would accept, it seems to be up to the people.

That war between the Dutch and the Ashkums lasted so long that it is really surprising to find that anyone remembered what started it.

It has been just as hot elsewhere, but the heat elsewhere isn't what Pittsburgh complained of. Let others do their own kicking.

Really, when you think of it, why should Johnson and Zimmerman fight so hard for the privilege of taking Herrick's coat?

The Democratic state chairman would have saved more money if he had pulled off the Harrisburg convention by postal card.

In the contest between the army and the navy on the New England coast, New England is in the hands of its friends.

The ardor of Johnson and Zimmerman isn't a bit cooled by the consideration that neither can win.

If you don't like the weather, remember you have only to wait until your sort comes around.

A charter for a railroad from Hudson bay to Buenos Ayres is not the same as a railroad.

Of course the teachers now know something of how the children feel about going to school.

There is an evident lack of enthusiasm among Democratic state makers, state and national.

Sir Thomas had better begin to make his American arrangements for next summer.

The more killing there is in Macedonia, the more live people get into the game.

When Johnson and Zimmerman meet in convention there is something doing.

With a fight on his hand David B. Hill cannot afford to be "a Democrat—still."

John R. McLean seems to be leaving the Ohio Democracy to its fate.

It was a wet day in the old town as well as a hot one for the circus.

Anyway, there will be bulletins of next year's yacht race at St. Louis.

The America's cup is safer by another race.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Jerry Simpson, the sockless sage of Medicine Lodge, Kan., did not attend the Populist convention at Denver the other day. Jerry is now a cattle baron.

Sir Henry Irving has been chosen president of the British Empire Shakespeare society, the aim of which organization is to help the rising generation "not only to study Shakespeare's works, but to love them."

Adrian Jones, the English sculptor, has been commissioned to execute a bronze equestrian statute of Gen. Buller, to be erected in Devonshire. The funds for the statue, amounting to $7,500, were raised by public subscription.

Miss Helen Gould, who has liberally endowed the Young Men's Christian associations in a number of cities in Indiana, along the line of the Wabash railroad, has arranged to place a number of libraries in the buildings which she has helped to build.

In order to fill his appointment to make a speech at Grayson, Ky., Col. Morris K. Belknap, the Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky, was compelled to pull a handcar with Steve Willis from Lexington to Beattyville junction, to catch a train for Grayson. They had the right of way and kept the engagement, but Mr. Belknap was almost exhausted by his work on the handcar.

Progress of the Negro.

The Boston Herald makes an interesting summary of the material progress of the negro in the period since slavery was abolished. Forty years ago the negro had not a foot of land nor a roof over his head. Now there are 120,000 farms owned by negroes valued at $300,000,000, 150,000 homes outside the farm ownership valued at $225,000,000 and personal property valued at $165,000,000. So, starting from nothing, here is an accumulation of nearly $800,000,000. When the work began, not 1 per cent of the negro adults of the south could read or write. Today 40 per cent can do so. Fifty per cent of the children are attending school, and with more facilities more would attend. There are 60 colored physicians in practice, 300 lawyers and 30,000 school teachers. There are 500,000 books in the homes of colored people, and they own and publish 450 newspapers and magazines.

Watterson's Prophecy.

Col. Henry Watterson has settled the campaign for 1904. Neither Cleveland nor Bryan can be nominated, and if Bryan bolts not a corporal's guard will follow him. The Democratic nomination will go to Gorman, Parker or Gray, and whoever is the nominee he will be elected over President Roosevelt, for Col. Watterson is sure that there will be a Democratic landslide in 1904, which will slide faster even than that of 1892. If Col. Watterson could only exhibit conclusive evidence of possessing the gift of prophecy how important his information would be!—Boston Transcript.

Gorman's Tariff Idea.

Senator Gorman's latest idea seems to be protection with free trade trimmings. The country has tried one Gorman tariff sandwich and shortly afterward found the meat reduced to soup.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE FLY.

A fly.
To my eye,
Is a wonderful thing,
He buzzes about all the day on his wing—
A gossamer, gibberty, gibberty thing.
You wouldn't surmise
A thing of his size
Had strength for all of the tasks that he tries.
For instance, today
I was reading away
Of fairies and gnomes and the pranks that they play.
When a fly
Came by,
And then he began
On a horrible plan
Of worrying,
Flurrying,
Scurrying in,
And flicking the ends of my nose and my chin,
Until I'd Like to died
With wrath and chagrin.
Now I'm a big thing—
The fly he was small.
He'd flop and he'd fling,
He'd buzz and he'd sing,
While I would do nothing at all
But whack at that fly
Each time he came by,
Deep wrath in my eye.
I never could hit him however I'd try.
I'd whacked for two hours
With all of my powers,
And when it was done
I sat weary
And teary—
While he was as fresh as when he had begun.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Boston state house is the hub of the solar system. You could not pry that out of a Boston man had you the ire of all creation straightened out for a crowbar.
—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

* * * *

Dr. Holmes was a remarkable man in many respects, and generally fair in his arguments and just in his conclusions, but he couldn't get into his fine head that Boston was not at the front of the procession—any procession worth mentioning.

And yet he would relax a bit now and again and drop a few kind words for the rest of the world. On one occasion he dropped the following observation, which serves as a key to his classification of Boston:

"The axis of the earth sticks out visibly through the center of each and every town and city."

That lets Pittsburgh in; also Mickleys Necks, Oakdale and some others.

He was a firm believer in education as a means of developing men and women, and fitting them for responsible places in life. And yet he didn't seem to think that education is the whole thing, judging from the following passage in "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table":

"The world's greatest men have not commonly been great scholars, nor its great scholars great men.

Does that let you in anywhere?

* * * *

Among the educated men of the present time is one who is almost, if not quite, great in his line. He is President Hall of Clark university. You may have heard some of his lectures, or read extracts from them. If so you could hardly have failed to notice that he has a habit of saying things.

There are plenty of people who can talk—talk to beat the band. But, as you may have observed during your goings and comings on earth, talking is one thing and saying things quite another—different entirely. Dr. Hall says things, and you are not apt to forget them. Here is a sample:

Over 71 per cent of the children in some Boston schools have never seen home growing, was one of the startling announcements made by President Hall of Clark university, at a meeting of distinguished educators and writers.

One would naturally suppose that the world-famed bean eaters and their children would know everything about their favorite food. This only goes to show that the greatest ignorance may exist where least expected. The Bostonese, however, try to excuse this ignorance by claiming to regard beans only in an esthetic way.

Dr. Hall mentioned this rather startling fact by way of illustrating a very good point that he was making in favor of the new education, which seems to be coming. In the same connection he said:

"You cannot study nature through the technique of the microscope. You have got its establish a love for nature in childhood. Out of the heart are the issues of life. The faculty of reverence cannot be impressed in the child's heart unless you impress the love of nature. Those poor people who feel their religious faith falling do not know what nature is, how to turn it to, or they would know that if their bark felled them they would sink into the arms of a wider faith. The decline of this interest is a reason why religious faith has declined. But the dawn of a better time has come. If one really responds to nature there is something very mysterious that takes place—I will not wrest the words of the scripture by calling it conversion.

That was a good thought of Froebel when he thought of the child as a flower which must live out of doors. Man is a part of nature and nature is a part of God, and there are no real divisions in the universe. The creed of the nature lover is very brief. I believe that there is nowhere an empty space. I believe that there is everywhere force. All matter is a form of force. I believe that all the possibilities of life in the universe are utilized. There is life. If there is death it is to make room for fuller life. The fourth article is that there is everywhere love. Fifth, there is law everywhere and not a particle or room anywhere for chaos.

"To a creed something like that I should say amen, or not amen now, but rather selah, which is believed to be a notice to the leader of the orchestra to change the tune."

* * * *

But to what tune shall we change? Something pleasing, of course, for man will not listen to tunes that displease. Feel for his soft side.

Every man is said to have a soft side, or a weakness, or special liking of some sort. The wisest man may have not only a soft side but a fool side.

There was Solomon, that whom there have been none wiser, yet his soft spot spread until it monopolized his heart and led him to the conclusion that all was vanity and vexation of spirit.

Other great and mighty men have had their weaknesses, or fool sides, which led either to their downfall or to the embitterment of their lives, or to the discomfort of others. Are these to be credited to the great and universal law of compensation?

* * * *

Ever since the days of Adam and Eve man has been in the habit of attributing his failures to woman. Even Solomon is said to have made a fool of himself on account of the softer sex. He went so far as to try to marry all the choice women in the world, and to find room in his palace for the others. As long as he was content to support a score or two of wives he got along very well, but when he attempted to husband the whole lot he lost his head. Then and not until then did he begin to complain about vanity.

David, the greatest king the world has ever known, made a fool of himself once, and it was all about a woman. He was very sorry for it, too, just as many a man has been since.

"Much learning has made thee mad," was said to St. Paul once by no less a personage than the learned Festus.

Paul was not mad, however, but the words of truth and soberness that he spoke did not please the high officials. It is not such learning as Paul possessed that makes fools of men, but the learning that puffs men up and makes them believe they are greater than their superiors. You may know men who think they know it all, when, in fact, you know at least one thing that don't—that they are fools. Every educated man has special tastes, and it is to the line of these that he excels. On other lines he may appear to be ignorant or even foolish.

* * * *

Bonaparte was foolish enough to believe that he was greater than all the other great men combined; but he lived long enough to see that he was mistaken.

Napoleon had a weak side, which was an ambition to become a greater man than his illustrious predecessor, made a fool of him. His friends are trying to make out now that he was a fool about women, as was shown when he chose the proud, scheming Empress to share the throne with him. They even go so far as to say that she was an adventuress, and that he knew about it, but could not resist her style of blandishments.

He was great, but when he attempted to frighten the whole world with his size he met the fate of the poor frog that tonought to frighten the ox.

* * * *

What is the greatest folly of this age? That is a question which would be answered differently by different individuals and each would be more prompt in their answers than those whom the world charges with being cranks.

A certain school of philosophy teaches that the hurry and bustle that characterize many of the American people is first-class folly. It may seem so to one who has no desire to leave a distinct footprint in the sands of time, but those who recognize this as an age of progress readily understand that wealth and position, the prizes offered, are for persistent plodders and untiring hustlers.

The spirit of any age determines the character of the people of that age.

For nearly half a century we have been climbing over each other, trampling down the weak and booming the strong. This was necessary in order to accomplish the great work that lay before us. Out of this hurly burly has grown the strongest nation on the face of the earth, and before the struggle has ended we will have the finest manufacturing plants, the greatest merchant marine, and the grandest educational institutions in the world.

Undesirable Praise.

Mr. Cleveland is evidently indifferent as to what Mr. Bryan says of him so long as he does not begin praising him.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Pittsburgh Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Said a well-known Irish-American to me this afternoon: "The Irish are all sore on Sir Thomas Lipton. He could not have made a worse break in the eyes of an Irishman than to refuse to sit down under the Irish flag at that dinner at the Oriental hotel at Manhattan beach, because there was no crown on the flag. I never saw an Irish flag with a crown on it, and I do not believe there is such a thing in this country. The golden harp is always the emblem, and that is enough for any true Irishman." Perhaps the speaker did not represent the sentiments of a majority of the countrymen in New York, but he declared that he did. True it is that somebody bear many unfavorable comments on Sir Thomas' peculiar attitude with regard to the green flag. While it will not make any difference in the race whether the Irish are on the side or not, Sir Thomas' personal popularity with the masses here has always been a strong subject of self-gratulation to him. He has prided himself on the many wishes for his success that have been expressed by Americans and has often referred to the fact that he is Irish in blood and sympathy. It is now the way of Sir Thomas to be resentful, but there is a general opinion in this city that it would have been better for him to accept the Irish flag and say nothing, particularly as he was a guest, and had had nothing to do with the decorations. The Irish knight seems to have made a decided slip this time.

The Yacht Race Ashore.

For the third time Broadway at Herald square, and Park Row at Printing House square, have been blocked by an immense crowd of straw-hatted men anxious to know how the cup race is progressing. It is getting into the heads of New Yorkers that there is as much satisfaction in watching bulletins with a mechanical representation of the race on the front of a newspaper building in Manhattan as in being towed about on a choppy sea in an excursion boat, from which nothing of the racers can be seen except two white mainsails that are known to be the Reliance and Shamrock III., respectively. For a free show there is nothing more pleasing to the loafer-hustler as well as to the business man and the employee when the mechanical boat race of the newspapers.

Lillian Russell Comments on Elopement.

Lillian Russell has begun rehearsing at the Weber & Fields' music hall. She talked freely about the wedding of her daughter and seemed to be as pleased over it as if she had considered all the arrangements for the ceremony herself, instead of being left to find it out after it was all over. She said, with that well-known smile of hers, this afternoon, "It seems only about two years ago that the child was sitting on my shoulder to be photographed with her mother. Do you remember that picture?" As there were several hundred copies of that photograph made and they were distributed all over the world, of course everyone remembered it. Pittsburghers know the picture, for there was hardly a fancy store along Fifth avenue where it was not on exhibition a few years ago.

One Nuisance Ameliorated.

Not so much complaint is heard about mosquitoes as distressed New Yorkers a month or two ago. As a matter of fact, there seem to be as many mosquitoes as ever on Staten Island, Long Island and in New Jersey, but for some reason they are not so virulent. They settle on their victim, but do not dig so deeply, or else their poison is not so virulent. Commuters tell their stories. They insist that there are the same old clouds of mosquitoes every morning and evening, but that after you have entertained a dozen or so on your hands and face you do not feel the pain that used to accompany such visitations. Scientists are looking into the matter, and we may get a technical explanation of the phenomenon in due course.

Fined For Beating a Dog.

It was a departure from the usual proceedure of women bundling with drivers who abuse horses for a fashionably dressed young woman to be arrested for beating her own dog. The unusual incident took place last night in Central Park west. She insisted she had a right to thrash her own dog, but a policeman held otherwise, and she was carted off to a police station, dog and all. She paid her fine taken, under protest, but no one seemed to care for the points.

Making Devery Mayor.

"Big Bill" Devery's campaign is being pushed vigorously. One of the methods adopted by the W. S. Devery club is to send out a small sloop which it can be seen by the crowd watching the races, with a large announcement on its white mainsail in impressive black letters, that "W. S. Devery is the people's candidate for mayor." The sloop is pretty fast and she dodges about on the Hook in so lively a fashion that every one is bound to see her, whether they subscribe to the sentiment on her mainsail or not.

Short Oyster Crop.

As the first of September approaches it is rather depressing news that oysters are likely to be scarcer than usual this season. This does not mean that there will be no oysters at all, but that the price of stews may go up 5 or 10 cents apiece, and that a dozen on the shell may cost more than heretofore. The beds on Long Island sound do not look so hopeful as was expected. There are some unhappy people who even predict that the oyster crop will be a failure.

Lord Salisbury.

Lord Salisbury's death brings out many editions of the great talents and the great services to his country, all of them thoroughly well deserved. He was a strong man, and "good fourquarts or all the while that they."

His part of his long and illustrious career is of as much interest to Americans as his importance of arbitration of the Venezuelan boundary dispute at the urgent demand of Mr. Cleveland. The situation was a critical one, to the extreme. Great Britain had refused arbitration to Venezuela and was now called upon, to consider the matter upon the representations of the United States. Mr. Cleveland spoke with emphasis, but had the country on his back. There could be no doubt of the fact that he was writing a sentiment which compelled both congress and the press, and that he would be supported in any effort that might be necessary to make his words good.

A week ago to Lord Salisbury's place would probably have bewildered. The incompetencies which often accompanies weakness in office would have chosen the wrong path. But the premier was a strong man. His courage was open to no question. At home and throughout Europe his reputation was established. He could afford upon a broader view of the country's progress to ignore himself, and that he did. And he lost no prestige either at home or abroad by so doing.

For a number of years Great Britain and the United States have been drawing together in bonds of friendship. In the development of the world it has been an entirely logical proceeding, and among the British statesmen contributing to the end Lord Salisbury has had an honorable place, and will be long remembered in this country for that chapter of his history.—Washington Star.

* * * *

Salisbury, proud, cold, dignified, not merely cautious, but sometimes overcautious concerning public opinion, and personal popularity, thoroughly honest in his purposes, keen to such high station that he could always be independent of personal considerations, conspicuous in his beliefs from start to finish, thoroughly saturated with the imperial destiny of Britain—here was a man first and British lions and lined in with English traditions, most thoroughly. Never stampeded into hasty judgment, never wishy-washy, always fully able to cope with situations as they came up, and never unmindful of the main purpose of British aggrandizement, he wielded the great power of the empire in a way that won not merely the respect, but the acquiescence of the great body of the Liberal party. He did his work so well that, when he dropped the reins of power, the opposition party in England had nothing left but a memory and the British power throughout the world was almost without a rival.—Indianapolis Journal.

* * * *

Without being a really great foreign minister, Lord Salisbury was at all times an able and sagacious and trustworthy foreign minister. Had he been in full command of all the powers of peace it may be doubted if he would have allowed Mr. Chamberlain to bring about the Boer war. But when the conflict became inevitable the premier was determined that the issue must be fought out to the end. In the later years Lord Salisbury became more than indifferent to power, and finally learned to hate it. His cynicism increased, and there came a return of that youthful indifference, as when he be brutally referred to again as a "young nation." No man ever more gladly surrendered power than did "the weary Titan," and we may well believe that he no less gladly surrendered life. He had done his work. The wife who had been his companion in poverty as well as in power had entered into rest. He was solitary and without interest in human affairs, and the strong, masterful typical Englishman met death with the same calmness and indifference with which he had met all other opponents in a career that, whatever mistakes might be charged against it, was without fear and without reproach.—Detroit Free Press.

* * * *

Lord Salisbury's attitude toward Gomperism, his antagonism to Irish home rule and other progressive measures, must tend in the minds of many to weaken his claim to the highest honors of far-seeing statesmanship, but the power of his personality and the greatness of the role he played in the world's affairs are not to be questioned. The map of the world today bears his impress. How will it be forgotten in the country that to certain important crises, as in the Venezuelan boundary dispute and in the Spanish war, the closure of which he soon tended to strengthen Anglo-American amity.—Chicago News.

* * * *

Of course, Lord Salisbury's work was finished before his death came, for since his resignation as premier in 1902 he had taken no part in politics. Though 73 years of age at the time when he stepped down from the post of first minister, he was much younger than Gladstone, Palmerston and many other British statesmen who will scarcely at most. In the last a century of public life the ex-premier had taken an active part in the treatment of many great issues, and had been a co-worker of an antagonist to many questions now. Though a Conservative from the beginning, he was often independent of all party ties and was usually a champion of everything calculated to advance the interests of the workers of the empire. Though despite of the aristocracy and birthright of his old associate and chief, Lord Beaconsfield, and lacking in the tremendous energy and optimism of his illustrious antagonist, Gladstone, the marquis of Salisbury was a leader who did his country important service in many crises.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

* * * *

Lord Salisbury was bold and outspoken to a degree not equaled by any other living English statesman of eminence. He was an aristocrat of the aristocrats—a descendant of his was prime minister of Queen Elizabeth—and he was intolerant of the crowd. He had a contempt for the intellectual inferiority of many of the men with whom he was forced to contend, and he did not hesitate to express it. But he did good work for his country and worthily filled the high offices assigned him. England will get along without him, but it will not fill his place.—Baltimore News.

The score was ten to Rhodes' score, 4 to a—Rhodes Sun.

TEACHERS HEAR WEIGHTY WORDS

Good Advice and Instruction Given at the Institute at Carnegie Hall.

HOT SHOT FROM HAMILTON

Superintendent Makes a Few Remarks About Those Educators Who Want to Make Farces of the Gatherings—Many Subjects Discussed.

Many subjects were discussed, some interesting social features took place and several learned speeches were delivered, at the second day's session of the Allegheny county teachers' institute yesterday, at Carnegie Music hall. About 3,200 teachers were enrolled.

The formal session did not begin until 9:15, but the hour preceding the call to order was not wasted, as the teachers utilized it in discussing various literary, scientific, social, pedagogical, political, religious and even sporting subjects, from the confession of faith to the yacht race, some of the fair marms placed small bets upon the merits of the Shamrock and the Reliance.

One of the perennial subjects among teachers, and which always bobs up at these informal conferences, is the value, if any, of teachers' institutes as required by law, and how they should be conducted. Some would have them a sort of picnic and act accordingly, but this is always dangerous to their peace of mind. It is said, for if the eagle eyes of the superintendent or directors should detect them they might find their per diem a little shy when the day of reckoning comes. On the disputed question, as to how the institutes should be conducted, Supt. Hamilton said:

"Our institute is a purely professional meeting. The state never intended it to be an educational museum or a pedagogical zoo. Its purpose is to inspire, uplift and help, rather than to amuse. In this day there is a continual clamor for something new. Some teachers, like some children, find their chief amusement in the latest toy."

What Some Teachers Want.

"They want an institute with new attractions, a sort of midway attachment of fossils, fads, freaks and fancies. But we adhere consistently to a line of work intended to emphasize the solid, substantial history and science of education, and the philosophy of method, and keep the whole work of our institute within cultured and professional lines."

Prof. T. L. Gibson led the teachers in singing "I Need Thee Every Hour," with Miss Ada St. Clair as accompanist.

Dr. Black of the Chicago Normal school spoke on "The Organic Relation of the Elements of the School." He showed how the teacher must deal with truth in its fundamental form. The child does not differ greatly from older people. He hungers for some new thing, the world is a wonder to him. He is constantly on the move and learns very rapidly—more rapidly, it is said, in his first six years than in any subsequent six.

He will learn also without a teacher, as it is the very nature of child-life to learn. He will learn even in spite of the teacher. The teacher should become useless to the child.

"Mark you," said the speaker, "I say useless, not useful. The term useless is used advisedly, as a teacher should develop the child's powers so that a teacher may not be needed, or be useless."

Dr. Ferris Discussed Numbers.

Dr. Ferris of Big Rapids, Mich., followed with a talk on "Arithmetic." There is nothing dry about his lectures but the subject, and he ought to protest, many of the teachers say, "against being so dry, gramed," so to speak, on such musty themes when his lectures are really delightful discourses on the philosophy of the subject.

As indicated by the printed program the teachers supposed he would enlarge upon the beauties of compound numbers and cube root, and looked upon him as a sort of suspicious character. Instead, he talked of the when, the what, the how. He poured forth much ridicule, deserved, it is said, upon some of the text books and methods in arithmetic which are conspicuous by their absurdity when an attempt is made to carry them into the business world.

Prof. Winship closed the morning session with a talk on "The New Geography" in which he said:

"The new century brings new ideals, and these are most pronounced in in geography. The time was when school geography was a mass of facts; then it became a body of theories, one as bad as the other. Now geography must be and will be an introduction to the personality of continents, countries, states and cities, oceans, lakes, rivers and harbors. This personality will be two-fold, nature and human nature, or the inheritance and development of every feature of geography studied."

After magnifying this two-fold personality which he illustrated by the three rivers which form the harbor, which present nature's contribution and man's present and prospective development, Mr. Winship showed that Pennsylvania has the largest natural inheritance of any state in the union. She alone opens out to the ocean commerce, the great lake commerce and the Mississippi-gulf commerce. When she has developed her connection with the lakes and the gulf she will be the mightiest empire on the continent. She also has the largest anthracite inheritance in the world; an adequate bituminous deposit, wonderfully related to the river shipping; oil and gas almost without limit, the only supply in the continent of an important variety of iron ore; the three leading agricultural counties in the United States and matchless rivers.

The speaker presented this state with a personality through nature that was vivid and in every way attractive. He then presented Massachusetts as a personality from the standpoint of human nature, saying that every state in the union, every city, country and continent could also stand out as clear-cut as any person you might meet.

Art of Study by Dr. Ferris.

At the afternoon session Dr. Ferris occupied the first period with an interesting talk on "The Art of Study." He dwelt largely upon habit, inherited or acquired, as an important element in regulating methods of study. He incidentally illustrated most strikingly the distinction between mere knowledge and the ability to do things.

When young men consulted him as to how they might work their way through college, he immediately asked them not "What do you know?" but "What can you do?" He also emphasized the importance of observation as the basis of knowledge and the rarely important habit of discrimination, in connection with observation.

"The New English" was the theme of Dr. Winship. He said:

"Teaching must not be for the showing off of a little of the wit or wisdom, but must be for the thought and power, quiet and alertness of the child. These can be nowhere better developed than in the case of the teaching of English. Rules do not make correct English, but correct English makes rules. In illustration of the clear, keen, throbbing of English speech, Dr. Winship used Kipling's lines in the "Recessional." "The shouting and the tumult dies." Scott's "There was feasting and chasing of the deer," the Lord's prayer, "Thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory." He showed the distinction in grammatical crime between saying "Between you and I" "It is him," and some other glaring defects. He decried the tendency to coining into favor of "don't" for singular as well as plural, and many other tendencies.

Dr. Winship then emphasized the tendency to paragraph English in place of logical English, applying it all to the responsibility of the teacher. The new English is thoughtful, clear, vigorous and not finical, prudish or labored.

Singing by County Treble Chorus.

At this point an entirely new feature was introduced in the shape of vocal numbers by the County Treble Chorus, a musical organization composed of about 50 young women teachers under the direction of Prof. A. L. Fillmore. They were vociferously applauded and will appear again today.

At noon today Dr. Ferris will conclude his engagement and his place will be taken by Prof. Robert A. Armstrong of the West Virginia university at Morgantown, whose coming is pleasurably anticipated. He is a newcomer here, but comes noted for great versatility at least. He has been school superintendent, college professor, normal school principal, lawyer, soldier, editor, preacher and politician.

At present he fills the chair of English at Morgantown and is noted as a genial all-around guide, philosopher and friend for all the students who come under his tuition.

The program for today is as follows: Morning, 9:15, "America's Great Writers," Dr. Winship; music; "The School as a Process," Dr. Black; recess; "Arithmetic," Dr. Ferris. Afternoon, 1:30, "The Teaching Instinct," Dr. Armstrong; music; "Educational Leaders," Dr. Winship; recess; "The School as a Process," Dr. Black.

WONDERFUL SYSTEM EXEMPLIFIED IN STORM

No Opportunity for Panic Found in the Greatest Show During Yesterday's Storm.

When the threatening electrical storm came sweeping up out of the west about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, accompanied by lowering clouds that turned the brightness of the summer afternoon into the shades of dusk, there were many signs of alarm noticeable in the vast audience that had assembled to witness Barnum & Bailey's show. Hundreds left their seats and hurried out into the open where they were drenched. Those who remained kept dry and were permitted to witness a wonderful exposition of the perfect system which dominates every feature of the big show.

Besides putting to the test the splendid discipline of the organization, the storm served to show the remarkable water-proof qualities of the enormous tents. Outside, when the first signs of the storm appeared a change came over the manner of the circus employes. Hundreds who had been lolling about the grounds, sleeping in the shade of the wagons or lounging beside the canvas walls. At the first indication of bad weather the bosses shrilly piped the men to quarters, and within a minute gangs of men had assembled at their various stations about the grounds. As the weather became more threatening the men were distributed around the big tent, inside and out. Every main guy rope had men stationed at the stake which held it. Additional guy ropes had been run out.

All these precautions were taken against wind, which is the circus man's dread. Rain, even of a torrential sort, is laughed at, but wind is the one danger which is feared. Few people know that connected with a big circus like that of Barnum & Bailey, there is a squad of men corresponding to the corps of sappers and miners that accompanies an army. These men are experienced in ditching and bridging and whenever necessary can within half an hour place the circus lot in a condition of perfect drainage. When a circus remains in a city longer than a day, permanent ditches are dug around all the tents and wherever necessary small bridges are placed over the small gutters, so people have to pass. Straw and hay are also plentifully strewn about the grounds whenever it rains, so that the surface dampness is absorbed. All this was done yesterday and the circus lot was as dry as a bone when the large afternoon audience filed out.

Another feature of the rain storm about the Barnum show is that the occasion is always seized to give the elephants a bath. Elephants delight in bathing and the opportunities for an elephantine bath being so limited, a good rain is hailed with joy by the elephant men.

Two big audiences visited the circus grounds in Allegheny yesterday and there is every indication that the last two performances today will likewise be largely patronized.

THE DEATH ROLL

Charles Price.

Charles Price died at his home near McKeesport last night of consumption. He was 42 years old and had lived nearly all his life in McKeesport. Mr. Price and his brother, William, of Irondale, Wash., were the only possessors of a secret for polishing iron, a process having been confided to them by their father. Mr. Price was employed at the W. DeWees Wood mill and had used his process there, although he would not sell it. If he had not confided the secret to some one else his brother is now the only person living who knows the process. Mr. Price was born in Tyrone, Pa., but lived the greater part of his life in McKeesport, being well known there. He is survived by his widow, one brother, William, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Frich of Los Angeles, Wash.; Mrs. H. H. Maloney of the District of Columbia, and Mrs. W. E. Hartman of McKeesport.

Charles Ernst Ziegler.

Charles Ernst Ziegler, aged 83, died yesterday at his home, No. 625 Evergreen avenue, Millvale. He had been ill for a few weeks with typhoid fever. The funeral services are announced to be held at the First German Evangelical Lutheran church, Millvale, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Mr. Ziegler was a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M. and of the Royal Arcanum.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Maria McComb, widow of James McComb, is dead at the family homestead in Union township, Lawrence county, at the age of 88 years.

Mrs. Anna Jane Hervey, 39 years old, wife of A. C. Hervey, a former resident of Turtle Creek, is dead at Redlands, Cal. Two children, four brothers and one sister survive.

Henry G. Gurd, superintendent of the tannery of the United States Leather Company at New Paris, Pa., is dead at the Will's Mountain sanitarium, Cumberland, Md., aged 50 years.

Mrs. Harriet Ferguson Wallace, 70 years old, wife of James Wallace, is dead at Bryson station, McCandless township, where the Wallace and Ferguson families settled in 1780. Besides her husband, two children, Robert and Mrs. Frances Mendell, both of Allegheny, survive.

The sudden death of David Bradley Lee took place at New York last evening. Mr. Lee, who was in his seventieth year, was a brother of the Countess Cowley, formerly Miss Mary S. Lee, and of the Baroness de Wachter. His sisters are on their way to this country and will land Sunday.

Stewart Barnett of Washington died of heart trouble, aged 70 years. During the civil war he was a member of the First West Virginia cavalry. He was married to Miss Susan Clark of Pittsburg, who survives him, with ten children—Mrs. Charles S. Hempstead of New Salem, Pa.; Clark T. Bartlett of Washington, Harry L. and Helen S. of Washington.

Thomas Frederick, a citizen of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., died yesterday, aged 65 years. Mr. Frederick was prominently identified with various interests in and about Fayette and Westmoreland counties. He was the father of W. H. Frederick, the plano dealer of this city. The interment will take place at Petersburg today.

PERSONALS

Whiting Allen, one of the cleverest press agents ever known, settled on Saturday, August 15, from Liverpool, and yesterday morning reported for duty with Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth. For the past two or three years Mr. Allen has been missing from these shores. He has been in England and on the continent, looking after the interests of Barnum & Bailey, Limited, in the directing of Buffalo Bill's Wild West. He has been called back to America to take the place of George Bowles, a man as clever as himself, who has been looking after the press work of the Greatest Show, but who leaves next week to go ahead of Frank Daniels and the next season's attractions. When the jump is made from London to Pittsburgh makes this world seem like a little one," said Mr. Allen, yesterday. "I was sorry to leave old Merry England, I've made it my home, he continued, "but at the same time it makes one feel good to be back in America again."

Mr. Allen, like most of the successful press agents, is an old newspaper man. For years he was a correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and to the older newspaper men of Pittsburgh he is very well known. To them the light of his smiling, handsome face was especially welcome. Mr. Allen's departure is regretted by the circus management, because, in order to adequately fill the place he vacates, the English venture has to be weakened by withdrawing Mr. Allen.

The Rev. Ford C. Ottman, D. D., of Stamford, Conn., who is a member of the committee of the Presbyterian general assembly appointed a year or two ago for the purpose of promoting greater efforts in evangelistic work in the churches, will preach in the East Liberty church, Penn and Highland avenues, next Sunday morning and evening. Dr. Ottman is one of the most popular and eminent of preachers in the Presbyterian church.

Fred L. Faul of Oil City was in Pittsburgh yesterday buying mining supplies for his mining properties in the Cape Nome district, Alaska. Mr. Faul left Cape Nome the day before the burning of the hotel in which three of the Hays party lost their lives. Before departing he invited Mr. and Mrs. Hays to make use of his cottage during the remainder of their stay, but, unfortunately, they preferred to remain at the hotel.

A party of Pennsylvania railroad conductors, accompanied by their wives, left last night on a three weeks' trip to Yellowstone park. They departed on train No. 27 for St. Louis, where they will take the Wabash limited on their way west. The trip includes all points of interest en route, including the Grand Canyon. In the party were O. C. Patterson and wife, J. R. Campbell and wife, Mr. Bently and wife, William B. Chislett and wife, P. E. Oliver and wife, C. F. Lenhart and wife and N. O. Fink and wife. E. V. Hapeny, station master, accompanied by his wife, was with the tourists.

Col. John M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and party, left last night for Richmond, Va. They occupied the colonel's private car, which was transferred to the Baltimore & Ohio, the party going aboard at the Water street station. They expect to be away for two weeks.

Robert M. Patterson of Philadelphia, superintendent of freight transportation of the Pennsylvania railroad, arrived in the city last night on the limited. He said that freight shipments are very brisk, but the company is able to handle them satisfactorily.

Judge George C. Kent of London and Thomas Taylor of Newcastle, England, were at the Hotel Schenley last night. They are on their way to East Liverpool, O., to inspect the pottery works. Mr. Taylor said they represented the Staffordshire potteries and came to this country to investigate the firing of potteries by gas. Dr. Ludwig Mond of London, has patented a gas which is quite similar to natural gas, having about the same heat generating power, but of little use for lighting purposes. If the visitors find that the firing of potteries by gas is more practical than by coal, as in England, they will so report to the pottery manufacturers and a Mond gas plant will be installed which will supply more heat and the firing of potteries by coal is unsatisfactory on account of the amount of dirt it creates. The establishment of a Mond gas plant will cost a large amount of money. The Pittsburghs who visit these men represent will bear part of the expense of installing the plant.

PASTOR'S ARREST LEADS TO FIGHTS IN FLOCK

Another Chapter in Church Scandal—Warrant is Out for Another Member.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 25.—A second chapter in the sensation caused here yesterday by the arrest of the Rev. Samuel Smith, pastor of the Croton Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, for assault and battery upon Dr. R. G. Boak, occurred today when Charles Tidball caused the arrest of George Williams on a similar charge. Tidball is also a member of the board of the Croton Avenue church with Dr. Boak, whose cause he espoused in the trouble between the minister and doctor, while Williams supports the pastor.

Tidball and Williams met last night on Croton avenue and hot words were followed by blows. Tidball is smaller than Williams and got the worst of the encounter. The trouble seems to be assuming large proportions and will seriously affect the congregation. It seems that the trouble partly arose over a dispute concerning the will of the late Robert Videan, a glassworker, who died last year at the home of George Williams, where he lived for many months. He had been an invalid and left Mrs. Williams $1,000 in his will for kindness shown by herself and husband to him. A brother of Videan, who claims that undue influence was used to make the $1,000 bequest, has entered suit to have the will set aside.

SMALLPOX IN PITTSBURGH.

Record Was Broken Yesterday When 15 New Cases Were Reported—Another Death.

The smallpox record in Pittsburgh was broken yesterday. There were more new cases reported than ever before in the history of the health bureau. There was one death and 15 new cases were reported. The closest approach to this record occurred last year, when 14 new cases were reported in one day.

The death yesterday was that of Thomas Walton, aged 37 years, of 119 Forty-fifth street. He was admitted to the municipal hospital August 20. Three of the new cases reported yesterday were not entered in the health bureau books at a late hour last night, as they were being investigated. The 12 others were: George Lennon, aged 30 years, of No. 8713 Margaretta street; Eva Rekowski, aged 4 years, of No. 3159 Dickson street; Robert Fink, a negro, aged 38 years, his son, Robert, Jr., aged 1 year, and his daughter, Corinne, aged 2 years, of No. 3084 Preble street; Clara Nelson, aged 23 years, of Prereton avenue; John H. Milligan, aged 38 years, of No. 3519 Leech street; Felix McGee, a negro, aged 18 years, of the rear of No. 268 Thirty-ninth street; Loretta Guest, aged 8 years, of Stockholm and Twenty-eighth streets; Herman Bernhardt, aged 9 years, of No. 309 Thirty-eighth street; John Dwyer, aged 34 years, of No. 337 Forty-sixth street; Stanislaus Dudek, aged 21 years, of No. 4812 Hatfield street.

The man Dudek, found in the rear of No. 4812 Hatfield street, has been sick for six days, and during that time has been an occupant of a house in which 25 Poles were closely quartered. The men were brought into contact with the afflicted man and then continued to go about as usual. An effort is to be made to round these men up and keep them quarantined until all danger has passed.

FIRE BURNED A FACTORY.

Paper Box and Brush Works of James Findley on South Side Mysteriously Caught.

The factory of James Findley, at South Twentieth street and Carey alley, was partially destroyed by fire last night. The building was a five-story brick and was used by Findley as a paper box and brush factory. Shortly after 6 o'clock fire was discovered on the second floor. The firemen quickly responded to two alarms and by hard work kept the flames to Findley's building.

When the fire was nearly out the crowd broke over the ropes as the flames began to throw some of the half burned material from the third floor. Some wires were broken and falling on the crowd, shocked some boys. There was a panic, and the crowd fled, but no one was hurt.

The building was owned by the Olnhauser estate, whose loss will be about $2,000. Findley's loss on material and machinery will be almost $3,000. It is not known how the fire started, as there was no light about the building.

Stakeholder Put in Jail.

Through acting as stakeholder in a bet made between friends, Daniel Harley of Allegheny has gotten himself in jail to be held for a hearing on a charge of larceny by bailee, entered before Alderman Frank Schellman. Patrick Driscoll, Thomas Kopp and Harley, according to Driscoll, started for McKeesport on a yellow cat. On the way Driscoll and Kopp made a bet as to how long it would take the car to reach McKeesport. Driscoll alleges he handed Hartley a $20 bill, out of which he was to take $1 if he lost the bet. Driscoll lost, but he alleges after Kopp had received his dollar Harley refused to return the $19 change.

Parade Route for Labor Day.

A meeting of the marshals and aides for the Labor day parade was held last evening. It was decided that the parade will be formed on Duquesne way, with the right resting at the Sixth street bridge. The route selected is as follows: Over Sixth street bridge to Federal street, to Ohio street, to Union avenue, to Stockton avenue, to Sandusky street, to Seventh street bridge, to Penn avenue, to Sixth street, to Liberty street, to Fifth avenue, to Grant street, to Diamond street, to Forbes street, to Magee street, to Bluff street, where the parade will disband.

Witness Was Held for Court.

A case of the defendant being allowed to go and a witness being held for court was before Alderman S. C. Negley last night. Mrs. Sims of Bond street caused the arrest of Birdie Gillwood, a colored domestic, in her employ, on the charge of stealing a chatelaine bag. One of the witnesses was Caroline Wambles, colored, of No. 8 Otto street. The Gillwood girl accused the Wambles girl of stealing the bag, and Alderman Negley believed her story. Caroline Wambles was held for court.

Circus Man Beaten and Arrested.

Benjamin Berwecken, who said he is one of the chief musicians connected with Barnum & Bailey's circus, now showing in Allegheny, was badly beaten by a crowd in Neptune street, West End, yesterday, and then locked in No. 8 police station on a charge of acting improperly toward Gertrude Meehan, 8 years old, in Greenleaf street. Berwecken claimed the circus could not go on unless he was released, but he was held for a hearing this morning.

Chance for Government Positions.

The United States civil service commission will hold a stenography and typewriting examination in this city September 16. The entrance salary ranges from $840 to $1,200 per year. A large number of stenographers and typewriters are required for the Philippine service, where the entrance salary is $1,200 to $1,400 per year.

Mill Workers Had a Merry Outing.

The employes of the 38-inch mill at the Homestead steel works held an outing back of Homestead yesterday. The day was passed with songs and various entertainments, and a baseball game was played between the married and single men, resulting in a victory for the former by a score of 13 to 7. The mill is temporarily shut down.

One Shack Still Obstructs Progress.

One small building still remains on the site of the United States Steel Corporation's new tube mill. It is standing because of some technicality incident to its purchase. As soon as matters are adjusted it can be torn down in a few hours and carted away, but at present it is retarding work on the new mills.

FELL ON TOP OF TRAIN.

Coal Cars Topple Over Embankment Carrying Fireman to His Death.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 25.—While a helper engine was pushing four loaded cars up the coal tipple at Cherry Run today three of the cars were pushed over the tipple, falling a distance of about 40 feet.

One car, coal and all, fell on an eastbound train, the engine of which was coaling at the time, wrecking itself and the car it fell on. Fireman C. W. Silvers was carried down with the train and buried under the coal and debris. Silvers was about 35 years old and lived near Cherry Run.

Attempt to Poison Family.

MYERSDALE, PA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—An attempt at poisoning was made on the farm of Milton C. Horner, one mile from this place. It was discovered that a large quantity of carbolic acid had been emptied in a well on the premises. About three months ago while Mr. Horner and his family were returning from church his carriage was stoned. One month ago his large barn with all its contents was burned to the ground.

Church Consolidation Favored.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The annual conference of the Methodist Protestant church in West Virginia convened here today with 156 delegates in attendance. The sentiment is almost unanimously in favor of consolidating the Methodist Protestant, the United Brethren and the Congregational churches, and the delegates from this conference to the general conference will be instructed to vote to consolidate.

Punxsutawney Fair Opens.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The Punxsutawney fair started off today. The stalls are filled with fine pigs, sheep, cattle, horses, ponies, poultry and goats. The races begin tomorrow and the prospects are that the track's record of 2:14 will be broken. The main building is entirely occupied by the merchants' exhibits. The grounds are covered with tents and places of amusement.

Brakeman Squeezed to Death.

HARRISBURG, PA., Aug. 25.—Brakeman Charles Lawelett, aged 35, of the Northern Central railway, was squeezed to death between cars at Bridgeport today. Lawlett's home was at Woodbury, Md.

Woman's Murderer Pays the Penalty.

MEDIA, PA., Aug. 25.—Robert Kilpatrick was hanged in the jail yard here today for the murder in February, 1902, of Elizabeth Bearmore, his housekeeper. He was the first white man to be executed in Delaware county in more than 60 years.

Greene County Will Celebrate.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Waynesburg is making extensive preparations for the celebration of the entrance of the Wabash railroad into Greene county on Wednesday, September 2. Invitations were sent to President Joseph Ramsey, George Gould and Gov. S. W. Pennypacker. An address will be made by Frank P. Iams of Pittsburgh. The day's program will open with a salute of cannon, followed by parade, basket picnic, ball game, fireworks, banquet and dance.

Refuse to Carry Liquors.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 5.—(Special.)—By the provisions of a law enacted by the last legislature express companies are prohibited from carrying liquors except to licensed dealers. They refuse to carry liquors at all now and T. J. Garrity has sued the United States Express Company for $200 damages for refusing to carry a jug of liquor to a customer in another county. This is a test case and will be carried to the supreme court.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Greensburg relatives of Attorney Charles E. Allshouse of Monessen have been summoned to Cambridge Springs because of his serious illness.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.—Joseph C. Cattle, one of the oldest conductors of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, was run over by a train at Fire creek. He was 61 years old.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—The Baltimore & Ohio shops at Piedmont have been closed since the death of General Foreman Michael Gleason, and the company has decided to reopen them.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—The Rev. William J. Johnston of Wilkesbarre has notified the Immanuel Baptist congregation here that he will accept the call recently extended him in November.

MT. PLEASANT, PA.—Ida, the 16-year-old daughter of Harold Bacque, has been missing since last Wednesday evening. The surrounding country has been searched, but no traces of the lassie have been found.

GREENSBURG, PA.—The county commissioners are considering the advisability of offering a reward of $500 for the capture of "Sandy" Gordon, the negro who is said to have shot Washington Frogg at Scottdale on Saturday night. Frogg is dead.

BUTLER, PA.—Work has been commenced on additions to the building departments and paint shop of the Standard Steel Car works which will increase the capacity of the works 50 per cent and will raise the number of men employed to nearly 500.

TWO MEN ARE FATALLY BURNED AT GAS PLANT

Leaking Vapor Escaped from Standpipe and Was Ignited by Ovens.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 25.—By an explosion of gas at the Altoona Gas Company's works here today three men were burned, two perhaps fatally. They are: Dominic Delozier, aged 30, burned about face and body; condition serious.

C. H. Heisel, aged 35, burned about the face, hands and back.

Valentine Fleck, aged 50, burned about the body and face; condition critical.

The explosion occurred at the Water gas plant, which Delozier and Fleck were cleaning. Gas from a leaking stand-pipe got into the machine and forced its way out the bottom. The ovens ignited it and the men were enveloped in flame instantly. Fellow workmen extinguished the burning clothing with water. Fleck was burned over two-thirds of his body and cannot recover.

Suit for Child's Death.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Christian Leoffler has brought suit against the Beaver Valley Traction Company and the borough of College Hill, each $20,000 damages. Two months ago his 4-year-old child was killed in a runaway accident along a narrow part of the road which the car company and the borough were under contract to widen.

Shaffer Calls Off Strike.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The strike at the Ashland sheet mill where 200 steel workers have been out for almost a year, was today called off by President Shaffer. The men will return to work on the same terms as when they went out.

FELS-NAPTHA

See these holes?

It won't happen again, because I've stopped boiling or scalding the wash. I now use Fels-Naptha soap with cold or lukewarm water. Handkerchiefs and other things get a chance to wear out instead of being made rotten with boiling water.

BACKACHE.

READ MISS BOLLMAN'S EXPERIENCE.

"Some time ago I was in a very weak condition, my work made me nervous and my backached frightfully all the time, and I had terrible headaches.

"My mother got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and it seemed to strengthen my back and help me at once, and I did not get so tired as before. I continued to take it, and it brought health and strength to me, and I want to thank you for the good it has done me."—Miss Kate Bollman, 142nd St. & Wales Ave., New York City.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Every woman who is puzzled about her condition should write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her all.

GAMES TODAY.

Brooklyn at Philadelphia.
New York at Boston.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—Pittsburgh took both games from the Phillies today, 5 to 4 and 6 to 0. The second game was called in the sixth inning on account of the heat. When Big Hans Wagner keeled over in the sixth inning while Hulswitt was at bat. Umpire Emslie no doubt thought it was time to quit, and as soon as Hulswitt was retired Emslie announced "game called." Nearly half of the 2,267 spectators left the grounds after the first game was finished on account of the heat, the bleachers being almost entirely deserted.

The first game was a handicap affair, Pittsburgh giving the Phillies four runs in the first inning, after which the champions started to overcome the lead, and at the same time keep the Phillies from getting any more. The champions got within one of their opponents' tap in the ninth, then finished strong and pulled out just one run to the good. The Phillies did not get a hit off Doheny after the fourth inning, and only two more men reached first.

Dugdeby was hit hard in the third and ninth, Pittsburgh bunching nine of its 12 hits in those two innings. Beaumont, Clarke, Leach, Wagner and Doherty did all the batting for the visitors, each getting two or more hits. Wolverton, Hulswitt, Clarke and Ritchey carried off the honors in the field. Catcher Roth was badly spiked by Beaumont in the ninth inning and gave way to Doolin.

Zimmer's men got off with a flying start, putting four over the plate in the first inning. Thomas walked and took second on a passed ball; Gleason beat out an infield hit, and Wolverton's single sent in Thomas. Keister struck out, but a wild pitch advanced the base runners. Barry hit to right field for three bases, and a wild throw to third by Ritchey allowed Barry to follow Gleason and Wolverton over the plate.

Clarke's Neat Trick.

Wagner started the second with a two-bagger, but was left on third. In the next inning the visitors made five successive singles. Doolin, Beaumont, Clarke and Leach hit safely in order to get one run. Beaumont failed to score with Doheny on Leach's hit was thrown out at the plate by Keister, Wagner's single sent in Clarke. Doheny popped out to Wolverton. Ritchey walked and Sebring forced him at second.

Gleason led off in the Phillies' half of the third with a two-bagger and Wolverton's sacrifice put him on third. But a great stop by Leach on Keister, resulted in Gleason being run out between third and home.

A clever trick by Clarke prevented the Phillies from scoring in the fourth. With one out, singles by Hulswitt and Roth and a wild throw by Leach filled the bases. Clarke stepped Thomas off second, threw over to Wagner, retiring Roth on the base line and Wagner then threw to Ritchey, putting Dugdeby out.

Pittsburgh picked up another run in the fifth after two were out on Wagner's two-bagger and Keister's muff.

The champions won very cleverly in the ninth. Phelps was retired on a high fly to Barry. Doheny singled, but was left as Beaumont's liner and put out. Clarke doubled to right and by great base running "Beau" scored from first. Clarke counted on Leach's single. Wagner forced Leach, but the game was won, as the best the Phillies could get in the ninth was a base on balls to Hulswitt.

Winham a Mystery.

The Phillies could not find Winham when hits meant runs in the second game, and failed to cross the home plate, though they had men on third in three innings. Frazer was batted hard at all times, Brother-in-Law Clarke leading the onslaught of the champions. It was the fourth game Frazer pitched himself. Umpire Emslie was also almost fagged out after the first game and sought the assistance of Billy Hallman to give the decisions on the second game. In the second test, Hallman being in uniform confused Catcher Doolin in the first inning, causing the latter to throw the ball into center field. Hallman stood behind the second base during Doolin's absence and when the ball reached players, shot the ball at Hallman like a flash, and Leach, who was on third, came home.

The players were also tired after the first contest, which was a hard one, and there was little life to the play in this game, except the one great effort of Barry to save his team from defeat in the fourth inning.

The first three men who faced Frazer hit safely, Beaumont scoring. Clarke came home on Bransfield's fly to Thomas. Ritchey got hit and a double steal followed, with Leach in the middle field by Doolin, which allowed Leach to score the third run of the inning. With two out in the third, Wagner reached second by fast hustling on an infield hit, and Barry scored on Bransfield's single. In the fourth Sebring doubled, Winham singled and Clarke hit for two bases, but Pittsburgh only got one run.

Jack Barry gave a fine exhibition of base running in the fourth inning. He made a single, stole second and third, and also had home stolen, but it left him out, because Frazer, the third out, made his third strike just as Barry was sliding over the plate.

A passed ball on the fourth ball gave Wagner two bases in the fifth. He took third on Bransfield's out and came home on Sebring's grounder to Douglass. The scores:

ERNE GOES TO COLLEGE.

Ex-Lightweight Champion to Teach Athletics and Study Law at Columbia.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Frankie Erne, once king of the lightweights within the roped arena, will enter Columbia college when the fall term begins next month both as a professor in athletics and as a student. The engagement of the pugilistic king has been engaged at a salary said to be $5,000 by the athletic faculty to teach the students of Columbia the manly art of self defense.

Not only will Erne devote his time to teaching boxing and developing the students, but he will take the law course, and says then in the course of time he hopes to be graduated from the college. Erne says he will never enter the prize ring again.

WILLIAMS THE WINNER IN PITCHERS' BATTLE

Waynesburg Twirler Has Better Luck Than Coleman—Kennoy Plays Star Game.

"Kid" Williams, the old Millvale slab performer, got the verdict over Bill Coleman yesterday afternoon, in one of the hardest pitchers' battles this season, at Steel Works park, Homestead, 2 to 2. Williams, now the star of the Waynesburg crowd, twirled his usual winning ball against the Steel Workers, and when it is taken into consideration that the support accorded him was not gilt edged, he was entitled to the victory.

Coleman also pitched the article of ball that would win nine out of 10 games. The Williamsburgite, however, issued two passes to first, and both counted later for runs. Twice he passed Buck Kenney, the former Interscholastic player, and twice did he score, each time coming in on a two-bagger by McKeown to left. Both were made when two men were retired. Coleman struck out 12 men, while Williams compelled six to fan, and had Risher's outfit been able to land on the ball when men were on bases Coleman would have been returned a winner.

Williams has pitching that kind of ball that the fielders did not have to exert themselves for more than a few chances. They stood still and the ball came to them. The only fielding Williamsburg was required to do was a sensational one-hand stop and throw to first by Kennoy of a hot grounder off the bat of Thayer. Torreyson in the fourth inning.

Torreyson laid his 200 pounds against the ball, sending it toward the second bag like a shot. Kennoy broke over to the bag, picked it up with his gloved hand and by a quick getaway retired his man at first. Again in the seventh inning Kennoy threw out Tom Cosgrove at home plate in the infield that brought forth a cheer. Charlie McCloskey also shone at short, he making stops and long throws to first that bordered on the big league kind.

It was in the initial inning that Kennoy walked to first. McKown pasted a wide ball over Center's outfield head and scored Kenney, for two sacks. The identical play occurred again in the sixth inning. With two out in Homestead's first McCloskey hit to left center that Ingham's speed failed to stop, and sped Jim Ganier back into middle right for his hard liner. Ganier just got his hands on it, but could not hold it, McCloskey reaching first and going to second. In the sixth Williams hit Edmundson. A steal and McCloskey's out put him on third. He registered on a hard-luck wild pitch. Williams won his game in the seventh by a timely single to right, sending home Ingham, who had doubled. Homestead got men on the bases and when the chances for scoring looked good just then would Williams apply the brakes. The score:

NOTES OF HOMESTEAD GAME.

It was a scrappy game all the way through, and Umpire Parry, who had an off-day, was severely roasted by the spectators, especially by a few shortenders who had Waynesburg money. Coleman hit a fly to left that was apparently fair, but he called it foul. When the ball was in the air Coleman turned around and said, "Foul, Parry." Parry did not watch it closely and gave his decision such. Later in the game Coleman was on first and attempted to steal. Weisser struck at the ball, tipping it. Waynesburg raised a kick, and, much to the surprise and delight of the home players, he was sent back. The rules allowed him to take the base if he got there safely.

Coleman is one of the best independent pitchers in the State. He, however, pitched in hard luck yesterday.

Jimmy Ganier did not get a hit yesterday. McCloskey took in his hard grounder in the first inning, which looked safe enough. He laid down a beautiful sacrifice in the seventh.

Waynesburg plays at Rochester today and at East Liverpool the rest of the week.

Burress Ed Hickey of Millvale was at the game and watched Williams closely. Williams is one of Hickey's old pitchers. Lew Moren and Low Wentz were also there.

Alex Pearson urged Risher yesterday that he will report today.

There was a loud and prolonged kick over a ball that Torreyson threw into play in the fifth inning. It was an easy one, but Williams raised an objection. He then it took to Homestead's bench. Torreyson threw it back and there was no kick. In the next inning it was again in play, and with the argument was at its highest Third Baseman McKown threw it over the fence. Torreyson sent an enemy out at first, and soon had it on the same play. Parry stuck it in his pocket, whence it did not return again.

GOLF TOURNAMENT BEGUN AT ALTOONA CRICKET CLUB

Rain Causes Postponement of Tennis—Reception Is Given Contestants.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COOL FIREMAN STOPS PANIC IN A THEATER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 25.—One person was seriously injured, several bruised and a thousand badly frightened this afternoon during a performance of "The Lighthouse by the Sea" in Binney's theater in Newark. The audience was the usual matinee gathering of women and children. At the stage door reached an interesting climax, every window broke outside. After a vivid flash of lightning the theater seemed filled with a powerful blue light. The electric lights then went out and the audience was enveloped in darkness. Most of those present were frightened badly and the dead silence was almost painful.

Suddenly some one shrieked "fire." Before the sound of the word had died away the house was in an uproar.

Women and children screamed and men yelled and swore, and though scarcely anyone could see more than two or three feet ahead, everyone began to rush about seeking exits. Before the panic reached dangerous proportions, however, Fireman Frank Longstaff,

DEATH ENDS VISIT TO THE SEASHORE

Arthur W. Bliss of Uniontown Drops Dead on Atlantic City Boardwalk.

HEART DISEASE WAS CAUSE

Was Prominent Business Man of Fayette County Before His Retirement—Automobile Run from Philadelphia Is Announced for September 8.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier, ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 25.

Arthur W. Bliss of Uniontown dropped dead on the boardwalk shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Bliss had been in bathing until 10 o'clock with a number of acquaintances from Pittsburgh and Uniontown and after lunch, accompanied by Mrs. Bliss and his two daughters, he went to an art auction store on the boardwalk opposite the steel pier. He complained of feeling unwell and walked outside.

He stood for a few minutes in the shade of the entrance to the steel pier and then started back to rejoin his wife and children. When near the door of the auction room he fell. He was picked up still alive, carried into the store and a physician telephoned for. He died in a few minutes.

Mr. Bliss was about 47 years old. His wife is a daughter of the late Judge Gilman of Fayette county. At one time he was largely interested in the coke and coal industry and later was at the head of the firm of Bliss & Marshall, brick manufacturers at Uniontown. He was a large owner in the Dunbar furnace, but lately has not been actively engaged in business.

The body was delivered to an undertaker and the county physician gave a certificate stating that heart disease was the cause of death. The remains will be taken to Uniontown tomorrow.

Announcement is made that the Automobile club of Philadelphia is to give a run to Atlantic City on Saturday, September 5. As Labor day falls on the Monday following, it is hoped by the committee that the members will take advantage of this and prolong their stay over that period. The schedule calls for the start to be made from the Philadelphia city hall, via Market Street ferry to Camden, thence to Kirkwood, Berlin, Wilton, Blue Anchor, Winslow, Rosedale, Hammonton, Egg Harbor, Absecon, Pleasantville and Atlantic City. It is believed that 100 to 200 automobiles will make the run.

The Misses Quay at the Seashore.

Miss Coral Quay, daughter of United States Senator Quay, who christened the battleship Pennsylvania, launched on Saturday, is a guest at the Brighton hotel with a party of friends. She is quite a heroine at the hotel, and gracefully acknowledges the many compliments bestowed upon her in performing her part of the ceremony. Accompanying her are her sister, Miss Irene Quay, Mrs. A. A. Davidge, Miss Armstrong of Look Haven, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thayer of Pittsburgh, and Watson H. Butler of Sandusky, Ohio.

Charles M. Schwab Visits New York.

Charles M. Schwab and a party of three gentlemen left this morning on the 9:00 train for New York. The trip was made in Mr. Schwab's private car "Loretto." The former president of the steel company will remain in the metropolis until tomorrow, when he will return to the city. Mr. and Mrs. Schwab will remain in Atlantic City the balance of this month and then go to their home in Pittsburgh.

Control of the Beach Front.

That the city solicitor meant what he said when he announced that he was preparing an ordinance which would give the city the absolute control of the beach front of Atlantic City, was clearly evidenced when Mr. Wetzroft, chairman of the ordinance committee of city council, introduced an ordinance last night. The new measure will make it impossible for anyone to conduct any business whatever oceanward of the boardwalk.

THREE BOOKS ARE SADLY NEGLECTED

Dr. Luccock at Chautauqua Speaks on Beauties of Esther, Jonah and Ruth.

BAINBRIDGE ON SMALLPOX

Eminent Physician in His Second Lecture Defends Vaccination and Says There Should Be a Compulsory Vaccination Law.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Dr. Luccock is making the devotional hour this week one of the most attractive exercises of the day. His subject this morning was "Touching the Golden Scepter," founded on an incident in the life of Esther.

In the course of his address he said: "There are three books in the Bible from which the preachers rarely take a text. They are Ruth, Jonah and Esther. Yet in them we find some of the most inspiring things in our holy religion. In the story of Ruth we have a picture of supreme devotion and a far-reaching reward; in Jonah we feel the heart throb of a gracious God. The book of Esther, however, holds its place in the canon with difficulty. Some question its right to be there at all. It is so full of savagery and blood."

Dr. Bainbridge's second lecture on "The Art of Healing" was largely attended. It was understood that the doctor had something to say on the smallpox question and vaccination, and he did not disappoint his hearers. He came down very hard on the anti-vaccination people and said he wanted to emphasize the statement that the physician who is opposed to vaccination is away behind the times, and if he imposes his theories on others, either by his conversation or literature, or attempts to abolish this most scientific means of preventing such a dread disease, he is a menace to the community.

Dr. Bainbridge gave statistics to show what vaccination had done to stamp out the disease and thinks it is the only way to prevent the spread of smallpox.

"There is no necessity," he says, "for anyone dying of smallpox now. No intelligent, honest person can doubt the efficiency of vaccination and re-vaccination, for it must be remembered that one vaccination will not do for a lifetime. There should be legislation in every state for compulsory vaccination and a popular sentiment created in its favor."

The speaker also has very strong prejudices on the subject of tuberculosis and asserts that anyone so afflicted should be isolated just the same as a scarlet fever or smallpox patient, and he thinks the time is coming when a punishment to fit the crime will be dealt out to the person afflicted with tuberculosis who expectorates in public places.

ITALIAN MADE A YELL.

Pittsburgh Character in Limbo in Allegheny Charged With Working the Shell Game.

E. L. Wilson, a well-known Pittsburgher who is more familiarly known along the Diamond as "Tommy the Dog," was arrested in Allegheny yesterday on the charge of being a suspicious person. Andrew Stefani, an Italian, was taken to Central station in the same patrol wagon. He is also charged with being a suspicious person, although the intention of Superintendent Campbell is to use Stefani as a witness against "Tommy." The two men were arrested near the circus grounds. Officers heard the sounds of an altercation and saw the crowd pressing toward a point where two men were loudly quarreling.

Stefani, who was one of the quarrelling men, pointed out "Tommy" as a man who had cheated him out of $14 by means of the old shell game swindle. At the station "Tommy" identified E. L. Wilson of No. 112 Federal street, but at that address, which is a boarding house, he was not known.

After the men had been locked up for some hours Jesse Pavey, a former city detective, and "Dimmy" Cain of Pittsburgh, appeared at the station to bail "Tommy" out, but Campbell refused to let him go, saying that he wanted to investigate the case fully.

It is reported that "shell games" and other gambling was done in South avenue alongside the circus grounds on Monday, but yesterday Superintendent Campbell gave strict orders that anybody caught gambling should be arrested. The shell game men carry their apparatus under their coats and can easily produce it to "rope in" suckers when they think the coast is clear of police.

IS THE SUNDAY LAW WAR ABOUT TO BE ENDED?

Is Rumored That Contending Committees in Wilkinsburg Will Get Together.

In Wilkinsburg, where there is a merry fight on between two factions regarding the enforcement of the blue laws, and where the committee of five made wholesale informations against Sunday violators, there was a rumor last night that an agreement had been reached by the contending parties and that the drug stores would be closed next Sunday. W. L. Smith denied this statement and said he would be open next Sunday as usual. Golf players are the latest to be sued in the borough.

S. Covell, a druggist, did not deny there is a settlement on foot to try to bring the agitation to a close. He denied knowing anything definite about the matter, but said he had heard that the committee of twelve and the committee of five were to meet in a climax to the long struggle. The business men have reached the conclusion that the fight is against the best interests of the borough and should be stopped at once. It is thought they have brought pressure to bear on both sides.

The committee of five, however, did not act yesterday as if they were about to terminate the fight. This committee made several informations before Justice of the Peace J. Walker of Wilkinsburg yesterday morning. They prosecuted a number of men for playing golf last Sunday.

Fire Destroyed Wrecked Cars.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—A west-bound Baltimore & Ohio freight train on the Pittsburgh division tonight ran into several cars being switched off the main track near Valley street by a Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad engine, causing a serious wreck. The fire department was called out, but all the cars were destroyed, a barrel of oil exploding during the fire.

To Shorten Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The Reading railway, it is reported, is planning to shorten its line between Philadelphia and New York 15 miles. Among the improvements said to be under contemplation are the abolition of the junction near Trenton and a direct line into the Jersey capital. Princeton, under the change discussed, would be on the direct line.

Mills Buys Alaskan Mines.

TACOMA, WASH., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—A syndicate headed by D. O. Mills is reported to have purchased a group of Alaskan mines for $2,000,000.

New Castle Interested In Their Marriage

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. STRITMATER.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—A wedding of interest here was that today of William A. Stritmater and Miss Elizabeth Gaston, daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Gaston of this city. The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock and was performed by the Rev. Dr. H. M. Conaway, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which the bride is a prominent member. Mr. Stritmater is one of the most prominent merchants of this city and an elder of the Second United Presbyterian church of this city, while he is widely known to business men throughout this part of the state. For some years past his bride has been manager of the millinery department of his business. Mr. and Mrs. Stritmater left today to visit lake points and eastern cities before returning. They will be at home after October 1 at the Stritmater residence on Lincoln avenue. The wedding was very quiet, only the immediate families being present, and comes rather as a surprise.

RUSSIA DEMANDS JEWS EMIGRATE

Czar's Minister Favors Plan to Establish Colony in Palestine.

THE LETTER IS MADE PUBLIC

Concentration in Empire Is Objected to and Notice Given That Hebrew Population Must Be Decreased—Government Will Aid Original Program.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BASLE, Aug. 25.—Dr. Herzl, at today's session of the Zionist congress, stated that the letter of von Plehwe, the Russian minister of the interior, would be published and that the documents regarding the offer of the British ministers would be given to a special political committee for examination. Mr. Gottheil, seconded by Mr. Sulzberger, insisted on the importance of Herzl's interviews with the St. Petersburg officials in view of President Roosevelt's action in voicing the respectful demands of the Jewish people of the United States, and asked whether a written or verbal answer would be given to von Plehwe's letter to Herzl, which reads:

You have expressed a desire to preserve an outline of our interview. I accede willingly in order to avoid everything which could give rise to exaggerated hopes or disquieting doubts. I have had occasion to inform you of the view point from which the Russian government now considers Zionism. That view point may indeed very easily suggest the necessity of exchanging its tolerant policy for measures dictated by national safety.

As long as Zionism consisted of a wish to create an independent state in Palestine and confined to foreign emigration Russia of a certain number of Jewish subjects, the Russian government could be entirely favorable to it, but from the moment when this principle and aim of Zionism was abandoned and replaced by the propaganda of Jewish national concentration in Russia, it is natural that the government could not in any case tolerate this principle of Zionism. There would have been no other result than to create groups of individuals altogether strange, even hostile, to patriotic sentiments which make the strength of every state.

That is why confidence could be placed in Zionism only on condition that it returned to its former program. It could in that case count on the moral and material support on the day when certain of its practical measures served to diminish the Jewish population in Russia. That support might have consisted of pecuniary subventions for the benefit of the Ottoman government, the facilitation of action of emigration societies, and even to relieve the necessities of those societies, obviously without profit from the state by means of taxes on the Jews.

I think it is necessary to add that the Russian government is obliged to confirm its manner of action in this question by reasons of the interests of the state. Nevertheless it has never disregarded the great moral principles of morality and humanity. Quite recently, moreover, it had extended dwelling rights to localities allotted to the Jewish population, and nothing prevents the hope that the development of these measures will serve to ameliorate the condition of the Russian Jews, especially if emigration diminishes their number."

Zangwill made a splendid speech on Zionism and charitable institutions. He said Jewish sufferings were double those of any other people, because the Jews were without land and without national home. Their sufferings are impossible of mitigation as long as they are without a home.

Zangwill acknowledged the good work of benevolent societies, but criticised their opposition to the scheme of immigration. He declared he would be glad to join hands with them, but they must first accept the Zionist program.

MORGUE WAGON HAD TWO TRIPS

Went After Man and Found Him Alive—Was Dead When Hospital Ambulance Arrived.

VICTIM OF DANGEROUS CURVE

Many Others Have Met Death on the Pennsylvania Railroad in Swissvale. Aged War Veteran Identified—Other Morgue Cases.

Robert C. Johnson, a young electrician of Lyndhurst, N. J., was injured while jumping a freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Keating, near Rankin, yesterday morning. One leg was cut off and he was badly bruised. He was placed on the train and brought into the Allegheny depot. In the meantime, the employee of the road thinking the man dead, telephoned the morgue and when the train arrived the morgue ambulance was ready to take his body.

Examination showed, however, that the man was still alive and the morgue ambulance left the young man at the station. The Mercy hospital ambulance was telephoned for and when it arrived the young man was actually dead. Then the morgue ambulance had to be sent for again. By the young man's pocket was a letter recommending him to Jas. W. Nagle of Arlington, N. J. Johnson was an experienced electrician and was about 20 years old.

Silbert Venter, aged 30, was instantly killed on the Pennsylvania railroad near Dickson street, Swissvale, about 10 o'clock last evening. Venter lived in Rankin and was employed as a molder by the Union Switch & Signal Company in Swissvale. There is a dangerous curve at the point where Venter was killed. A number of persons have met death there.

The body of the man who was struck by a passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad at the Homewood crossing on Monday was yesterday identified by Mrs. Lucy Hastings as that of her husband, David J. Hastings, a stone mason, aged 55 years, of Frankstown avenue and Costello street.

John Solomos, 25 years old, who was injured by a car in the Pennsylvania railroad at the Homewood crossing on Monday night, and Ginnudi Donato, of 13 Block House way, who was shocked by coming in contact with a live electric wire, both died at Mercy hospital yesterday.

Hester Conway, aged 10 years, of No. 325 Fourth avenue, Carnegie, died at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary King, Second avenue and Fifth street, Carnegie, yesterday morning of burns received Monday night. While preparing supper she lighted a fire in the stove and then poured oil from a can on the flames. The can exploded and she was terribly burned.

Two deaths occurred within 12 hours of each other at the insane department of the Allegheny City home yesterday. Edward Nau, Jr., died there on Monday night. He formerly worked for the H. J. Heinz Company, and in April, 1900, suffered injury through a hammer falling on his head. He showed symptoms of insanity and was sent to the city home. A short time afterward he appeared cured and was released, only to be recommitted in April, 1901.

Henry Spe, aged 70, died yesterday morning. He had been committed five different times. He was 35 years old and a tanner. His last place of residence was at No. 73 High street. He is survived by a widow.

Augustine Trumbull, aged 25 years, of Lowry, Pa., a fireman on the West Penn railroad, died at the Allegheny General hospital yesterday of injuries received on the railroad on Monday.

Pig Cargo of Silk Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The big liner Korea has arrived from the orient, bringing less than 3,000 tons of freight, but nearly 1,300 bales of raw silk and the value of this shipment is more than $1,000,000. She also carried 18,605 chests of tea and 23 boxes of gold and silver specie consigned to local banks.

Controller Larkin Saves the City $165 in the Office of the City Clerk.

Controller Larkin has enforced economy in the city clerk's office. The controller has given notice that he will not pay the bills for the printing of the council manual this year, and as a result there will be none printed, the controller thereby saving the city about $165. The council manual is a red-covered book containing the names of councilmen and all city officials, the council committees and rules, the city charter, street directory, the appropriations for the year, and much general information of value relating to municipal matters.

These books have been printed for the use of councilmen, city officials and others to whom they are of service. It has been the custom to print the manuals every year, as there are many changes to be made. To a councilman, particularly, it is of great value. They are much used for reference when the annual appropriations are made up and are in constant use during legislative proceedings. The manuals from last year have been exhausted and there is none in stock in the city clerk's office. It has been the custom for the city clerk to prepare the copy for the manuals and to have them printed. The controller decided that the manual was an unnecessary luxury and that its publication by the city should be abolished for this year at least.

He notified the city clerk that there was no special appropriation for the printing of the manuals and that he would not allow the printing and stationery account fund to be drawn upon for this purpose, as has been customary. The controller did not say that the saving of $166 would have any effect upon the millage next year or upon this year's deficiency, but he let it be understood that it was for an accord with his idea of public economy to make the people pay for giving their council representatives information on public matters.

SOCIETY

THE MEMBERS of the Yankanosh club, one of Pittsburg's most popular fishing clubs, will break camp at Yankanosh Island tomorrow and return to Pittsburgh on Friday. Several of the members are already at home, among them Talbert G. Gerwig, Ralph Arrowsmith, Dr. W. C. McCandless and one or two others. Those who already have returned report a most enjoyable outing and exceedingly pleasant weather. This year's trip has been one of the most delightful ever taken by the club members, the Soldier having been especially good. The party at the beginning of the trip was composed of W. F. Brown, Charles W. Gerwig, Ralph Orchard, the Hon. William H. Graham, president; William A. Diller, treasurer; Talbert G. Gerwig, secretary; Edward V. Babcock, Frederick Raymond Babcock, E. S. Doyle, Thomas Ward, Robert M. Holland, Edwin R. Kopp, Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Guy P. McCandless, Stephen Stone, Jr., W. T. Lindsay, Clyde Owen Reed, William C. Graham, Van Kirk, who is about eight miles distant from the reservation of the Iroquois City Fishing club, which will also return this week from Canada.

ONCE BEAUTIFUL CITY IN RUINS

Kruschevo First Pillaged by Insurgents and Then by Turkish Soldiers.

MASSACRES DO NOT CEASE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONASTIR, Aug. 24.—The once beautiful city of Kruschevo is a heap of ruins. The women and children are homeless, exposed to the weather and famine. The town is rendered uninhabitable by the odor of corpses, which are being gnawed by dogs and pigs, the Turkish authorities refusing to allow them to be removed under the pretext that an inquest will be held.

Kruschevo is situated on the summit of a hill, eight hours distant and to the northwest of Monastir. It contained 2,000 houses and 10,000 inhabitants, mostly Vlachs, calling themselves Greeks. There were only 100 poor Bulgarian houses. The Vlachs are prosperous merchants, who travel abroad on business, leaving their families in Kruschevo. After making fortunes abroad by their diligence and economy, they return to spend their wealth in Kruschevo, where they own fine houses, furniture and jewels. The Turkish inhabitants of the surrounding villages have long envied the prosperity of Kruschevo.

Rebels Occupied Town.

The Macedonian committee, in concert with Bulgarian bands, has been completing arrangements during several months with a view to occupying the town.

On August 2, the day fixed for the Bulgarian attack on Kruschevo, while four marriages were being celebrated in the Greek church, a number of Komitadja, by prearrangement, remained hidden in the church, and were locked in by the sacristan at the conclusion of the ceremonies. At 10 o'clock that night they sounded an alarm by ringing the church bells. Simultaneously a band of 300 insurgents entered the town.

The band first burned the residence of the mudir and then the mansion of the Turkish soldiers and the officials of the town, but the invaders spared the Turkish barracks. On the following morning the Komitajis established a provisional government and instituted a new police and municipality.

They killed 10 Christians, who they believed had betrayed the plans of the committee. The notables of the town were compelled to contribute $10,000 to the revolutionary fund.

Turks Bombard City.

The Turks, informed of the capture of the town, sent from Prylepe three squadrons of cavalry, which were attacked on route and compelled to retire with a loss of 500 killed.

On August 13, the Turks concentrated seven battalions and one battery on Krushevo. They made an offer to permit the women and children to leave the town. This proposal was declined, and the bombardment began. The Komitajis quickly abandoned the town and escaped to the neighboring forests.

The Turks entered the town, and guided by Turkish villagers from the neighborhood, attacked the homes of the Greek notables and ordered the inmates to be searched and stripped. They seized the money and jewels and ravished the women, those who resisted being immediately killed. Greek peasants, suspected to protect his daughter, was killed. A girl's earrings were torn out and her hand was chopped off to secure a bracelet.

When the houses had been pillaged the Turkish peasants loaded their horses with whatever the soldiers left and the remaining were burned. The sack of Kruschevo lasted three days, during which time the women and children remained without food and shelter and at the mercy of the soldiers and the Bashi-Bazouks.

Sultan's Presents Refused.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 25.—Three Bulgarian villages near Tchirkesko, a village of Adrianople, are reported to have been burned by Mussulmans and their inhabitants massacred.

The presents of food and cigarettes, which the Sultan sent to the Russian squadron shortly after it anchored off Inada, on the eastern coast of Turkey, were not permitted to be received on board the Russian warships. Admiral Kruger refusing to accept them.

SOFIA, Aug. 25.—The Macedonian fugitives in Bulgaria are preparing to send a deputation to St. Petersburg to inform the czar of the pitiable condition of Macedonia and to beg for its intervention. The Bulgarian archbishop of Varna has promised to head the deputation.

SMALL ACCIDENTS IN AND AROUND THE CITY

Conductor Badly Hurt—Driver's Exciting Experience—Injured at Court House.

Andrew Gillick, a conductor on an Avalon car, was cutting a trailer yesterday when a lifting crowbar flew against the front car, seriously injuring him. He was attended by Dr. W. A. McCrea and removed to his home on Brighton road. He will recover.

Charles Lee, 20 years old, employed by the Cook & Galvin Company of Ben Avon, while driving a horse fell over a bridge at Ben Avon with the animal yesterday morning and was seriously injured. The horse was killed and ran against the side of the bridge and then plunged over it. Nichols threw himself from the horse's back, but too late. He sustained torn bowels and internal injuries. He was attended by Dr. J. S. Donaldson of Bellevue and was taken to the Presbyterian hospital in Allegheny. He may recover.

Augustus Trumbull, 25 years old, of Lowrie street, Troy hill, Allegheny, had his skull fractured in two places while getting cars yesterday morning on the Pittsburg, Chartiers & Youghiogheny railroad in Allegheny.

In attempting to board a moving car at Forbes and Bendy streets yesterday, George Edwards of No. 120 Bingham street, Allegheny, was thrown violently to the ground and received abrasions by striking the street with his head. He is at Mercy hospital.

William McDonald and Michael Wurshey, employed at the American Bridge Company, fell from the fourth floor of the Carnegie building, Fourth avenue and Smithfield street, were injured yesterday by the breaking of a scaffold on which they were working. McDonald had his right shoulder broken, and Wurshey sustained a fracture of the left leg. Both men were taken to the South Side hospital.

ELLSLER LAID AT REST.

Last Rites in Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland—No Eulogy Spoken.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Hundreds of citizens of Cleveland attended the funeral of the actor-manager, John Ellsler this morning at Wade Memorial chapel in Lake View cemetery. During the services Rev. Dr. Thomas Williams read the Episcopal service and delivered a short prayer, after which 12 members of Holyrood commandery sang sacred choirs and H. F. Gordon accompanied by D. M. Hosting, read the Masonic service. There was no eulogy at either service.

Two members of Mr. Ellsler's old Academy stock company, Miss Mary Wells and Richard Bishop, the only remaining ones living in Cleveland, were present.

Storm Spoiled Oakland Carnival.

The Oakland carnival which was scheduled to open last night was put out of business by the terrific storm which swept over the city yesterday afternoon. The electric light plant was destroyed and several of the tents were blown down. It is expected that the many attractions will be opened tonight or tomorrow night. A large force of men will start in at daybreak and repair the damage and put the bank and sawdust in the muddy places. The opening of the Bellevue carnival was also postponed until tonight because of the rain.

SAYS LODGE WAS USED FOR FRAUD

One Member Charges Another With Robbing Him of Life Time's Earnings.

HE SIGNED AWAY PROPERTY

George Taylor Accuses E. W. Boypin of Securing Land for Himself on the Plea That It Was to Go to an Organization.

George Taylor filed a bill in equity against Edward W. Boykin in common pleas court No. 1, asking that the defendant be compelled to convey to him a certain lot of ground and that the defendant be required to account to Taylor. Taylor alleges that he owned a piece of property at No. 2438 Wadsworth street, valued at $2,000; that he is feeble and is 65 years old. He declared that his acquaintance with Boykin developed into professed friendship and that they were members of the same lodge. He says Boykin suggested that he turn his property over to the lodge, "Star of the West," and the lodge would support the plaintiff, his wife and their son during their lifetime. This was agreed to.

Taylor states that he was inexperienced in business and ignorant of the art of reading and writing, and on account of his friendship accepted Boykin to act for him in the transaction. By fraud, the plaintiff alleges, the property was transferred to Boykin and not to the lodge.

Taylor states that he soon after went to Virginia and before going notified an agent to collect his rents, but soon after the agent notified him that Boykin had a lease for the property. It is charged the defendant fraudulently deprived the plaintiff and his wife of their earnings of a lifetime.

Judge Marshall Brown yesterday held a short session of the juvenile court. William Darwin, 15 years old, was called for a hearing on a charge of stealing $10 from Joseph Carso of Braddock. The boy was never arrested before, but his mother claimed she could do nothing with him and he was sent to the Morganza reform school. Charles Neill, charged with incorrigibility, was released.

Elizabeth Taylor sued the Chartiers Coal & Coke Company for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by an explosion.

John Elliott and Elsie Elliott sued Alderman S. F. Kerr for $5,000 damages for the alleged false arrest of the last-named plaintiff on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The auditor in the execution case of Benedict Voelker against John Voelker and others, filed his report. The balance was divided as follows: John Voelker, $1,506; Mary V. Atherton, $3,173; Cecelia V. Kester, $2,971.

Frank L. Allen entered suit against Thomas M. and William R. Porter to recover $2,000, with interest. The plaintiff alleges that in April last he entrusted the defendants with $6,000 to invest in stock of the Reliance Insurance Company, but they only invested $4,000 and suit is brought for the balance.

Sarah Carlisle sued the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was employed by the company. Marie Schaubright sued Dr. L. C. Gabriel for $10,000 damages. She alleges the defendant treated her sore hand, after which it became useless.

The following divorces were granted yesterday: Alice Gilmore against George E. Gilmore, desertion; Michael Ihnatt against Mary Ihnatt, desertion; Catherine Williamson against Alexander Williamson, desertion; Emma Koon against Samuel Koon, desertion; Antonio Mares against Hynek Mares, indignities to the person; Christina W. Watson against Edward Watson, desertion.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 25.—The stage of the river at 6 p. m. marked 4.8 feet and falling. Rivermen report the worst season of low water at this part of the Ohio river for many years. The water goes much lower all of the heavier craft will be called into commission and the lighter crafts will be called upon to take their places. As soon as the work of the repairs on the steamers Virginia, Hudson and Queen City are finished Capt. J. F. Ellison, the superintendent of the Cincinnati-Pittsburgh Packet Company will go on his annual vacation. The cowboat Wash Hensell was destroyed by fire at the foot of Carroll street. It was the property of the Huntington & St. Louis Towboat Company and was in the docks for repairs. The loss is $20,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

MUCH NEEDED RAIN FALLS.

New Dredgeboat Has Started to Dig Away the Turtle Creek Bar.

Yesterday's heavy rains will bring a much-needed rise in the waters of the local rivers. The water at the Davis island dam had got below 2.6 feet, which was the lowest this summer, and the reports from the upper Ohio showed that the water was falling at nearly every point. These rains will bring a swell in the rivers which will be of great use in the traffic, which is mostly in the Monongahela river.

The pools of the Monongahela river were getting low and bars showing in some places.

River Notes.

The steamer Gleaner of the People's Coal Company, which has been tied up at Mt. Vernon, Ind., will be brought up the river as far as possible.

The Harvester, which is being repaired at Cincinnati, will be taken from the ways next week. The Defender has been placed in the water after undergoing a general overhauling.

The steamer Exporter, one of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company's boats in the St. Louis and Cairo trade, has towed 205 barges of coal and 14 barges of steel and lumber during the last season, and lost only one barge.

United States Inspectors of Steam Vessels George H. Atkinson and Isaac B. Williams have the following boats to inspect: Pacific No. 2, at Merrill's dam, today; Black Diamond, at Charleroi, Friday, and the Cascade Monday at South Side.

The steamer John K. Klein is laid up at the wharf receiving repairs to her boilers. She was attempting to pump out the Annie Roberts yesterday and burned out the sheets of her boiler. She will return to the work of getting out the Roberts as soon as repairs are completed.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company would like to have in the local harbor the hundreds of empty boats and barges which it owns, but which are scattered along the Ohio river. It is impossible on account of the low water, to bring them up, and the company's crafts in the harbor are all loaded. It has many at the mines being loaded, but will have no empties when these are made ready for market.

Crowds Push All Day Long for a Drink of Pure Cold Water from a Popular Bank's Font

Crowds Pushing for a Drink of Pure Cold Water.

The popularity of the new water supply furnished by the fountain recently erected by the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, opposite the bank on Fourth avenue and Smithfield street, is something remarkable. All day yesterday and far into the night the new institution was so densely surrounded that it was hard to get even a glimpse of it, by men, women and children all anxious to allay their thirst by partaking of its cool, filtered beverage. Everything passed off good naturedly until Monday afternoon, when two men more anxious for a drink than some of the rest, engaged in a war of words as to who was first entitled to one of the drinking cups. Words led to blows and this attracted the attention of one of McTighe's men who collared the two thirsty mortals and gave them a ride to Central station.

SITUATION NOW WELL IN HAND

So Say Allegheny Authorities of Smallpox Conditions in That City.

WHAT SUPT. M'LAUGHLIN SAYS

All Blame Attached to Ellsworth Avenue Faith Curist—Sad Case of a North Braddock Man Who Died of Smallpox at Taylor.

The Allegheny public safety authorities are confident that they now have the smallpox situation in the Pleasant valley district well in hand. Mayor James G. Wyman and Director Thomas B. Scandrett have given Maj. McLaughlin, superintendent of the bureau of health, a free hand in dealing with the disease, and Maj. McLaughlin says he is fully capable of carrying on the work. Therefore, if there should be a spread of smallpox from the cases located in the Pleasant valley district, the major is willing to accept the responsibility. He said yesterday that there would be no more cases. He said further:

"We have started on a general plan of fumigating the houses in the Charles street district, whether there was smallpox in the houses or not, on the supposition that infection may have been carried into dwellings before the bureau of health became cognizant of the situation resulting from the failure to report the case of smallpox in the Hall family. The doctors who have been vaccinating the residents will continue the work until everybody who might have been exposed to the infection has been vaccinated.

"I have no quarrel with Dr. Wilmer R. Batt, the state quarantine officer. You ask me if I will co-operate with him? The city of Allegheny is well able to cope with the smallpox that is here and as the superintendent of the bureau of health I will go ahead and manage the campaign against the disease in my own way. I have dealt with similar situations before. There are only 38 cases of smallpox in the city, and 28 of those are in the Charles street district."

Director Scandrett thinks the strictures recently made on the Allegheny authorities are not fair. He said yesterday that when the new administration took hold there were 140 cases of smallpox in Allegheny. The condition of affairs, he said, was plainly not the fault of the administration, he said, for all the cases there originated from the treatment of a smallpox case by a woman faith curist for two weeks before the bureau of health knew of the case, and then the infection had spread so far that the new cases developed while the bureau of health was doing its best to prevent the spread of the disease.

Benjamin Evans, aged 30 years, of Ellsworth avenue, and Bertha Braddock, died from smallpox Friday night, and was buried at midnight, the same night, at Taylor, a small mining hamlet on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad above McKeesport. Last week Evans, in company with his wife and family, went to Taylor on a visit and was taken ill there on Wednesday. Friday the attending physician pronounced the ailment smallpox and the house was at once quarantined. Evans grew worse and died Friday night. No undertaker could be induced to proceed to the remains for burial, and the physician was obliged to do it himself. No hearse could be hired to convey the body to a cemetery, and the family were obliged to purchase a wagon.

Four wife and five children are still quarantined at Taylor and the relatives in Bradlock were only notified of the sad state of affairs yesterday. Evans was employed on the Union railroad and was well known in Braddock. It is thought he contracted the disease in North Braddock, where there are several cases of smallpox.

Low Excursion Rates Are Granted for the Pittsburgh Exposition

Following the precedent set years ago when the Pittsburgh exposition was first started, the railroads of this city will this year again grant low rates to Pittsburgh on account of the big show. One fare plus 25 cents will be the round trip rates on Thursdays. This rate includes admission to the expo.

In addition to this Thursday reduction of 50 per cent, there will be special rates on certain Saturdays during the continuance of the affair. The Saturdays will be apportioned among the various lines so that each will have an opportunity to offer to the people of the section through which it runs the chance to attend.

The Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh yesterday announced several other reduced rates of local interest. For the Labor day celebration the rate will be one fare for the round trip for a radius of 50 miles from Pittsburgh.

The same system announces the same rate of one fare for the round trip for the coming convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew to be held at Denver, Col., October 7-11. This makes the Pittsburgh rate $50. The return limit of the ticket will be October 30. As much as Pittsburgh is now the headquarters of this international organization, it is expected that the number of persons going from this city and district will be exceptionally large.

MAY CHOOSE PITTSBURGHER.

Local Man Likely to Be Vice President of the Old Reliable Conductors.

Pittsburgh will be well represented and a Pittsburgher is expected to be elected vice president at the convention of the Old Reliable Conductors' association. The Pittsburgh party left last night to attend this convention, which will be held in St. Paul for three days, August 28, 29 and 30. Those in the party from the Pennsylvania railroad were: W. B. Chislett, E. P. Goodwin, C. S. Patterson, F. E. Oliver, J. R. Campbell, C. F. Lenhart, G. L. Francis and J. L. McKelvey. The Panhandle was represented by E. Laughead. From the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie went N. F. Hays, and Charles Ball represents the Baltimore & Ohio. Over the Panhandle there was a special car for the delegates. They go to St. Louis and there join a special train furnished by the Burlington for St. Paul. At the conclusion of the business meeting there will be a trip over the Northern Pacific to Yellowstone park.

The organization is one of the oldest of American railway associations. It has lasted for over 40 years, and has been especially strong on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad. W. H. Canfield, who is chairman of the local delegation, is expected to be the next vice president. William Beckley of the Wabash at St. Louis, is to be president, and Edwin Morrell, of the Big Four at Columbus, to be secretary and treasurer.

ST. LOUIS TIED UP.

Worst of Freight Congestions Has Blocked Traffic from East.

Pittsburgh shippers in common with those from all other parts of the country are wrestling with a freight situation existing now at St. Louis that seems to make even the troubles of Pittsburgh one year ago and two years ago seem small. There are over 11,000 cars tied up in the yards in and about East St. Louis, it is said. The Vandalia has declared an embargo against practically everything until conditions there improve. The railroads are in bad shape and unless some relief is found soon the prospects are for St. Louis being cut out of freight communication with the east for a few days by practically all of the lines.

The trouble started with the flood of a few months ago. The accumulations of that time have been not quite unforeseen. Other causes caused the growth of larger accumulations and the growth continues. In one railroad office here yesterday it was said that there were regularly loaded over 100 cars, some of which had been forwarded from Pittsburgh as early as June 18. All had been on the road for at least a month.

August Earnings Making Record.

Gross earnings of all roads reporting for August to date by weeks show that the month will have an advance of about 9.6 per cent over August, 1902, and 18 per cent over August, 1901. The central western and trunk lines are the largest gainers in the traffic, although the grangers, southern and southwestern lines are fifteen days to the good. Below is given a table showing the reported earnings:

	August, 1903.	Gain.
Trunk	$1,250,501	$107,710
Central Western	3,184,607	417,854
Grangers	408,387	14,850
Southern	5,006,919	431,358
Southwestern	3,622,513	194,482
United States roads	$14,363,732	$1,241,854
Canadian	1,308,000	244,000
Mexican	1,361,496	322,650
Totals	$17,408,228	$1,808,503

Said Car Contracts Are Illegal.

The fight by J. W. Midgley against the private car lines is being carried forward vigorously. The latest circular sent out by Mr. Midgley states that the railroads violate the Interstate commerce law in carrying out the contracts and that the private car line mileage is merely a system by which rebates are paid to the large companies and their competitors driven out of the business. He says that last year $15,000,000 was paid the car owners of the car lines in mileage charges and that, in the case of the packing house companies, it enabled them to sell meat below cost. An investigation by the interstate commerce commission will be asked.

Milwaukee Completes New Link.

An important new link in the growth of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul has just been completed, according to advices received by John R. Pott, traveling passenger agent of that system with headquarters in Pittsburgh. This is the Kansas City-Muscatine cut-off, which reduces the distance of the Milwaukee's Chicago-Kansas City line to 435 miles. The line will be opened September 3, but the new and fine through passenger service will not be inaugurated until about October 1.

Pennsy Engineers on Inspection.

J. T. Richards, engineer of maintenance of way of the Pennsylvania railroad, with a party of other engineers in his department, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday, on the first of his monthly trip of inspection. The right was spent here by the party and this morning they will go back to the east. The run over the Pittsburgh division was made in the afternoon and the large amount of improvement and its progress received considerable attention, as well as maintenance of way work.

RAILROAD NOTES.

F. H. Tristram and W. D. Holliday, the traffic chiefs of the Wabash at Pittsburgh, spent yesterday at Columbus on business. They are expected back this morning.

The Pennsylvania railroad's Fort Perry branch, which was damaged by the fire in the tunnel to a point just east of the Fort Perry bridge. The new track was placed in use this week.

The office of the general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio is short of three men temporarily. N. W. Dunn is seriously ill; J. F. Leon has a hurt eye, and W. E. Ward is also on leave of absence on account of illness.

J. W. Patterson, president of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western, returned from the east yesterday. President Ramsey of the Wabash, did not come, although he had been expected. Just when the Wabash executive will come here is not yet known.

The Baltimore & Ohio out of Cleveland in connection with the Cleveland & Pittsburgh will restore the old system of transferring through cars to Marietta. Half of the equipment for a train each way daily will be furnished by the Baltimore & Ohio, and half by the Pennsylvania.

TRACTION EMPLOYES WILL PICNIC TODAY

Two Days' Outing for Consolidated and Monongahela Divisions Commences Today.

One should not swear at the motorman if one's car is late this evening. This is the opening day of the two days' picnic of the trolley men at Calhoun park and they will be off duty in such large numbers that some slight disarrangement of the running schedules of the cars is likely to occur. The indications yesterday were that if the weather is fair, from 20,000 to 25,000 people will be at the park during the two days of the outing.

Secretary William G. Glah, of the Traction Relief association, was busy all day sending out badges, caps, tabs and other picnic paraphernalia, to the different car barns of the Consolidated and Monongahela systems. To every employe was sent three badges, which entitles himself and two members of his family to free transportation to and from the park. Working schedules have been so arranged that every man, no matter what his position may be, will have some time, today or tomorrow, to attend the picnic.

A long program of sports, stretching over the two days, has been arranged. The greatest interest centers in the baseball game which President James D. Callery will umpire. To the team winning the game $50 in gold will be given. The prizes of the other sporting events, including dances, races, etc., will be 42 gold pieces. For the benefit of the colored employes, a cake walk has been arranged.

Over 2,000 tickets have already been sold for the trip to Atlantic City which the company is also giving. The men will have the free use of the park and every thing in it during the two days. The receipts of the picnic will be turned into the treasury of the relief association.

On Wednesday and Thursday, September 9 and 10, the outing of the United, Birmingham, West End and the Suburban men will be held at Calhoun.

Getting Ready Displays.

The last week but one preceding the opening of the new Pittsburgh exposition finds Keenist possible rivalry among exhibitors in their work of preparation and installation. Louise G. Taylor, director of the city's vacation schools, began yesterday to make artistic grouping of the really finished work of her pupils. Prominently noticeable are the samples of basketry, with weavings that are surprisingly fine, as coming from the hands of the very poor children.

To Examine Preachers.

The examining committee of the Methodist Protestant church for the Pittsburgh conference will examine six regular candidates and several new applicants for the ministry next Monday and Tuesday in the church parlors of the Second Methodist Protestant church, Fifth avenue. Dr. G. C. Sheppard of Washington, Pa., is chairman of the examining committee. This is the regular semi-annual fall examination of the committee, and few of the regular class finish their course at this examination.

HOME TRU

EASTERN STOCK MARKET CLOSED AT THE TOP.

Trading Was Dull and Professional—Call Money Rates Remained Easy and Sterling Was Lower. Local Securities Were Quiet.

By JOHN O. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Besides establishing the superiority of the Reliance, yesterday's yacht race tended to prove that the stock market is a purely professional affair. It was estimated that two-thirds of the active members of the exchange deserted the market to witness the race. It is reasonable to suppose that if there had been any legitimate orders from the public to execute, brokers would have attended to business before pleasure. That they went to the race is prima facie evidence that business was not pressing, and further evidence along this line was furnished by the total sales, which reached only 275,000 shares.

The market opened fractionally higher all around, under the stimulus of London quotations and buying orders, foreigners taking a considerable quantity of the Erie. Then for about four hours traders endeavored to start a selling movement, but with indifferent success. New York Central was selected as a target, and the filing of an application for the listing of $6,000,000 additional 3½ per cent bonds on the exchange was selected as the weapon of attack. It was loudly proclaimed by the bears as the preliminary of further borrowings for the purpose of meeting the requirements of terminal improvements. The stock declined from 120⅜ to 119⅝, which proved to be the low point of the day. Then bearish rumors were circulated regarding United States Steel. There were no particulars, but it was said that some "bad news" was about to come out and that traders were likely to attack the stock vigorously. The rumors deceived nobody. Bear cliques do not advertise their intentions in advance. Their success lies in the unexpectedness of an attack. Neither the rumors nor the attack materialized. United States Steel common opened at 22½, declined to 22⅜, and rallied to 22⅝, the close being at the highest. The preferred opened ⅝ higher at 70⅝, declined to 70¼, and rallied to 70⅞ at the close.

During the middle part of the session and well into the afternoon trading became stagnant. Up to this hour a score of usually active stocks had not changed hands, among these Sugar and some of the minor Gould shares. In the closing half hour the tone of the market became strong. Traders found it much easier to bid up prices than to obtain any following when trying to force them down. Final prices were in every instance the highest of the day. New York Central rallied to 121⅜, and Pennsylvania was 1½ per cent up at 124⅝. St. Paul, which had declined to 189½, recovered all the loss and advanced to 141¾. The granger stocks were all firmer, Atchison rallying 1⅝ per cent to 62⅝, Missouri Pacific 2¼ per cent to 94⅛, and Rock Island 1⅜ per cent to 28. Union Pacific recovered from 74⅝ to 76. The coal stocks were firm, Erie crossing 30 and Reading advancing to 55⅞. Baltimore & Ohio recovered 1 per cent to 82⅝.

Aside from railroad earnings, which continue to show remarkable gains over last year, which were the largest of record, the only legitimate news of the day that could have an effect upon the market was the decline of about 15 points in sterling exchange rates and the weekly weather crop bulletin issued by the government. The latter reported that the spring wheat harvest was practically completed save in North Dakota. Corn has made favorable progress, especially in Kansas and Nebraska, which last year produced 476,000,000 bushels. Fairly satisfactory reports were also received from Iowa, which last year harvested nearly 300,000,000 bushels. Conditions are still backward in Ohio and Missouri, which together last year produced 385,000,000 bushels. Since the compilation of the returns from which the government's bulletin is prepared there has been a decided change for the better in weather conditions. Both wheat and corn closed at the lowest prices of the day, reflecting the sentiment of Chicago traders. The primary receipts of wheat continue light, and so long as prices hold steady above the average, farmers will no doubt hold back their grain. The speculative trade has apparently reached the conclusion that the total yield of wheat will be up to the average, that it will begin to move to market some time, and possibly in such volume as to make up for the delay. In that event a decline in prices is almost inevitable, and all that is needed to stimulate the export movement, apparently, is lower prices. Yesterday's advices as to the condition of foreign crops, however, tended to justify the attitude of the American farmer in waiting for higher prices.

Rates for call loans remained easy and unchanged at 1½@2 per cent, while time loans were quoted firm at about 6 per cent for long terms. Crucible Steel common and Pittsburgh coal common continued to be the only active features of the local stock market yesterday. Crucible opened firmer at 9¼ and advanced to 9¾, but before the close of the first half hour had made a new low record by declining to 8⅝. A fair demand was uncovered at the decline, and the stock gradually recovered to 9¾, closing at 9¼. The preferred stock opened unchanged at 70 and slowly rallied to 70½, which was the final sale, but closed higher at 71¼ bid. United States Steel common opened at 22⅜ and advanced at the close to 23, closing at a net gain of ⅞ per cent. Only 10 shares of the preferred changed hands all day at 70¼. Pittsburgh Coal common was less active, a little more than 1,000 shares changing hands at 32@32¼, the final sale being at 32. The stock is evidently getting scarce, but the delay in any formal announcement as to the nature of the pending deal does not seem to shake confidence of recent buyers in the ultimate outcome. The preferred was dull and rather heavy until just before the close, when it rallied from 82 to 82½, and was subsequently bid up to 82¾, with no stock offered under 84. River Coal preferred was a fraction high at 37¼@38. National Fire Proofing common made a new low record by selling at 20½. There were no sales of the preferred stock, which closed at 30½ bid, 31 asked. A small lot of Brewing common sold at 30, but quotable lots were afterward offered at 29¾. The preferred closed a fraction lower at 44¾. Westinghouse Electric was dull, selling at 82, but closed higher at 82⅝ bid. Five shares Westinghouse Airbrake sold at 147, and regular lots were quoted at 145 bid, 148 asked. United States Glass sold at 32½, a decline of 2½ from the last previous sale, and 50 shares of Pittsburgh Plate Glass changed hands at 125, which was unchanged.

There was a little more doing in bank and trust stocks, Exchange National sold to the extent of 60 shares at 85, a decline of 3 points. Two shares Farmers Deposit National bank sold at 1,650, and quotable lots were offered at 1,665. Iron City Trust sold at 136, a decline of 1 per cent. Federal National was unchanged at 148 and Real Estate Trust at 252.

THIRTY HOUSES FOR ALLEGHENY

Improvements to the Amount of $150,000 Are Planned by the Walker Place Plan Co.

M'KEESPORT OFFICE BUILDING

Transfer of Two Brick Residences in Monticello Street, Twenty-First Ward, for $14,000—Trust Company Denies Purchase of Semple Property.

Preparations are being made by the Walker Place Plan Company, of Allegheny, for the erection of 30 dwelling houses on the property recently plotted at the corner of California and Vernon avenues, in the Eleventh ward. Contracts for these buildings will be let early in the fall, and the investment will total not less than $150,000, as the houses will be of brick, 8 and 10 rooms each, and will cost about $5,000 apiece. They will stand on lots measuring 40x120 feet, in Marlborough, Madison and Vernon avenues. Already there are 10 houses in course of construction in the plan, and plans have been prepared for four others, these being in addition to the 30 mentioned as to be started this fall. Building restrictions of the plan do not permit anything but brick houses, the idea being to keep the property up to the level of a high-grade residence section. No store or apartment houses are allowed. Mansion avenue is now being paved, and has a roadway 25 feet in width, while the sidewalks are 12½ feet wide, now feet of flagstone, with grass on either side. Sewers are being laid, the street to be paved with asphalt, all water and gas mains being laid, so that paving once down will be permanent.

McKeesport Building Company.

A syndicate of McKeesport business men, is being formed, headed by W. L. Sheets and Charles Daveney, prominent real estate dealers of that city, for the purpose of building a 16-story office building to take care of the growing interests of McKeesport. The company is called the McKeesport Office Building Company, and already a site has been optioned. The Richard and Richard Wampler property, in Fifth avenue, having a frontage of 66 feet, has been purchased for $61,000. It is the intention to issue capital stock to the amount of $500,000, divided into 5,000 shares of $100 each. This will purchase the proposed site and allow $439,000 for the construction of the building. It will be modern in design, containing not less than four elevators, together with electric lights and power plants. It will be of steel structure, with pressed brick and stone front.

Edward M. Butz has sold to Mrs. C. Friel two two-story brick houses, each standing on a lot 25x65 feet, on the north side of Reiter street, near Homewood avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $14,000.

M. J. Ehrenfeld of the Consolidated Real Estate Company, sold for Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin to Herman Leichtman a frame house of five rooms, lot 25x83 feet, in Boston street, Fourteenth ward, for $1,350 cash.

James D. Sullivan sold to Alfonso Checo an improved lot 30x121 feet, on the west side of Reiter street, Nineteenth ward, for $3,700.

Louis J. Stein sold to George Stein an improved lot 18x100 feet, in Glosser alley, Thirteenth ward, for $2,600.

Pittsburgh building permits were issued yesterday as follows: Dauler, Close & Johns, five-story brick addition to warehouse at Cherry and Strawberry alleys, Third ward, to cost $20,000; William Unrah, frame one-story and basement dwelling in Morgan street, Twenty-seventh ward, to cost $800. Frank Larkin, double two-story and attic brick dwelling in Johnson avenue, Twenty-third ward, to cost $3,000.

The following building permits were issued in Allegheny yesterday: William White, for two two-story and attic frame dwellings in Dixon street, to cost $1,943 each; W. C. Beatty, two-story and attic frame dwelling in East street, near Brook street, to cost $1,000; two-story and attic frame in Grand avenue, to cost $2,500.

The report which was current last week to the effect that the old Semple property, No. 604 Federal street, Allegheny, had been purchased by the Real Estate Savings & Trust Co., is denied by that company. The buyer was Charles Dunbar, vice president of the firm mentioned, but he bought for investment.

The consideration was $20,000 or $1,000 a foot front.

M. Massley has broken ground for the erection of a $14,000 store and apartment building of brick in Dickson street, Homestead. P. S. Platt is the architect. The building is to be completed by next February. It will be three stories high.

WARM WEATHER SENDS PRODUCE PRICES DOWN

Cucumbers, Tomatoes and Beans Make Sharp Declines. Best Grade Hay Firmer.

The long-delayed but finally fierce hot weather which has been so trying to sweltering humanity for several days past has its compensations, however, and they are found in the easier prices which have commenced to rule in the produce market. Several declines in important staples were recorded yesterday, and there is a weak market, which today and tomorrow or another price reduction is quite certain to come forward as they are doing at present. Cucumbers were not hurt, and figure for home-grown went off 50 to 75 cents a bushel, with stocks large enough, while still high for the season, is much cheaper than it was a week ago. Lettuce is coming forward in liberal quantities and has declined 10 cents a dozen from top quotations of the first of the week. Egg plant is 25 cents a bushel cheaper than it was, some raised freely offering at $1 and even lower dozens. String beans have gone away down and are bringing 40 cents a basket, and plenty at $1.25, the ruling price two or three days ago. Tomatoes are coming in large quantities and have joined the downward procession, home grown selling at 50@75 per bushel. Corn is just about holding its own, while lima beans are firmer. The exceptions to the general condition are peas and cauliflower, both of which are a little higher.

Bartlett pears are selling at $1 a barrel, a decline of $1, and grapes are a little cheaper. With these exceptions fruits, both tropical and domestic, are unchanged. Rockyford canteloupes are now coming into market, the first carload having arrived yesterday, the ruling price being $2.50 to $3 per crate.

The hay market was a little firmer yesterday for best grade, very little No. 1 timothy now coming, and that stock took some quality commands top figures. There is an abundance of lower grades of hay. Oats were steady yesterday, in spite of the fact that receipts were the latest, demand holding up well. Millfeed was firmer, bran selling at $18 and chop up to the higher mark reached a few days ago.

Groceries are quiet, but steady, four holding its own, with $5 00 the lower figure for paper sacks patent. Sugar was a shade steadier than that made for large orders. Sugar is without feature, the primal market being reported as strong, and coffee is unchanged. Canned goods are unchanged, corn being firm at the higher figures which went into effect on Monday.

Butter is as quoted yesterday. The advance on Monday of one-quarter cent at Chain was followed by potatoes, onions and corn, which have advanced a half, while others are selling at prices of last week. There is nothing special in the way of features either in cheese or eggs.

Poultry remains steady as quoted, no change having occurred in prices this week.

EMPEROR ANGERS WAGNER'S WIDOW

Disapproves of Her Program Which Provided Two Solid Weeks of Maestro's Music.

IT WOULD BE UNENDURABLE

Nevertheless the Unveiling of Wagner's Monument at Berlin Will Be Great Event and Andrew Carnegie Will Then Be Presented to the German Ruler.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

MUNICH, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Cosima Wagner has almost forgiven Manager Conried of the New York Metropolitan opera house, for saying that he will produce "Parsifal" in America, in her fury against the kaiser, who has wounded her feelings terribly by setting aside the program she and Prof. Thode had arranged for the unveiling of the Wagner monument in Berlin this fall. As a result none of the late maestro's family will be present.

The rejected program was intended to give a full idea of Richard Wagner's whole life and musical growth, and this idea was to have been conveyed to the mind of the hearer by a hair-raising form of perpetual music fashioned after the nature of Chinese plays. For two entire weeks Wagner's music would be fiddled and blown in the Royal opera house. The kaiser said technical obstacles would prevent this program from being carried out. As usual, the kaiser carried his point and he is reported to have said:

"The idea of expecting any person to listen to Wagnerian music for two weeks and escape alive is preposterous. If I should agree to this return to medieval torture there would not be ambulances and hearses enough in Berlin to take care of the dying and dead."

Mrs. Cosima Wagner was told of the kaiser's words of sarcasm and became furious at the sacrilege. Owing to her influence no person representing the Bavarian court will be present at the unveiling. But hundreds of Wagner enthusiasts from all parts of the globe will come to attend the imposing ceremonies, among others Andrew Carnegie, whose wish to be presented to the kaiser will then be fulfilled.

DISTRIBUTES $1,000,000 AMONG HIS RELATIVES

Chicago Man Wants to See to What Use His Money Will Be Put.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NORWICH, CONN., Aug. 25.—Stephen B. Roath of Chicago, has divided half his wealth among relatives in this city, the gifts aggregating about $1,000,000. Those who are to benefit by the distribution are:

Mrs. Elizabeth Randall, a widowed sister of Mr. Roath, $250,000; Mrs. H. E. Jenson, Mrs. Henry B. Norton, Henry F. Parker, all of this city; Mrs. Harry Walker, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Gerard L. Parker, Cincinnati, children of Mrs. Henry L. Parker, another sister, each to receive $50,000; Edward Roath, a nephew, $250,000, and Frank Roath, brother, $250,000.

Mr. Roath, half a century ago, was employed by the Norwich & Worcester Railroad Company, in this city, but finally settled in Chicago. He became very wealthy but continued to spend his summers here. He is 75 years old and a sufferer from locomotor ataxia. Mr. Roath in an interview today, said he desired to see to what use his relatives would put the money.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Weekly Summary by Weather Bureau Based on Reports from All Sections.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

While complaints of cool nights, during the early part of the week, are reported from the states of the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys, the temperature conditions throughout the country as a whole have been very favorable, the upper Mississippi and upper Missouri valleys, lake region and Rocky Mountain districts, the greater part of which has suffered from abnormally low temperatures for several weeks, receiving more than normal heat. Portions of the south Atlantic states experienced heavy rains, while the Ohio valley, the greater part of Texas and the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast districts are suffering from drought.

On the whole the corn crop has made favorable progress, especially over the central and western portions of the corn belt, the most decided advances being reported from Nebraska and Kansas. In the upper Ohio valley corn is suffering seriously for rain, which is also needed in portions of Kansas and Missouri, and much of the crop in Iowa will suffer unless rain falls soon. The reports indicate that early corn will be safe from frost by September 15 to October 1, and late corn from October 1 to 15.

Considerable spring wheat remains to be cut in North Dakota, but harvesting is practically finished elsewhere in the spring wheat region, and threshing is in progress. In southern Minnesota much grain in shock is damp.

Cotton has suffered materially from heavy rains and lack of sunshine over a large part of the central and eastern districts of the cotton region, where, in the Atlantic coast, rapid growth and, in some localities, too much stalk, excessive shedding and rust are reported. The plant, however, is generally well fruited throughout the belt. In Texas the boll weevil is doing much damage, except in the northern counties, and boll worms are more numerous and destructive. A little picking has been done throughout the southern portions of the belt, but this work is not yet general.

WIFE A PICNIC FIEND.

New Yorker Will Plead That in Divorce Proceedings He Will Bring.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Because his wife, Lena, is what he calls a "picnic fiend," George Strohmann will begin proceedings of divorce against her. The husband complains that every time she saw a bill or banner advertising a picnic, on land or on sea, she would hustle home and put up a lunch.

Mrs. Strohmann admits that she dearly loves picnics and adds that her husband is no picnic. "He's an old maid; that's what he is," she said. "He wouldn't give me any money and he wouldn't take me anywhere." FRANK A. PARKER.

RUNAWAY HUSBAND LONGS FOR THE HOME HE DESERTED

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Alois G. Buyens, artist and sculptor, who eloped some weeks ago with Marie Prayet, a pupil, because the wife of his youth and the mother of his grown children "did not understand his artistic temperament," wishes to come home. A severe fit of nostalgia has dented the sentiment of his sere and yellow age.

He has written a letter to his grown daughter in which he says he wants to see his wife and that he has learned by bitter experience that he does not love Marie. Marie has also confessed that she was only infatuated and that she fears she does not appreciate the "artistic temperament" as much as she thought she did. She is therefore willing to call the elopement off and return to her home in Belgium.

Of course Mrs. Buyens will forgive the man with the artistic temperament and the hunger for a piece of pie like mother used to make, and put an extra plate at the table on the day "father" is due at home. It's a way women have. FRANK A. PARKER.

WAR OFFICE CENSURED BY ROYAL COMMISSION

Report on South African Struggle Condemns Lack of Preparation.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The report of the royal commission on the South African war, issued today, adds little information to that already published. It refrains from commenting on the conduct of individual officers, strongly condemns the lack of preparations for war, indorses Lord Lansdowne's opinion, expressed May 21, 1900, that such a condition is full of peril to the empire, and says "an unsatisfactory and insufficient safeguard has since been suggested to prevent a recurrence of so serious a scandal."

From the beginning to the end of the war, 448,433 troops were engaged, and owing to the drain caused by South Africa, defense of Great Britain became dangerously weak in 1900.

Lord Esher, a member of the commission, in a supplementary report, says the unpreparedness in 1899 shows the war secretary was guilty either of culpable neglect or ignorance of the facts and urges the reorganization of the war office, the abolition of the position of commander-in-chief, and the appointment of a general commanding the army, separate from the war office.

Another recommendation of Lord Esher urges that every boy of 17, who is physically fit, should be compelled to undergo a course of training in national cadet schools, which should be created throughout the country.

DEALT IN BOGUS STOCK.

Promoter Wright's Schemes Laid Bare by Official Examiner of His Affairs.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Arthur Russell, the examiner of the official receiver's office who had charge of the liquidation of the Whitaker Wright companies, was the principal witness today in the proceedings in the case against the promoter. For the period ending September 30, 1900, he found the net losses to be $5,500,000. At the end of November the London and Globe was indebted to brokers and jobbers to the amount of $8,017,280.

The London and Globe was dealing in shares of companies which had never been issued and to which no capital had ever been subscribed. Shares to the extent of over $3,000,000, in companies of which Wright was managing director, had no market value whatever. The case was adjourned. No further evidence will be taken until September 15.

BATTLESHIP LAUNCHED.

Last of King Edward Class for British Navy Is Nearly Completed.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Princess Louise today launched the battleship Dominion, at Barrow. The Dominion is the last of the three ships known as the King Edward VII. class. When completed the Dominion will have cost $8,500,000. The next battleships to be laid down will be of 18,000 tons displacement or 1,650 tons heavier than the Dominion.

The Dominion is a first class battleship of 16,350 tons displacement. She is 425 feet long and will have an estimated speed of over 18 knots. Her armament will consist of four 12-inch guns, four 9.2-inch guns, ten 6-inch guns, 24 small rapid-fire guns and two torpedo tubes.

Large Orders for Arms to Germany.

VON RHEINBABEN TO QUIT KAISER'S CABINET

Serious Misunderstanding Said to Exist Between Ruler and Prussian Minister of Finance.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—There is unrest in political circles here. Hardly had the minister of finance, Count Von Thielman, given his seat in the cabinet to the Bavarian counsellor of state, Baron Von Stengel, when another report comes that another of the kaiser's advisers wishes to retire. Count Von Rheinbaben, the Prussian minister of finance, weary of the service, expects to give up his portfolio within a very few days.

It is long since anything has caused such a surprise in the diplomatic camp, as it was generally known that Count Von Rheinbaben went to the United States on a special commission for the kaiser to make himself acquainted with American methods of banking and financiering and to make a thorough study of the American iron and steel industry. It is thought here that the count, who possesses large iron works, probably paid too close attention to the iron industry and that he now intends building up an industry which will not only keep the Americans out of the German market, but compete with the Steel Corporation in America.

Though expected to report to the kaiser on his return Von Rheinbaben has not seen the kaiser at all, a fact which in itself proves the existence of some misunderstanding. The kaiser is said to have already decided upon a successor to Count Von Rheinbaben in the person of President Koch, of the German Reichs bank, and the selection of this young man who is known for his liberal views meets with general satisfaction.

POPE PIUS HAS NOW SEEN EVERY FOREIGN CARDINAL

ROME, Aug. 25.—Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sidney, N. S. W., was received today in private audience by Pope Pius and presented to the pontiff the congratulations of the Catholics of Australia. The pope thanked the prelate heartily and imparted to him the apostolic blessing, which he also bestowed on the faithful of Australia. Pope Pius has, with the meeting with Cardinal Moran, now seen every foreign cardinal.

Ten Victims in Budapest Fire.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Aug. 25.—It is now believed that apart from those who were killed by jumping from the building, only 10 persons perished in the fire here yesterday evening. Emperor Francis Joseph today visited the injured persons who are now in the hospital and spoke to each of them.

ANOTHER GRAFT CHARGE AGAINST SAM PARKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Sam Parks is not allowed to rest quietly even in the Tombs. Today Assistant District Attorney Ely made a motion to try the labor leader on another graft charge. Pending an appeal from the first conviction, the motion went over to Thursday.

NICHOLAS SNUBS GERMAN EMPEROR

Will Pass Around Berlin on Way to Vienna to See Francis Joseph.

TO DECIDE FATE OF TURKEY

William II. Not Being Invited to the Conference Is Much Chagrined—Slight Is Apparently Intentional—Prospect of Joint Action by Russia and Austria.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Emperor William is said to be greatly disappointed at the announcement that Czar Nicholas intends to visit Emperor Francis Joseph at Schoenbrun or Vienna at the beginning of next month, without stopping at Berlin even for a short visit. As the czar most likely will start on his trip to Austria from Copenhagen and pass if not directly through, at least very close to Berlin, it looks very much as if the slight were intentional and this makes Emperor William, who quite plainly has expressed a wish to meet the ruler of Russia, feel very indignant.

As the matter now stands, with the emperor of Austria seriously thinking of resigning and with the Balkan states on the very verge of war, the visit of the czar to Vienna must necessarily be of the greatest importance. The two monarchs who are most vitally interested in seeing peace restored in the Balkans, where the murder of thousands of Christians is now the order of the day, could not possibly meet without discussing the grave question of what must be done. It is thought here that at the coming conference between the emperor of Austria and the czar the fate of Turkey as a European power will be practically decided.

There is still another reason which makes active operations by Austrian and Russian troops in the Balkans more than likely. Given a practical problem to solve, the Hungarian army may at least temporarily forget its cry for independence from Austria, which is the great question of the day in the empire of Francis Joseph. The kaiser, who himself has announced his intention of visiting Vienna, feels that he has every reason to feel slighted if not being invited to this conference, especially as Germany has several times intimated that she would no longer oppose any action of Austria and Russia tending to pacify the wasps' nest in the peninsula.

WILL CALL ON FALKENSTEIN.

McKeesporters Want Their Mayor to Spend More Time at Home.

It was reported last night that Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport would be waited upon today by a number of business men and politicians, who will request that he remain in the city henceforth and attend to matters urgently requiring his attention.

The mayor was summoned from Atlantic City yesterday by Chief of Police Rotzach, to give plotting strikers a heart long. Since the mayor's election, it is alleged that he has not been in McKeesport two consecutive weeks. There is trouble in the police department, one resignation having occurred, and others likely to follow.

SKIN-TORTURED BABIES

And Tired, Fretted Mothers

Find Comfort in Cuticura Soap and Ointment

When All Other Remedies and Physicians Fail.

Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies and rest for tired, worried mothers in warm baths with Cuticura Soap, and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, purest of emollient skin cures, to be followed in severe cases by mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent and economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted and pimply skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infants and children, as well as adults, and is sure to succeed when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in acne and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, or the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60; Cuticura Soap, 25c. Ointment, 50c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors.

Campbell's

A Season of

Ladies' Long Skirt Coat Suits.

We have these stylish fall garments in all the mannish-looking materials at $16.50 and up to $60.00. They're fresh from the style-centers and still in their tissue paper wrappings. Let us tell you about four of them today.

At $20 —A Long Coat Suit in Scotch cheviot with dashes of red and green to enliven the mixture. Made blouse-effect, with square front with coat belted at the waist. All the waist seams are tucked. Other features are a small notch collar, turn-back cuffs, handsome bone buttons and Taffeta silk lining. The nine-gore flared Skirt is unlined, with flat-stitched seams over each gore.

At $22.50 —Fine black cheviot is the cloth used in this quiet-looking, but extremely stylish costume. The long tight-fitting Skirt Coat is made fly front and measures 40 inches from collar to hem. In the back are eight narrow over-lapping seams, two starting at the arm slops, two extending to the shoulders and four running all the way down from the notched silk velvet collar to hem of coat. Lining is Taffeta silk. The unlined Skirt is made nine-gore flare, with lap seams over each gore.

At $25 —A Scotch Cheviot Suit in invisible stripes. The square front skirted coat has full sleeves, turn-back cuffs and stitched strap seams. The neck, the belt and the cuffs are all trimmed with black-and-green silk gimp. Good Taffeta silk lining. The skirt is nine-gore flare, made unlined over stitched top seams.

At $35 —A rich, warm looking gray-and-black Scotch overplaid mixture is the cloth. The 37-inch Coat is made double-breasted and can be worn either open or closed. The lapels are faced with fancy black silk braid. Three stitched straps run down the back and two down the front of the coat. The cuffs and flat collar are faced with black broadcloth, fancy metal buttons adorn the front and sleeves and a fancy belt of silk and velvet fastens in front with a nickel-plated harness buckle. All around the edge the coat is piped with black-and-white silk cord. The nine-gore flare Skirt has a habit-back with straps down the seams of the front breadth.

Keep Your Insides Cool!

Here's a man who thinks he has heart disease, and is scared half to death. His face is all drawn out of shape from fear and agony. Every time he eats, his heart "palpitates"—that simply means that his stomach is swelled up with gases from fermenting undigested food, and his heart thumps against his diaphragm. Nothing the matter with his heart. In the summer time, this gas distention is much worse, his whole body and blood get over-heated, and his heart and lungs get so crowded for room, that he gasps for breath. There he is, look at him! Every minute he expects to drop dead. As a matter of fact, all he needs is to stop that souring and gas forming in his stomach and bowels, help his digestion along, and keep cool inside. You all know that whenever something rots or decays, heat develops. Same in the body. Keep cool inside! Take a candy cathartic CASCARET every night at bed-time. It will work while you sleep, clean up and cool your insides, give you a regular, comfortable movement in the morning, and you'll be feeling fine all day every day. Heart Disease! Fudge!

Cascarets Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 10c., 25c., 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C. C. C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sample and booklet free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York. 347
